News From OUR BOYS In The Service

James C. Galbraith, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Galbraith of Carlisle, is a member of the first class in the Army Air Forces Technical Training Command to study a new type of airplane radio communications equipment at the Bell Telephone Laboratories school.

The new apparatus evolved to overcome limitations exposed in earlier use of previous types of aircraft radio, operates on an extremely high frequency which shortens the transmitting range and increases resistance to static.

Thus, by permitting communication among planes of an attacking force without disclosing their presence to the enemy, the new radio contributes to the safety of the air crew and the success of their mission.

As one of the first military personnel to study this equipment Galbraith, upon graduation, may be assigned to instruct others at technical theaters where he will instruct others in its operation and maintenance.

Treasury Department
Washington, May, 1943

Gentlemen:

I am writing to tell you about what I believe is a magnificent gift to the patriotism of the American people.

As you know, there has been considerable speculation and talk concerning the effect that increased taxes might have on the sale and redemption of United States Savings Bonds.

You will be delighted to know that the Third March Then the Federal Tax installment fell due, bond sales were 64 per cent higher than in February and more than 65 per cent ahead of March, 1942.

The story is very encouraging and equally encouraging.

From May 1, 1941, when U. S. Savings Bonds (Series E, F and G) were first offered for sale through March 31, 1943, redemptions have been less than 1-12 per cent of sales. And cumulative redemptions during March this year were the smallest for any month since the very first month. In other words, not one dollar in every one hundred dollars of bonds sold has been redeemed.

This is the finest record the American people could make. It means that they are not only backing their country to the limit, but that they have confidence in the future. It means that they are not going to cash in their bonds and spend the money for luxuries, but are going to hold on to them and let them work for them.

Many thanks for all you have done, and for your splendid cooperation.

Sincerely,
Eugene W. Stark

May I ask you to express to newspaper publishers my thanks and appreciation for the truly remarkable contribution they are making to the Second War Loan. We feel quite certain that never before has any cause received such complete and effective support from the newspapers of the country, and we are grateful for it.

H Morgenthau, Jr.,
Secretary of the Treasury

Mr. Morgenthau, we assure you, it was and still is a pleasure. We do not feel that we have been generous simply trying to do our duty in the only way that we can do it.

Cleveland, May 4, 1943

Mr. Roger D. Womack.
Carlisle, Kentucky
Dear Mr. Womack:

We take this opportunity to thank you for your effective efforts in promoting the success of the Second War Loan in the Fourth Federal Reserve District. A magnificent demonstration of the patriotism of the vast majority of citizens who have been moved to action by you and our other county leaders.

We take pleasure in relaying the following statement from the Secretary of the Treasury:

"I am greatly pleased by this entirely voluntary investment by the people in Victory. The unprecedented sum borrowed in this campaign reflects the earnestness and vigor of our national war effort. In this, as in other ways, a crushing superiority of United Nations armaments is assured and the defeat of our enemies made inevitable.

"The Treasury has been assisted in the Drive by an army of volunteers and to all of these participants the thanks of the Government are due. I should like to add to this my own heartfelt appreciation of the help given and of all who joined in this effort in any manner whatever."

Please transmit this statement to your organization and give it whatever publicity possible in your county.

Quota Flags and Honor Pennants will be awarded to counties as soon as the final figures are ascertained (about May 15). We suggest that Memorial Day will in most places offer an appropriate occasion for the Flag raising ceremonies. Citation certificates for individuals, groups and institutions in your county who are entitled to receive them will be in your hands for distribution about May 15.

We are very proud of the War Finance organization in our District and again extend our sincere congratulations to you and to all your staff and collaborators. You have been an honor to work with you.

Sincerely yours,
John S. Fleek

COMMENCEMENT 50 YRS AGO OUR GRADED SCHOOL

First Annual Commencement
Time, Friday Evening, April 25th.
Place, Mozart Hall; Audience, 600 Persons. Men, Women and Children.
Like Sardines In A Box

The first annual commencement of the Carlisle District Graded School drew an immense audience to Mozart Hall; chairs and camp stools were brought in until every available space on the floor was occupied. At 8:15 the curtain rose, disclosing the stage handsomely fitted up with large curtains and paintings and Prof. Pratt, Principal of the school, Elder W. C. Thorpe and members of the School Board seated in the rear.

After prayer by Elder Thorpe and an operatic chorus by the Young Ladies Science Club, the regular exercises of the evening began by the following program:

Oration—The Outcome of Four Centuries—Thornton M. Pratt.
Essay—What Is Reputation Worth"—Macie Collins.
Music.
Essay—A Good Education—Fannie Rice.
Essay—A Woman's Influence—Laura Mellvain.
Music.
Oration—Find Your Place—Clifton H Fisher.
Essay—What of the Future?—Ada Gustin.
Music.
Essay—Man Can a Woman Do?—Nancy Hall.
Essay—A Bit of Modern Mystery—Bertie M. Dallas.
Music.
Conferring Diplomas.
Benediction.

Being the first commencement, legally distributed among the audience were printed in the office of the Carlisle Mercury, and we think the job was one that would do credit to any office. The class motto, "We Are The Pioneers," struck the keynote, and every essay upon visions of the future usefulness from one of the class, which must have aroused feelings of the greatest satisfaction and pride in the hearts of every parent and guardian in the school district. And not only in the district but in every citizen of the city and county.

A school building at a cost of nine thousand dollars, which would have cost almost any other community a million and a half thousand, capable officers and teachers to manage it, the raising thousands of dollars to our public schools for the year is brought promptly before the great audience assembled on that occasion.

All the graduates acquitted themselves with credit to the school. The orations and essays were all alike good. Miss Collins returned to camp after spending a furlough with her parents here.

Sgt George Boots, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Grey, left for Charleston, S. C. Tuesday to visit her husband who is stationed there.

Sgt Eugene Honaker who is stationed at Augusta, Ga., returned to camp after spending the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Honaker.

RED CROSS SURGICAL DRESSING QUOTA ABOUT COMPLETED

The local Surgical Dressing unit under the Red Cross has done a creditable job for the men in the armed forces in practically finishing Nicholas County's quota of bandages through the month of February. However, the quotas set by Red Cross under instructions from the War Department are very large for the next four months.

The war is at a most active and crucial stage. Every invasion landing and any victory is a reminder that men are wounded and hospitals need bandages to save lives. Any work any chapter can do is a real contribution to the war effort.

To date Nicholas County has made 158,000 dressings. Their present quota is 72,000 to be finished by August 1st. The few people who are willing to work on this job can not do it without more help. Fifty workers are needed at each session.

The Miranda community has shown a very fine and loyal spirit. Last Friday nine of the twenty women present were from that area and had pooled cars to come. If there are any other group which is willing to do the same and if none of the three schedules days suit get in touch with the Red Cross and a time will be arranged any hour, day or night for any special group.

Not to be out-done by other towns forming men's units to assist in bandage-folding, five of our patriotic citizens, Earl Van Sever, Jim Patton, Everett Smith, Ernest Piper and Nathan Layne came in Monday night and made a creditable showing. We hope to add to the number next week.

Now that school is over, we urge the high school girls to help to attend regularly. They will be a big help. The Masonic Hall is open Monday, Thursday and Friday, 1:00-9:30 p. m.

At The Courthouse

Circuit Court reconvened on Tuesday and the case of Alvin Howe Morgan charged with murder, for trial. He was found guilty on a charge of forgery and given sentence of two years in the reformatory.

It is reported that there are several more indictments against Morgan for the same offense

The case of Ben Edwards charged against Sam E. Hollar was tried several years ago resulting in a verdict in favor of Hollar.

The case of George Sosby and Lawrence Scott, charged with the murder of Elder Judge Dedman. A special venire of twenty-four were heard, but the case hadn't been concluded when the Mercury went to press. This suit is over a passway through the farm of Mr. Doyle.

The grand jury will reconvene on Thursday.

Alcott Fired After Feud With Ziemer

Carroll D Alcott, radio commentator Author, and lecturer, was removed from the program of Station WLW Tuesday as the aftermath of an oral and physical encounter with Gregor Ziemer, another radio commentator, authority on education during their broadcasts Monday night.

Associates here said there had been a personal feud between Alcott and Ziemer. The climax began when Alcott said goodnight more than a minute early on his broadcast Monday evening, which night then departed from his script to ad lib to this effect:

"Next you will hear Gregor Ziemer, who sees the world through a spyglass and an Encyclopedia Brittanica. And then you will hear Arthur Reilly, who knows one look at the world and thought it was all right."

The second episode, witnesses reported, took place when Ziemer and Alcott met in the station lobby as lemer was leaving and Alcott was returning to the studio.

Witnesses said the men first exchanged personal remarks, then blows. A guard separated them. Ziemer was reported to have received a finger injury when he fell to the floor.

Market experts attribute the shortage to a number of factors. The armed forces recently took practically all of the available supplies of Idaho and old crop Maine potatoes. Civilian consumption had been unusually heavy due to increased purchasing power and the rationing of other food items. And then the expected shipments from the South of new crop potatoes were delayed by cold weather.

TO HONOR WAR DEAD WITH POPPY SALE MAY 29

America's dead of two wars will be honored May 29 when millions of Americans will wear red poppies as a symbol of remembrance and tribute.

Here, as in other cities throughout the country, members of the American Legion Auxiliary will be on the streets at an early hour with baskets of poppies. A large corps of volunteer workers has been organized by Mrs. Grimes Caywood, Poppy Chairman to distribute poppies to everyone in the city.

Recalling the service and sacrifice of the men who "died in America twenty-five years ago," National Commander Hap Arnold says:

"Men are again being called upon to give their lives for America, as did our comrades in 1917 and 1918. Our own boys and our neighbors boys are among them. Our hearts are heavy at the thought that these young men must meet the same fate as those other young men we left beneath the poppies of France twenty-five years ago.

"To show that we honor and remember the dead of both wars we have our memorial poppy. By wearing this little flower on Poppy Day, we express feelings we cannot put into words. We signify that we are carrying on in the spirit and the final triumph of the cause for which they laid down their lives.

"Poppies made by disabled war veterans, will be offered on the streets all day Saturday by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary. I feel certain that they will be accepted eagerly and warmly by the citizens. I urge that among the first to put them on be the members of Trinity Episcopal Church, and by others, should understand the significance of the little red flower and should lead the way in paying tribute to the nation's fallen defenders."
