The American Way

Of making many books there is no end, and much study is a weariness of the flesh. Ecclesiastes XII. 12. We paragonize this quotation from the Scriptures to describe a present day condition in America. "Of making many books there is no end, and much study is a weariness of the flesh." The American way is a weariness of the American people.

Mr. H. Rogers of Houston, Texas, alarmed at the growth of bureaucracy, made an attempt to organize the Alphabetical Agency that has been created under the Roosevelt New Deal Party. According to the Federal Register and the most reliable information we could obtain from various sources, he found there were 2,241 of these Agencies, Bureaus and Commissions on Jan. 11, 1943.

At his own expense and at the expense of his government, he went back to the hands of the people. He distributed to friends and relatives a list of 211 names of those who had been taken to the Federal Register and who had been taken to the Federal Register and who had been taken to the Federal Register.

Mr. Rogers' list to this effect showed that the Federal Register contained the names of 2,241 of these Agencies, Bureaus and Commissions on Jan. 11, 1943.
