BIBLE THOUGHT THIS WEEK

And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him.—I Kings 18.21.

KEEPING UP THE GOOD WORK

Governor Simeon S. Willis is to be commended for the position he is taking in the authorization of continued improvement of Kentucky Feeble Minded and eleemosynary institutions which was splendidly carried on during the administrations of both Gov. A. B. Chandler and Gov. Keen Johnson.

It is noted through the press that some new tuberculosis sanatoriums are to be considered early in Western Kentucky and one in Eastern Kentucky. This is a move in the right direction. To make ample provisions to care for and treat tuberculosis patients in Kentucky, especially in Eastern Kentucky, has long been the major objective of the Kentucky Mountain club, an organization of some 500 former mountain folk who have moved from the mountains of Eastern Kentucky to Lexington and the Blue Grass. These former residents of the mountain counties, numbering about 41, of Eastern Kentucky, know first-hand the need for more adequate facilities to care for those who fall prey to the white plague.

All power to you, Governor Willis, in this most worthy enterprise. May you and your associates accomplish much in the improvement of the present institutions and plans for the construction of much-needed other hospitals in the sections of the State where needed most and will do the greatest amount of good.

DIRTY BUSINESS

The aid and comfort given our enemies by Axis agents who may destroy a unit of some industry, or by strikers who close whole industries, is the same except the strikers give infinitely more aid.

Strikes in 1943 almost doubled the average for the 15-year period preceding our entry into war and totaled 3,737, or 13,947,273 man-days. It is difficult to understand the spirit that moves men to such desertion of their posts of duty, often for the most trivial reasons, except there is no protection in this country for a man who wishes to work contrary to a strike order.

It's dirty business and no side-cycle excuse can be offered to ease soldiers by either the strikers or Washington for permitting such interruptions in the flow of war materials.

WHY NEWSPAPERS EXIST

(Lexington Herald-Leader)

The Herald-Leader the other day received a note from Mrs. Margaret J. Wright, chairman of Surgical Dressings of the American Red Cross, thanking the press for its assistance. Mrs. Wright wrote: "Without your constant co-operation and generous assistance it would have been very difficult to have completed our recent large assignment of Red Cross surgical dressings. The response to your appeals enabled us to finish the quotas four weeks ahead of schedule."

The Lexington Leader, The Lexington Herald, and the Lexington Herald-Leader greatly appreciate this communication and kind consideration. The newspapers exist to bring things to the public interest. They primarily are concerned with the dissemination of news, but one of their chief preoccupations is with the advancement of every good cause. They gladly serve the community and the state and nation. They want to be useful, to promote the general welfare, and in the present emergency to aid in every possible way in the prosecution of the war to a successful conclusion, to be followed by a just and lasting peace.

While the press does not ask for credit, and does not want to be commended, such expressions of appreciation as that which recently came from Mrs. Wright and her co-workers do give cheer and encouragement.

GET THE TAX DODGERS

A special session of the legislature has been called in California to consider, among other subjects, including a measure to permit state taxation of Federal property.

When the Federal government confined its activities to the business of governing, rather than entering into business competition with private citizens, its property used for governmental purposes was granted tax free-dom.

Today, however, with the government going into commercial activities in various places in the states. Tax-exempt government business prevents the development of highly-taxed private enterprise. It enjoys the privilege of using all public facilities such as roads, schools, police service, fire protection, etc. without bearing any of their cost.

When government goes into business in competition with its own citizens, products it manufactures and the property it utilizes for producing the same, should bear the same tax burden as does other business.

It is to be hoped that California works out a plan for taxing government business activities the same as it does industries that maintain government.

JAP STAFF CHIEFS OUSTED FOLLOWING TRUK DISASTER

From wire and radio dispatches comes the announcement that Field Marshal General Sugiyama and Fleet Admiral Osami Nagano have been dismissed as chiefs of the Japanese Imperial Army and Navy Staffs.

Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo has assumed leadership of the Army staff in addition to his other duties and Admiral Shimetaro Shimada, minister, has assumed leadership of the Navy staff.

Perhaps the greatest and most significant shakeup in Japanese military history was announced shortly after the admission by the Imperial General Staff that Japan had lost two cruisers, three destroyers, thirteen transports and 129 planes in the United States Navy attack on the Truk naval base. Damage to installations also was admitted.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that the Japanese lost two light cruisers, three destroyers, an ammunition ship, a seaplane tender, two oilers, two gun-boats and eight cargo ships sunk; a cruiser or a large destroyer, two oilers and cargo ships probably sunk; 201 planes destroyed and more than fifty damaged.

Tokio asserted that two American cruisers, one of which possibly was a battleship, were sunk; an aircraft carrier and an unidentified warship damaged and more than fifty other planes destroyed.

Nimitz listed the loss of seventeen American planes and moderate damage to one warship as the cost of the attack.

A Domei agency broadcast from Tokio said Sugiyama and Nagano, who assumed direction of the Empire's land and sea forces a few months before Pearl Harbor, "will hereafter act as highest military advisers to His Majesty the Emperor, remaining on the Board of Field Marshals and Fleet Admirals."

This, however, did not alter the fact that they had been relieved of direction of the armed forces immediately following a series of defeats and at a time when the Tokio propaganda machine was telling the nation that the war had entered a stage of "unprecedented gravity."

The World At War

By Charles M. Knapp,
Professor of History,
University of Kentucky

Two years ago the Japanese offensive in the South Pacific was overwhelming the weak and widely scattered Allied naval and air and land forces, cutting them to pieces simultaneously in the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, Malaya and the Solomon Islands lands. For two long, long years the reports from Allied headquarters in the Pacific told, first, only of desperate Allied efforts to check the Japanese advance first in eastern New Guinea and in the waters north of Australia before it should reach the continent, and second, to gain air bases in the Solomon Islands. Now the picture in the Pacific is entirely changed. Allied forces are on the offensive everywhere, capturing and hitting one after another the Japanese strong points in the central and southern Pacific.

In Russia, too, the Soviet armies have finally driven the Nazis back from the Volga defense line to practically the pre-war western frontiers. In the Mediterranean serves once again as an Allied supply line to the Middle and far eastern sectors as well as the Anglo-American-French armies in central Italy.

"In Great Britain," vast Anglo-American land and air forces are preparing to invade the continent at points along the Atlantic coast. German cities rather than British cities are being blasted to rubble. For five months reports on all fronts we can be thankful and hopeful for. The future prospect is daily becoming brighter for a shorter war, both in Europe and in the Pacific, than it was possible to hope for even a few weeks ago. Two things will make great difference in the war situation in the next few months. One is that on Thursday and Friday last United States naval task forces shelled the Japanese fortifications of Truk without encountering the Japanese fleet. Carrier-based planes revenged the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor and our ships at anchor there.

On Thursday and Friday naval task forces struck at the Japanese primary Japanese base in the mid-Pacific, based on the archipelago of New Britain, Kavieng on New Ireland, and Japanese positions in the Admiralty group of the Marshall atolls, and Ponape between Kwajalein and Truk, as well as successfully landing Marines on Eniwetok at the northwestern end of the Marshalls.

Such widely separated actions undertaken simultaneously indicate beyond doubt that the United States has naval superiority over Japan throughout the Pacific Analysis of the American strategy indicates that we are ready to attack directly the Japanese in the Philippines and attempt to gain a base on the south China coast. The Navy is now in a position to maintain an effective sea and air-blockade against all the Japanese islands in the Pacific islands, to effectively stop supplies and reinforcements reaching the Japanese soldiers now in New Guinea, the Solomons and the Philippines, and to starve, undoubtedly, Japan by sea, air and sea bombardment. Had the Japanese sea power still the power to risk in an all-out battle, they would have done so against our operation last week.

THE EUROPEAN FRONTS: In Italy, the American front has been somewhat improved. The beachhead at Anzio holds firmly and counter-attacks on the German lines yesterday were reported this morning. The strength of the Germans around Cassino seem to be gaining in strength and no progress is reported. The heavy loss of life of the 34th and 45th divisions in the Khorseni pocket and have driven southward between Lake Bracciano and Lake Bolsena toward Piksy in the Leghead sector.

BASKET BALL SCORES

The Carlisle High School B team took the score by a 20-18 score from the Bourbon B team. Woodall led the score with 13 points to his credit. Thompson captured 8 points. Clark looped 5. Wrench 1 point, and Gray 1 foul. The Carlisle team lead off and kept in the lead all the way, outclassing the Bourbon team throughout the game. The following boys from Carlisle were in the game:

Woodall F; Barnett F, Wrenek, C. Thompson G; Reynolds G; Whaley G; Clark G; H. Nichols G; Blake G; Grey F; Dixon C.

The varsity team lost by the score of 29-28. At the close of the game the score was tied. Three minutes were allowed to play off the tie, which gave the Bourbon five a lead of only one point from the game score of 24-24. Nichols led with 10 points; Simpson bagged 7; Woodall 4. The game was a thriller from start to finish. The teams were evenly matched. The hard fighting required a close calling of the game by the referees. Pruitt and Charles Clark. The game went wild when the score stood even at the closing period. The players for the varsity were Nichols, Cannon, Young, Crawford, Simpson, Woodall, Grey.

This game closed the season on our floor. The next game will be the tournament. March 3rd at Headquarters, with a preliminary game beginning at 7:30. The tournament will begin at 8:30 when the Carlisle team meets the Headquarters team for the decision as to who will go on in the sectional tournament. Coach Barnette insists that the team has been working hard and will give Headquarters a run for the title.

Bourbon County 25-Carlisle 28

The Musketeers will have to admit now that the Bourbon County High is just one point better than they are. Tuesday, in the battle gym the Bourbon countians defeated the Carlisle boys by the same margin that they had bested them earlier in the season. The score was 25 and it took an overtime period to settle the issue. Carlisle looked better in the execution of their fundamentals and may give somebody trouble by tournament time

The scoring for Carlisle was equally divided between all of the players and their passing was much better than in previous games.

Second Team Carlisle 28
Second Team B. County 18

The Carlisle second team showed things somewhat even by trampling the B team by the score in the preliminary game by the score of 28 to 18. The second team played steady ball all the way through.

Looking forward to next year the basketball prospects for Carlisle are very good and Rev. Hamilton is to be commended for the fine work he is doing with the teams. He has only had the time for a month but each time out they have shown improvement.

Instructions To Blood Donors

LOCAL RED CROSS NEWS

There will be an organization meeting for an adult class in Home Nursing at the home of Mrs. John Lee on Thursday night, February 24 at 7:30.

The local Red Cross Canteen was given another opportunity to display its splendid organization and workability in mass feeding when it had charge of the serving of a delicious banquet Thursday night to 150 Rotarians at the Masonic Hall. Praise was heaped upon the members by visitors who remarked on the efficient service and teamwork as well as the quality of the food. The Canteen numbers eighteen women, and was formed under the able chairmanship of Miss Jane King, as a part of the Nutrition course offered by the National Red Cross in the war-time program. Mrs. Clyde Sexton is the present chairman. The Canteen wishes to acknowledge its appreciation of the assistance given by persons outside the organization who volunteered in the cooking of turkeys and rolls, and to the high school girls and Boy Scouts who offered their assistance. Although the latter figures are not yet available, the Canteen feels sure it will be able to make a sizable contribution to the Red Cross with the proceeds, as the last banquet netted fifty dollars The City School penny-lunch was the recipient of the surplus food, after a call for disposal among the members of the Canteen.

Hospital supplies are badly needed and the articles listed are cut and ready for distribution at the Red Cross sewing rooms are moving out very slowly. These articles are small and not difficult to make and the production chairman is very anxious to get this quota completed and shipped to our wounded soldiers—sailors and boys wounded for you—and you—and you.

IF HEAD COLDS HANG ON

DO THIS! To relieve discomforts, to check the things you can do is put a good spoonful of homely, time-tested Vicks VapoRub on the soles of boiling water.

Then let the wonderful relief come as you breathe in the stimulating medicinal vapors that penetrate to the cold-congested air passages, promptly relieve the cough-exciting irritation, quiet coughing, and help clear the head. Use as directed.

FOR ADDED RELIEF . . . rub throat, chest and back with VapoRub at bedtime. Vicks VapoRub works 3 ways—it acts—to bring relief

Vicks from cisterns. Try it.

KIN OF LINCOLN SHOT

Dr. John E. Lind, 57, a noted psychiatrist, kin of Abraham Lincoln, and writer of children's songs, was shot to death as he sat in his automobile on a crowded downtown street last night in Washington, D. C.

Police held Robert I. Miller, 67-year-old criminal attorney, on an open charge, and his wife was detained as a material witness. Detective Sergeant Robert Murray said he had been informed that Mrs. Miller was in the automobile with Dr. Lind and that Miller fired into the car.
