HE PLAYS THE FIELD OF SPORTS

... round the clock and round the calendar, Ruby Reports is specially equipped to thrill Sport Page enthusiasts.

EARL HUBY, a timely reporter of the Courier-Journal, is the envy of most sporting men. It's a great life, Earl says. He's a philosopher, he actively covers the Sports Front.

He's always on the run. Editor of America's most complete Sports section outside the three major metropolitan centers, Ruby says it's people who make sports interesting.

A native son, Earl began doing sport reporting in 1921, after school hours at the Ford Manual High, continuing through years at University of Louisville and Jefferson School of Law.

His specialty is football, basketball, boxing, high school and college football and basketball. In fact, every sport engaged in according to established rules, receives his attention.
