BIBLE THOUGHT
THIS WEEK

. . . what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6:8.

THANKSGIVING

We have so much this Thanksgiving to be thankful for that all citizens should observe the day—Thursday next week—with a season of prayer and church attendance and return unto God thanks for the blessings received during the past year.

Our country has not been invaded by the enemy; our homes are intact; our children are in school; our various businesses move along; our health is generally good; and in spite of all the turmoil and horrors of war with all its extremely costly persecution, Americans continue to be prosperous and salaries are higher than they have been in years. So let's be truly thankful.

All Carlisle churches have joined to observe the occasion with a community Thanksgiving service next Wednesday evening, November 24, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Baptist church. Rev. E. Hampton Barnette will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon. Each local church is making an appeal for all members to assemble and worship our Saviour who is able to keep and save to the utmost all who call upon His name. The need for a wholehearted return to Christianity is paramount in this hour of a war-torn world. Let's join our hearts and give thanks at this season.

NO RATION BOOK FOR ELECTRICITY

"Like the nation's transportation system, the electric industry has proved a tower of strength since the United States entered the war," says M. S. Sukeyser in Nov. York Journal-American. "In spite of the great and unexpected peak load, especially in war production areas, the electric industry has proved no bottleneck; on the contrary, nationally, it has done a remarkable overall job in providing light and power for war industries and military projects, as well as for regular industrial, commercial and residential users. Unlike other industries which have donned khaki, this industry has not ceased giving regular service to civilian customers."

EAST UNION

A large crowd attended the Armistice Day program held in the school auditorium Thursday morning at 11 o'clock when the 4-H Club dedicated a service Flag bearing 49 stars.

After several patriotic songs, Talmadge Hatton represented the 4-H Club and Safety Patrol, W. H. Scott and Edward Curran were flag bearers, and Frank Terrell, unfurled the Service Flag, after which Rev. LaVerne Taylor paid a tribute to the school and community boys who have answered the call.

At the close of the program Mr. W. T. Straw, county agent, spoke briefly on 4-H Achievements at which time 52 certificates and emblems were presented to the members who had successfully completed their projects.

Cleveland Curran has completed 8 years; Billie Curran, 7 years; Billy Oskins, 6 years; W. H. Scott, Earl Sharp, Jayne Hatton, Rosanna Guthrie and Anna Lee Gates, 5 years; Jackie Bantin Foy, Mary Sims, Nannie Mae Curran, Helen Vice, Helen Moore and Frank Terrell, 4 years.

Elsie Thomas carried and counted six projects in the past year—the others ranged from one to four projects.

PAPERS GIVE HUGE SUMS TO WAR LOAN

Ads And Publicity During 3rd War Loan Drive Amounts To Over 56 Million Dollars

According to recent reports from the Treasury at Washington, newspapers contributed $21,003,800 of the more than $36,000,000 worth of advertising and publicity donated during the recent Third War Loan campaign in which the fifteen billion dollar goal was exceeded by four billion dollars.

The Treasury said War Bond advertising in newspapers aggregated 129,549,946 lines, valued at $8,639,940, while 61,226,060 lines of publicity was valued at $12,972,555. Similar figures for the Second War Loan in April were 122,633,802 lines of advertising, valued at $4,654,271, and 28,434,528 lines of publicity valued at $5,287,093.

Radio's contribution was estimated at $12,000,000 based on 3,382 hours of time and 200,000 announcements.

The outdoor advertising industry, the department said, donated space valued at $1,600,000 compared with $386,475 work in April. Magazine advertisements in the September drive were valued at $1,350,000, while national advertisers were estimated to have used an additional $1,779,467 worth of their Bond copy in the various media.

Three Minute Sermon

Rev. Cecil V. Crabb

THE ANGEL OF DESTINY

Genesis 32. 26 And he said, I will not let thee go, except thou bless me.

These are the words of the patriarch Jacob after he had wrestled all night with the angel of God. It was a crisis in his life, for he had just learned that his brute brother Esau was coming against him with 400 armed men to settle old scores. In this emergency of his life, his angel of destiny visited him. I believe that sooner or later this angel comes knocking at the door of every life. It may be at the time of physical crisis as in the case of Jacob. It may be in a time of mental and spiritual crisis when the bottom has dropped out of Wall street and you have lost all of your savings. It may be in a crurial day when your health is threatened with you, and the doctor has just made the fateful decision that a major operation is necessary. It may be in a time of worry and strain, when Saul of Tarsus you are smitten by the dust on some Damascus road by the light from heaven that rent asunder the veil of superficial day of your life, the crust of deadening years.

Now the vital question is this. Will will be your response when the breaks at the crucial point. For finally you might cling on to him and ask for his blessing as Jacob finally did. That is the correct attitude. As C. E. Macartney well says in Great Nights of the Bible. "When Jacob realized that this mysterious Man with whom he had been struggling had the power to bless his life, he clung desperately to him and said, I will not let thee go, except thou bless me." That angel of destiny brought certain well-defined blessings to him that night: a new name, a new standing before God and men, a new power to prevail with God, a new discovery of God, and a new standing in history. Those blessings he will bring to you.

PENNY-FOOLISH

My self often would advise:
"My son, you should be penny-wiser."
But heedless of advice was I.
I always let my pennies fly.
Now could I ever seem to learn
To save a few of those I earn.
Time was the good, old copper cent
For lemon drops or chocolate went
The candy merchant daily took
My pennies from me with scarce a look.
But dimes for pennies now I pitch,
Nor am I certain which is which
So similar the coins they make
That pennies oft for dimes I take
So much alike they seem to be
That merchants look with scorn on me
And tell me it's a federal crime
To pass a penny for a dime.
Have we not woes enough to bear,
Enough of anguish, grief and care,
Dispite discouragement and doubt
These fearful days to fret about.
Without twin coins of hue and size
So no one can be penny-wise?

IN APPRECIATION

We desire to express to the school superintendents and teachers of both city and county schools and to the many volunteer workers, our sincere appreciation of their aid and cooperation in our recent registration for Book Four, and, also, for aid in former registrations and other OPA work.

We are sure that your love for freedom and your loyalty to your country has been your inspiration in doing a great work in a fine and noble spirit, and that we, as well as the public, owe to you, each and everyone, our sincere thanks for the splendid services you have rendered.

HOLIDAY JELLY POINT-FREE

Small-sized jars of jams, jellies and fruit spreads—those weighing five and one-half ounces or less—may be bought ration-free beginning November 12.

The Office of Price Administration announced a new point value for these items, explaining they are popular as gifts for servicemen and stocks in the hands of retailers are relatively small.

Sizes through eight ounces have had a point value of two and three points. Those more than five and one-half ounces in this category continue to be rationed.

OPA said the point-free purchases will be allowed only through the holiday season. Ration values will be reestablished on the February processed food period.
