THE CARLISLE MERCURY
Established 1867

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Carlisle, Ky., under act of March 8, 1875.

(Warren B. Fisher, Editor 1912-1937)

R. M. FEESE, Editor
Phone 80

SUBSCRIPTION PRICES
In Kentucky
One Year $2.00
Six Months $1.25

Outside Kentucky
One Year $2.50
Six Months $1.50

Overseas
One Year $2.50
Six Months $1.75

Cash In Advance
All Papers Stop On Expiration
Single Copy 5c

Advertising Rates Furnished On Request

MEMBER NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION

MEMBER KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1944

BIBLE THOUGHT THIS WEEK

and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more—Micah 4:3.

MORE FREEDOM, LESS FEAR

Members of the retail distribution industry bear the brunt of making wartime price and ration control work. Their expressed conviction that such controls should be abandoned as rapidly as possible after the war, is based on the knowledge of the hour-to-hour controls work on our remarkable system of free enterprise. Many others have given voice to a similar conviction among them Dr. Willard H. Dow, President of the Dow Chemical Co., who declared "We have taken regulations as a necessary part of the war, in much the same fashion as a young man, when inducted, puts away his civilian clothing and gets into uniform.

"There may be a shock in suddenly dropping the war controls, but not until every control is removed can we have free, open and competitive market in which the customer rules. The longer we delay stepping forward into freedom, the greater will be the eventual shock. There is no easy way to get out of what we are now in. Let us meet this question squarely and as Americans and not try to pussyfoot around it."

One school of regulators fears deflation; another fears inflation. What we need is less emphasis on fear and more emphasis on freedom.

COOPERATION IS POSSIBLE

Bitter controversy between government and business has been the rule for so many years that to find them working together unreservedly in supplying the people with the things they need to live and work is a refreshing experience. Yet that is the picture presented by the petroleum industry as it has been functioning under the Petroleum Administration for War, and in their own effective organizations, the Petroleum Industry War Council.

In releasing a short sketch of the make-up of the PAW, Deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies says: "The organization created to assure adequate supplies of petroleum products for the war is unique in the history of government-industry relations. I believe that it is generally agreed that it has proved highly effective.

"Teamwork is the keystone of the organization and is largely responsible for the success we have had in meeting the petroleum requirements of the United Nations' military forces and essential requirements of the consumer at home."

There is no reason on earth why the relations between government and business cannot be upheld in all lines of endeavor in peace or war.

ADDITIONAL PERSONALS

Emily Asbury has been elected to the staff of her college paper at Ward-Belmont, Nashville, Tenn. Emma Nelson Young has left to join to sing with the Arcett College Choir, Danville, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bason of Louisville spent from Sunday until Wednesday with relatives here.

Pfc. R. Caldwell remains with the U. S. Army in Germany. He is his home on Archdale Avenue.

Mrs. J. W. Masters, of Lexington, came Tuesday to visit with the family of the late Mrs. T. E. Hutchison.

RAY SHEFFLER WINS ESSAY PRIZES

(Continued from page 1)

vice cooperating directly with the district.

After the problems of the district have been presented and methods of attacking the problems have been determined, the next step is to acquaint farmers, businessmen and others with land problems and how they may be solved. Several different agencies cooperate in getting facts to those concerned through meetings, demonstrations, newspapers and radio. Some of the problems in this district may be such as to require specialized assistance in carrying them out. This district service helps in organizing the material and equipment resources of the community to obtain maximum efficiency in conserving soil and soil sources. Districts may also assist in obtaining planting materials, soil building materials, machinery and technical advice.

A farmer participation is voluntary. Soil is the world's greatest and most valuable natural resources. All food, clothing, and shelter comes either directly or indirectly from the soil. Soil determines the welfare of people, communities, states and nations. There is an ever increasing population of the world, demanding more products from the soil of Many careless farmers are letting their land wash away and are wearing out what they have left.

Some farmers know about soil building practices but do not carry them out. Many others do not know about these practices. Soil is being eroded much more rapidly than it is being reformed. However it can be conserved by proper land use, contour cultivation, terracing, cover crops, limited soil fertilizing. One hundred million dollars is lost each year through floods in the United States. Grassed waterways provide good drainage, yet no top-soil is lost. Contour tillage checks sheet erosion on gentle slopes and also provides better crops and better yields per acre. Diversion ditches and terraces prevent gullies which may in time destroy the usefulness of a field or farm. A covering of forest is the best protection against erosion on the steeper slopes. Tree planting often restores to usefulness a field which is already badly washed.

One man's attempt to stop his land from washing may be blocked by his neighbor's failure. If some areas are open and badly are being drained so as to produce more erosion floods. The cutting of a stream into the bank may cause damage a mile inland or later.

When the erosion is controlled in this country the land is more fertile, but as they grow more and more the land out this way ed on to a better place instead of trying to make the land do both. They never tried to conserve or rebuild it because they thought there would always be a new and new land.

The job ahead for Soil Conservation Districts is to promote the wise use of land in the interests of our family dwelling resources, and to aid the farmers in planning and carrying out better land use practices so as to insure a permanent and adequate supply of clothing and shelter for both the present and future generations.

25 Years Ago

Thursday, December 7, 1919

Chief Justice Moorman of the state court is doing much damage to the roads of Nicholas county, it is said, but none in this county.

Eugene Fishback has 260 acres of land in Shelby county to sell. Also has spotted Poland China sow for auction.

Tobacco markets open at Louisville with sales averaging $56.00 per hundred pounds.

Mrs. Sallie Burris has purchased Rhoades-Burton purchases home of Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Sizemore street for $8,000.

Henry Pelmer buys residence of Mr. Joe Bowles on Main Hill

By G. B. Spencer returns from a three-weeks campaign trip in Bourbon county.

Miss Elizabeth Parker, of Sayre College, spends Thanksgiving with parents near Jacktown.

Mrs. Henry Cutter returns from visit with relatives in Bloomington, Ill.

Miss Fances Turneman entertained with dance at home of Mrs. Mary S. Potts in compliment to house guests. Misses Ruliff and Bowles of Shippingport, and young people home for Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Henry Stanley and Misses Lucille and Eva Carpenter, of Versailles, Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Williamson.

Mr. Gano Stone remains critically ill.

Miss Lucy Duckworth, grade in country, Soil is the world's greatest and most valuable natural resources. All food, clothing, and shelter comes either directly or indirectly from the soil. Soil determines the welfare of people, communities, states and nations.

MARRIED—Mr. Lane Martin, of this city, and Miss Rena Yelton, of Cincinnati; Mr. Chas. Parson and Miss Hester Smoot. Miss Elizabeth O'Neal and Mr Kerney Thomas.

DIED — J. D. Gaunce, 62, at home near Saltwell; Mrs. Dora Cooper, 40, wife of C. E. Cooper at home on Elm street.

50 Years Ago

Thursday, December 6, 1894

Commissioner C. M. Wise has plank fence removed from public square and hitch rack put in repair. New iron fence to be installed.

George Match, the Jeweler, moves to Andy McDaniel room below Kimbrough House and Carlisle Building and Logan occupies room vacated by Match.

John Tilton, Jr., buys half interest in Jas Spencer's livery stable.

Col. E. R. Mann rents Blue Lick Springs Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Dorsey entertain 50 young people at home at Parks Ferry.

J. H. Stewart slaughters turkeys at local pen.

Y. M. I. at Mozart Hall enjoyed by more than 100 persons, elegant supper served by Mrs. John Conley at midnight.

Mathews and Glenn purchase new hack for livery stable.

Clarence Howe building new residence on lot adjoining Mayor Turneman.

Table board by week, $2 to $2.50. Mrs. Sallie Burris and children leave for Vienna, Ill., to join Dr. Burris who has located there.

Rogers Neal home for Thanksgiving, accompanied by Messrs. Leslie Sharp, Clarence Boswell and Ben Berry, all of Lexington.

Miss Lillie Metcalf, of Texas, a student at Hamilton College, visiting family of H. C. Metcalf.

Frank Asher in Owensboro buying holiday goods for store.

Handsome holiday couches and Morris chairs just received at Hamilton College after spending Thanksgiving at home.

Mrs. Mason Brasfield returns to Hamilton College after spending Thanksgiving at home.

DIED—Mr. Sara Allison, 71, at Stilwell, one of three born to Allison Gaunce on the 29th.

DIED—Mr. Sara Allison, 71, at Stilwell, one of three born to Allison Gaunce on the 29th.

BORN—To the wife of E. C. Hawkins, of Blue Lick Springs, a daughter.

MARRIED—Mr. Robert Ratliff and Miss Virgie Clay, at Moorefield. Mr. Walter Dunham, of Asheraden, and Miss Julia Fraties Morford of Blue Lick Springs. James T. Fortune and Miss Cordelia A. Snapp, John Van Buren, of Illinois, and Miss Sue F. Lawson at home of bride near Headquarters. W. F. Asbury and Miss Ada Gaunce on the 29th.

DO YOU KNOW This Young Lady? She Is The Winner Of The Beauty Contest sponsored By Hansley Mills At A Recent Entertainment Given By The Mamas and Pas Employees.

And Do You Know That Hansley Mills-Paris, Ky.

* Is a growing business with a real future?
* That it is here to stay
* That it is modern and attractive inside and out
* That it offers young women between the ages of 18 and 40 clean work in a fine, clean environment.
* Good Wages
* An excellent cafeteria, where wholesome food is served at rates unbelievably low
* A full time registered nurse to look after your physical well being
* Music at intervals during the day
* Rest Period morning and afternoon
* Recreation — dances and wholesome entertainment provided by the Management.

A Place Where Happy People Work Together!

If You Are Interested In Working For Hansley Mills Apply At The Office

MONDAY THROUGH FRIDAY

CYNTHIANA WAREHOUSES
NOW OPEN TO RECEIVE TOBACCO

Sales Start MONDAY, Dec. 11

It Pays To Come A Long Way To Sell Your Crop In Cynthiana

WIGLESWORTH TOBACCO WAREHOUSE CO. INCORPORATED
INDEPENDENT TOBACCO WAREHOUSE

NINE BIG WAREHOUSES

HARRISON TOBACCO WAREHOUSE CO. INCORPORATED
PEPPER-PEAK-FLORENCE TOBACCO WAREHOUSE CO. INCORPORATED

Lyric Theatre
Carlisle, Ky.

WED. - THURS., NOV. 29 - 30
"In The Meantime Darling"
Jeanne Crain - Frank Latimore
Also
Truant Officer Donald

SAT., DECEMBER 2
"California Joe"
Don "Red" Barry
Also
"Black Arrow"—Chap. No. 3

SUN. - MON., DEC 3 - 4
"Dragon Seed"
Katharine Hepburn
Walter Huston
Also
News

TUES. DECEMBER 5
Dananiena Hayride
Judy Canova - Ross Hunter
Also
Suddenly It's Spring

WED. DECEMBER 6
Ona Munson
"The Seventh Cross"

LOCAL PERSONAL SOCIAL

I MET A CHILD

By chance, today I met a lovely child
With honest eyes meant for laughter and not fear.
For all the things that only people know
Were not for her.
Yet, really, I felt that she was Everyone.
My daddy's name in the mummied line
I see in Dad Barry home. I am him, as
Just one small, wistful grasp from those quiet eyes
Then, dark rabbit-bedecked pigtails
Dodging
Slow, wonderful recognition
Of
Love unspoiled.
Love in the deep-in medicine
of
Love.
I learned that shared love purchased. I could not
But I could not be
Love.

KATHRYN CLAY

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. William Tolle announce the birth of a son, Wilbur Jay, November 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bason of Louisville announce the birth of a daughter, Carolyn Ann, November 22, at Johnson Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Bason is the former Miss Ann Hamilton, of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Lee Hutchison announces the birth of a son, Lee Hutchison, Jr., November 22 at Johnson Memorial Hospital. Mrs. Hutchison is the former Miss Mary Lou Hardin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hutchison announce the birth of a son, Ralph