BIBLE THOUGHT THIS WEEK

If thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, 22nd satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as noonday, and the Lord shall guide thee continually. — Isa Ivii, 10, 11.

If thou hast Yesterday thy duty done,
And thereby cleared firm footing for Today,
Whatever clouds make dark To-morrow's sun,
Thou shalt not miss thy solitary way.

J. W. von Goethe

GUADALCANAL STIMULUS

The greatest stimulus coming to the Red Cross War Fund Drive in Nicholas county was experienced when a $15.00 contribution was received from Gordon McClure, a Nicholas county boy, from his foxhole on Guadalcanal.

Nicholas county was given a quota of $6,500, all but $1,900 of this amount has been raised to date and it is unbelievable that folks on the home front enjoying much of the normal comforts of life in spite of the many war rations and other minor handicaps, need sit idly by with folded hands and tightened purse strings and permit this county to go second with but little made in the Red Cross War Fund quota.

We can raise this $1,900 additional amount in the next few days if we will for one moment imagine some of the thoughts Gordon McClure must have had when he was inspired to send his contribution back to his home town folks in the faces of his friends and relatives at home.

Dig down again, folks, and you have given $4.00, $2.00, $5.00 or more to the Red Cross, time and experience how much better you will feel over having done so.

SAVE THE ARMORY

The prevailing cry is the need of new recruits to save the Carlisle Armory. Every information gathered from re[illegible] sources, it is evident that [illegible] armory will be closed soon w[illegible] the state will withdraw its support, unless there is an immediate enlistment of men over 38 [illegible] who have been discharged [illegible] the army, and men who have been placed in 4-F classification.

To close the armory would be a distant setback for Carlisle at this particular critical period, when it is needed for the convenience of many important occasions and will be more and more pressed into use as the war progresses and veterans return home from the battle-fronts.

We can not conceive of any man in Nicholas county who is eligible who would hesitate to enlist if for no other reason than to keep the armory open. A call is published elsewhere in this issue of The Mercury and it is the hope of this newspaper that a long list of volunteers will be submitted next week for publication. We are patriotic and it is confidently believed that every citizen of this county will respond heroicly and enthusiastically when duty and opportunity is pointed out to him in any emergency and under any and all circumstances.

Let's save the armory!

LOCAL PERSONAL SOCIAL

"THERE WILL COME SOFT RAIN"

There will come soft rain and the smell of the ground,
And swallows circling with their shimmering sound;

And frogs in the pools singing at night,
And wild-plum trees in tremulous white;

Robins will wear their feathery fire
Whistling their whims on a low fence wire.

And not one will know of the war, not one
Will care at last when it is done.

Not one would mind, neither bird nor tree,
If mankind perished utterly

And Spring herself when she woke at dawn,
Would scarcely know that we were gone.

The World At War

No. 119

By Charles M. Knapp,
Professor of History,
University of Kentucky

THE RUSSO-GERMAN FRONT

The most significant military operations of the past week have occurred in the southwestern Ukraine, from the Polish border to the Black Sea. A week ago the Russian armies crossed the Dniester River. Latest reports from Moscow claim that these armies have advanced 60 miles within the week and have crossed the Pruth River. The crossing of the Dniester brought the Russians into Bessarabia a province which the Russians had to cede to Rumania at the close of World War I. The crossing of the Pruth has brought the Russians into pre-war Rumania proper, headed for the important commercial and railroad center of Jassy, about 20 miles distant. Two hundred miles southwest is the Rumanian oil field around Ploesti, upon which it is supposed Hitler depends for most of his lubricating oil supply and, of course, much of his gasoline. Jassy is slightly more than halfway between the Polish frontier and the mouth of the Dniester River into which the Pruth flows. Jassy is level and in a southward drive there would seem to be no good defensive line until Galati is reached. That is a city located at the junction of the Pruth and the Danube where it bends sharply to the southeast. Thus it is considered that a rapid Russian advance south and east of the Carpathians is possible and probable. Latest reports from neutral capitals claim that Hitler is moving seven thousand Hungary and Rumania to bolster the Rumanian front and dominate politically and economically as well as militarily. Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria are members of the Axis Powers. At the mouth of the Dniepser, is reported to be practically surrounded, and from Odessa it is claimed that the Germans have begun to evacuate the garrison troops there. To the north on the central front, it is rumored that the Russians have been massing another great army for a drive to the west and ultimately on Warsaw, the old capital of Poland. There can be no doubt that the Russians now possess superiority in men material, equipment and air power over the forces of Germany and Hitler's satellites.

THE SECOND FRONT: It is still reported though there is now no clearer indication of when it is to be started than there was weeks ago. The air raids over Germany continue to increase in size and power. The destruction caused must be great, but the Germans seem to be able to rebuild their plants and get them into operation because only half might have been destroyed.

THE PACIFIC: The southwest Pacific headquarters of MacArthur has reported additional occupations of small islands in the Admiralties. On Bougainville, the Japanese forces that have been beaten back have been desperately and suicidally attacking the Allied positions without result. Air raids on the Marshalls and others on Permanshire and the Kurile bases have been reported. In Burma, an American and Chinese army has been pushing eastward in the north and an English
