Why, they've even brought us our first drinks of French cognac. A short time later we arrived in the city of Algiers, North Africa, and, listened around three or four days for the first signs of welcoments for our A. P. O. location. A few minutes later we arrived and looked up on to see about 50 German planes, our first and only ones so far.

This house which is our home and our A. P. O. was the headquarters of the German Command-in-Chief. It seemed that he had scrammed with such speed that his shirt and pants. SON WRITES MOTHER FROM ADMIRALTY ISLANDS
The following letter was received this week from T/5 Caswell by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otis T. Caswell, Carlisle, R. 3.

Admiralty Islands,
June 18, 1944

Dear Mom,

I went to church today. It was just a simple service, we would just say, but it was very good. The lain preached a simple sermon about the grace of God, and about His dear son, Jesus, the son of God.

I don't know what it was that led my thoughts away back home to loved ones dear, as I went to church today. The organ was so tiny, yet sounded majestically. The choir—there was no choir when I went to church today.

I just thought you'd like to know, that, as in days gone by, I worshipped God in church today, and that's the reason why I'm writing this letter from so very far away, to let you know, dear Mom, that I went to church today.

Your son,
H. C.

France,
June 28

Hello P. O. Force:

And now for a little report on France. We came in a few days after the first landing. We saw the once ready and bristling Atlantic wall, now silent and inactive. The engineers were busy making roadways back from the beach etc., and a large crowd of Hitler's super-boys were herded into a barbed wire stockade on the beach where they had a ring-side seat for the endless stream of U. S. trucks, tanks, jeeps, and supplies of all kinds and troops pouring in to crush their Germany.

Moving into the country we saw the results of the terrific pre-landing aged equipment, shells, etc. Those people seem to have taken quite a few days with a sprained knee—now they're all over it.

LETTER TO MERCURY FROM CARLISLE SOLDIER IN FRANCE

Somewhere in France
Dear Friends:

I will try and write you a few lines if the Jerrys don't disturb me in the meantime. I landed here safe and sound although things were really popping and I would like to tell you everything but it can't be done. Where everyone read that the coast was well fortified, that was no joke, but it took more than that to stop us from getting in. I thought I had seen a lot in the last year but that was just a little game compared to this. I am doing a lot of driving here and I live in my jeep most of the time. The people here act as though they are glad to see us, but we don't trust a single one because they will shoot us in the back. Right now at this moment everything is peaceful and there is not a gun shooting but it won't last long. I didn't think it would, and they have just started again. I think in this campaign I have done my duty but if there is more to do I might as well see the finish of it. I continue to be lucky. Well, I had better close for now. Keep up the good work. When the censors let me I will try and tell you more later.

Sincerely,
DAVID BARNETT

IST LIEUT. KENDALL TELLS OF FIGHTS

Wipe Out "Pill Boxes"; Find Jap Nest. His Group Once Surrounded By Japs

(By Sergeant Bill Dvorak, a Marine Corps Combat Correspondent, formerly of The Cleveland Press.)

Marianas, Islands — Saipan — (Delayed) — How it feels to be surrounded by Japanese troops was told by Marine First Lieutenant Fred J. Kendall, 25, son of W. M. Kendall of Hayman Avenue, Carlisle, Ky. A member of the Fourth Marine Division, and a veteran of the Kwajalein Island campaign, he landed with assault troops here.

It took about 75 men-units now and we started working our way back toward a point which we were to secure. Two pillboxes stood in our way and gave us some trouble. Our demolitions men took care of one, and the 75mm gun on an amphibian tractor took care of the second. We went on some distance after the fight but left us before we entered a perfect nest of Japs. We were well spread out, but before we knew it, we were surrounded and a mortar barage was trained in our direction. We had a most uncomfortable time of it for the next four hours; until reinforcements arrived, and we went on to take our objective. Meanwhile we had accounted for quite a few Japs."

Before entering the service, First Lieutenant Kendall was employed in California as construction projects of the American Bridge Co. He is a stutter and connector

Tobacco Barn In Nicholas Destroyed

Fire Friday afternoon destroyed a large tobacco barn owned by Jesse Floyd on farm near Lickinriver, across the highway from Red Roses.

The blaze it was reported, started from a threshing machine which was in operation on the farm. In addition to the barn, Mr. Flora's loss included 2,000 pounds of wheat, farm implements, four good hogs and a threshing machine. Total loss at from $2,000 to $3,000, which was partially covered by insurance.

Ben Birtz of Ewing, owner of the threshing machine which was destroyed, estimated his loss at from $1200 to $1500. The machine was also insured.

Mr. Flora was not at home at the time of the fire, having been a patient in the local hospital for more than a week.

Nicholas County Soil Conservation Supervisors Attend Meeting In Lexington

At a meeting at the County Agent's office Saturday night, July 15, Nicholas county set up a committee through the County Farm Bureau to buy registered Western type breeding ewes. The cooperative purchase of these breeding ewes will operate on a non-profit basis. Mr. W. E. Piper, president of the County Farm Bureau, named the following committee to locate and select the breeding ewes to be placed here: J. W. Miller, chairman; C. C. Crockett, Glen Goods, Chas. Wagoner, and Dan Wells.

110 Southwestern breeding ewes have been ordered and are on the way from the Northwest. This group of ewes are being handled through the cooperation of the Future Farmers' cooperative through the aid of John P. Pirtle, agricultural teacher at Headquarters. However, additional orders will have to be secured from a different agency. Farmers wanting to order any Western ewes through this,organization are asked to notify any members of the Farm Bureau committee or contact the County Agent, Wm. T. Siraw, John A Pirtle, or G. B. Leonard, agricultural teachers. It is important that orders be placed at once so that the ewes can be ordered and placed well in advance of the breeding season.

The cooperative purchase of Western breeding ewes is due to the endorsement of the County Farm Bureau and the County Sheep Improvement Committee. It is believed that through the cooperative purchase of good quality breeding ewes and the use of good purebred rams, Nicholas will have a good parasite control program will improve the sheep business of Nicholas county at least 50 pct.

The type of ewe that the committee has in mind to place in a breed ewe with about 1-4 Rambouillet, 1-4 Lincoln or Cotswold and 1-2 Hampshire. This is the best breeding available for a Northwestern breeding ewe. The best results with this type of breeding ewe is a purebred Southdown ram.

CAN YOUR BEETS AND BEANS AT THE CANNERY

The Carlisle Community Canning Club is operating each Tuesday and Friday from 9 until 5 o'clock, and Saturday from 9 until 2 o'clock.

This cannery is new and modern in every respect and has all equipment necessary for pressure canning in tin cans. There has been recently installed a juicer for making fruit juices to can.

Green beans should be picked and canned on the same day, if possible. They may be strung and broken into pieces before bringing to the cannery, but they should not be washed. Time is saved by canning green beans at the cannery as it takes only 20 minutes to process them in the retorts.

Beets should be small to medium in size and not too large or woody. Cans are available with a special lining that will prevent the beets from losing their color. Beets, also, take only 20 minutes to process.

Due to the probability of a shortage of food, as much food as possible should be grown and canned.

There is still time for planting a late garden that will produce food suitable for canning.

Let the cannery help you with your canning problems.

Friday, July 21, will be pick-up day when all available scrap paper will be collected by the truck. Citizens are urged to place all waste paper and paper boxes in a convenient place so same may be conserved by the truck crew. Tie all paper in bundles.

Waste paper is one of the most urgent needs of the armed forces and when this may seem to be a trivial matter for each individual, yet the bulk of the whole amount, is considerable. Have your scrap paper ready Friday.

Next scrap paper day is Friday, August 4, and every other Friday thereafter.

TWENTY-THREE ABSENTEES ASK FOR BALLOTS

County Clerk John P. Sugg announced yesterday receipt of 23 requests for absentee ballots, all from Nicholas county voters in the armed services.

These requests came from numerous points all over the world. The applicants' registrations are to be certified without delay so that the Secretary of the State may make an effort to furnish the ballots in time for the August primary.

Under the absentee voters' law, unregistered applicants are registered and the names of those, with their requests for registration blanks are sent to the secretary of state, who furnishes the ballots.

While they are not required to do so, some of the 23 applicants indicated their party affiliation.

FROST SEPTEMBER 11

There is an aged prediction that the first frost of the fall season will come 60 days after the first katy-did is heard sounding forth its numerous repititions from the tree tops in the first half of one of the night hours. The first sounds of the katy-did were heard around the forest this week and the first frost is predicted to come September 11. That sounds mighty early, but County Judge Walter Shepherd can vouch for the accuracy of "Observations" weather forecasting. Not long since, when it was swelling heavy, it predicted that it would be cool next day and he would be wearing his coat in his office. He laughed at my predictions, but sure enough they were correct. The judge is a good cigar for the accurate forecasting

WALLACE OR BARKLEY

Speculation has been rife for the past few days as to who would be the VP candidate on the ticket of the Democratic ticket. It has been the consensus of opinion that the ticket would be cor will be by the time this is printed the party's standard bearer will be announced at the national mucilinal maneuvering and speculation has been evident, as to who would be the running mate of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. There are other potential candidates, but the race seems to dwindle down to Wallace and Barkley. The big convention fight now in progress at Chicago, it seems, from my viewpoint, will be over the selection of a Vice Presidential candidate. Wendell Wilkie has been mentioned, but this seems to be a very vague possibility.

DOG-FENNEL

At this season of the year in many pasture fields and barn yards is the beautiful sight of the blooming dog-fennel. This fragrant plant, but I don't love its fragrance) has a blossom with a yellow center and white trimmings on the outer edge. Often the plant may be good for something, but I have not yet found it. Who knew what is it good for except to cover up waste space where more profitable plants, might grow. Dog-fennel is also called "Mayweed," or the heath aster of the eastern U. S.

"WATCH YOUR STEP"

Passengers on trains are their destination are familiar with the words of warning by the driver—"Watch Your Step." Recently I was a passenger on a Greyhound Bus when the driver of that bus, who had many, many times warned passengers to watch their step, while descending from the bus, was boarding the bus and missed his step and fell up the steps into the bus. Naturally some one called out to him to watch his step.

PLEASE SIGN NEWS ITEMS FOR PUBLICATION

It has been requested many times in the past that all articles sent to The Mercury for publication must be signed by the contributor, not for publication, but as a mark of good faith and courtesy, and for verification. Numerous news items are received weekly for publication, including weddings, births, parties, visiting, illness, etc., without this office knowing from whom these items come. Therefore, we are obliged to omit publication of these on the basis that this office does not know the reliability of same. It is much trouble and difficult to verify news items mailed in to this office unsigned. Anonymous communications cannot be published. The Mercury is glad to have friends in the county send in news if their names are signed.

DR. BARBOUR SPEAKS AT ROTARY CLUB

Doctor Barbour, of the State Board of Health, was a guest speaker at the Rotary Club on Thursday night. He made an interesting talk and gave information on the work with Crippled children. He said the foundation for Crippled Children was laid in 1921 and the work is financed entirely by the Rotary Clubs.

After Dr. Barbour's talk Tommy Judson gave an interesting talk on vocational service. His discussion centered around—"The Four Freedoms of a Rotarian in Business." They are:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build good will for the business or profession and better friendship for our people?
4. Will it be profitable to all concerned?
