Application of the Phillips Coach Lines to operate three bus routes from Lexington to northeast Kentucky has been dismissed by the Motor Transportation Division, it was announced.

The application was turned down because it was filed improperly and a hearing on a new application has been set tentatively for late January, the division reported.

Headquarters F. F. A. Sponsors Magazine Sale

According to William Hickman, reporter, the Headquarters chapter F. F. A. agreed by a unanimous vote to sponsor the sale of Curtis Publications. Immediately the campaign was turned into a contest when the membership divided into two teams; the Red Team, with John Reid as captain and the Blue Team, with William Hickman as captain. $100 was set as the goal for each team, but due to the fact that a large number of people already take Curtis magazines, the two teams together only sold $131 in subscriptions.

The Blue Team was beaten by a $10 margin and have agreed to entertain the Red Team at some time in the future.

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

Volume LXXIX Established 1867 Carlisle, Ky., Thursday, December 20, 1945 Price Five Cents NUMBER 51

OPERATION OF MERCURY 35 YEARS AGO RECALLED BY VETERAN WOMAN PRINTER

Miss Nellie Crump, Who Started Learning Trade With This Newspaper In 1910, Has Witnessed Marked Evolution In Weekly Journalism

By any measure, and certainly in the span of one lifetime, 35 years is a long period. By the measure of progress, the 35 years since December, 1910, has witnessed more changes of a more radical nature than any like three and a half decades in history.

That length of time carries one back to the edge of the gaslight days; when automobiles were such a novelty that no one believed they would ever supercede the horse and when life, for many of those who were alive then are to be believed, held fewer comforts, possibly, but was a lot more fun living.

Those were the days before the advent of boogie-woogie; the days of the tandolin and the parasol; the halcyon days when the twentieth century was in its first teens.

And it was in such days 35 years ago, that Miss Nellie Crump, of the Mercury, first entered upon a printing career with Carlisle Mercury and first applied herself to a trade and business which has changed no whit less drastically than have most other things in this world that moves.

It was in December, 1910, that Miss Crump applied for a position with the Mercury and was created on Main street, upstairs over the present offices of the Kentucky Utilities. The position was that of "printer's devil" and Miss Nellie was barefooted the day that she has been "devling printers" ever since.

The late Green R. Keller was at that time publisher of the newspaper and under his direction and that of his son, the late Stanley Keller, she learned the trade which she has followed with consistence. Those were the days of handsetting of type, when reading matter and all other content were set in single type, letter or symbol by a separate operation of the hands.

With Miss Catherine Tune, other employee in printing, she became so adept that soon the best of them were doing journeyman work in the place. When the first linotype machine was installed, Miss Tune took up the work of operator and Miss Nellie stayed with the printing. Today, Miss Tune, is linotype operator on the Anderson News at Lawrenceburg.

Power for the press was provided, on fortunate occasions, by a gasoline motor. On frequent less fortunate occasions, when it pottered to a dumbfounding stop, anybody who happened to be passing was called in to help a turn the machine by hand with the aid of a big wheel with a handlebar attached. "Bones," well-mannered attache of the Mercury for years led in the ensuing struggle with the press.

Much of the type was wooden and many times the wood-cuts carved by the expert hands of Clifton Fisher were seen in the columns of the Mercury. Much of this type and some of the wood-cuts are still in the plant.

When Warren Fisher Sr., later owner of the newspaper, celebrated his 25th anniversary in charge of the Mercury in 1927, he remarked to Miss Crump that only two employees were still with the paper who were with it when he took it over. He was one and the other was Miss Nellie. They agreed, adding that as she had not been with the paper, however, the entire time.

During the years she spent away from the Mercury she was employed by the old Louisville Herald and for a length of several years by the Welsh Printing Co. at Louisville, and for the Carlisle Democrat in the days of the late C. N. H. McNew. Those were the days, as she says, of the flowering of Kentucky journalism, when small-fry owners and among papers was not only common but expected.

A number of years ago, Miss Crump was the only woman member of the Bluegrass Typographical Union and because of her skill, her application brought forth requirements of passing a difficult test. After completing the requirements in the main, she led 275 other students in examinations with an average of 97 per cent.

Today, back for some months with Mercury, Miss Nellie says that the printing business has been a broadening experience that the demands of the trade carry with it the recompense of educational development. Printing, however, she declares, is not her avocation. Her hobby is dumb animals, small dogs, in particular.

William Boaz, 2nd Officer, Army Transportation Corps, Marine Division has been transferred from France to a port in Germany.

Brothers Expected To Be Home Soon

Major William H. Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Conley, of this city, is expected to arrive on the west coast soon and will spend a furlough here with his wife. Later he will come to Carlisle. His brother, Pat, is expected home by the first of the year. Wayne Winton, a brother-in-law, has arrived home and with his wife, formerly Miss Anna Mae Conley, has gone to Tennessee to spend the holidays.

Red Cross Yarn

Yarn for the use of Red Cross knitters has arrived at headquarters of the local unit and will be distributed to those who call for the material, according to Mrs. Hazel Hendrick. The unit is in need of help to knit sleeveless sweaters, she said.

Sale Of E Bonds Still Under Mark

Sale of E bonds has reached a total of $30,461.45 at the first of this week of $53,000, needed to fill the quota for Nicholas county. The bond drive taken as a whole has exceeded the county quota of $129,000 with $130,719.15 being pledged by citizens, it was announced today.

GOLD LEFT BY BROTHER IS MADE INTO FINE RINGS

Capt. Ivan Kendall, son of W. M. Kendall, of this city, who is spending several days at home, is the owner of a gold ring which he values very highly and is one of an identical pair, of which his father is possessor of the other ring.

Gold from which the rings were designed was among effects of his brother, Capt. Fred Kendall, who was killed in action at Iwo Jima. Twenty pieces of 22 carat gold in possession of the Marine officer, were sent his family following his death and each ring contains 6 of the pieces. Each ring is erected with the Masonic emblem bordered by filigree work of marked craftsmanship, artisans being the Bogaert firm of Lexington. Capt. Kendall said that the rings were patterned after one owned by Allen Hopkins, of Carlisle. In fashioning the rings, carat content was reduced to 22 to 24 to secure perfection in manufacture.

Capt. Kendall will soon report to San Antonio, Texas for reassignment. He has been in service for almost six years and served with the air arm in Europe during the war.

School Holiday Slated

The Carlisle city school will close Friday afternoon for the Christmas holidays, and will reopen Wednesday morning, Jan. 2, according to Supt. R. E. Davis. Supt. W. B. Dampier announced that county schools also will close Friday, reopening January 2.

Rites For Former Resident Set For This Afternoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna V. Richardson, 34, who died after being overcome by gas fumes of her home in Lexington Monday morning, will be held at the Moorefield Christian church at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. Paul Richardson, of Lexington, officiating. Burial will follow in the Carlisle cemetery. Pallbearers will be Joe Wilson, J. S. Wilson, Wilson Clark, Joe Smart, Howard Hovermale and James Judge.

Mrs. Richardson was temporarily making her home with Mrs. George Jeffries, when the accident occurred.

The two women, according to Lexington city firemen, had been working in the kitchen and were overcome after the flame under a hot water heater had gone out. They were discovered by a neighbor who summoned the life-saving squad of the city fire department.

The firemen, who received the call at 10:34 a. m., worked for nearly two hours and succeeded in reviving Mrs. Jeffreys but their efforts in the case of the younger woman failed.

Members of Mrs. Jeffrey's family said Monday night she remained "very ill" but is expected to recover.

Mrs. Richardson is survived by her husband, a Lexington city employee of the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company store in Lexington and formerly of Mt. Sterling; a daughter, Phyllis Rud Ann; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Newt House of Moorefield; three sisters, Mrs. Oscar Hovermale, Mrs. Jack Clark and Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, all of Nicholas county, and four brothers Albert House, Moorefield, and Clifton, Earl and Kash House, all serving in the armed forces overseas.

The body was removed to the Mathers, Potts and Shearer funeral home here and later taken to the home of her parents at Moorefield.

Masonic Election

The annual election of officers of Daughters of Edge, F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic temple at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, Dec. 27. Oyster soup will be served at noon. All members are urged to be present

White Christmas

Less than a week before Christmas, it is apparent that snow will be very much in evidence for the holiday this year after a fall of the "beautiful" Tuesday and Wednesday accompanied by near zero weather. Highways are slippery in places and drifts in some parts of the county have been reported. Aside from Howard Collver, rural mail carrier, who became stuck in a drift Wednesday and had to send for a wrecker, there were no major difficulties reported.

SAME MANAGERS WILL OPERATE CARLISLE YARDS

Announcement has been made that the Farmers Stockyards Company here is to continue next year under the same management. During 1945, affairs of the market have been guided by Milton McClain, of Cynthiana, and S. B. Shannon, of Millersburg, and retention of the stockmen bears high promise to the continued substantial growth of the Carlisle market, is the opinion of observers of progress made here in the stock marketing field during the last year when shipments were a third more than in previous years.

It is generally felt that the future holds great promise in marketing of stock here and patrons of the local yards will be urged to continue support give it during the last year. The market will not operate Christmas Day but will open for its regular Tuesday sale, New Years Day.

The report of this week's sale follows:

Weather, Clearing and colder Thursday. Rising Friday and Saturday. More snow later

Tobacco Price Slump Causes Mild Alarm As Remedy Sought

The burley market continued its slump with a state average of $42.04 being registered Wednesday morning after sharp declines in prices were noted in a number of markets. It is estimated that a little less than half of the Nicholas county crop has been moved to markets with the remainder yet to be sold.

The market will recess for two weeks at the end of this week's sales. The price slump has caused an agitation for acreage reduction and a mass meeting of growers has been slated at Paris at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Object of the meeting will be "for growers to take such action as they see fit to improve tobacco marketing conditions."

While dissatisfaction with prices here appeared to be growing there has seemed to be no great apprehension expressed over the market's future, most growers believing that measures for remedy will be applied.

Paper Collection To Be Bi-Monthly

Mrs. Frank J. Hardesty stated this week that arrangements and plans for the winter, paper collection will be conducted every other month. The next collection by Girl Scouts will be Jan. 26. In the meantime, the community said, persons having paper which they would like to put aside may leave it at the plant.

Brother Finds Nicholas Farmer After Sudden Death

Ed Browning Collver, 65, well known farmer of Sprout, in the Upper Lick section of this county, was found dead in bed at his home early Wednesday morning by his brother, Robert Collver. Mr. Collver lived alone.

M. C. Shearer, Nicholas county coroner said death was due to a heart attack. No inquest will be held.

Mr. Collver was the son of the late R. J. and Fannie Nichols Collver. He spent his entire life in Nicholas county. Besides his brother, Robert, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Minor D. Judge of Moorefield.

Funeral services will be held at the Mathers, Potts and Shearer funeral home here at 11 o'clock Friday morning, conducted by Rev. Ralph Thomas, pastor of the Carlisle Christian church. Burial will be in the Bethel cemetery.

Strange Footpad Holds Up Former Carlisle Resident

The Lexington Herald reports the holding up of Mrs. Lucile Thompson, formerly of Carlisle and a sister of Mrs. W. J. Reed, of east Main street by a "gentlemanly bandit with a southern drawl" two days ago.

Mrs. Thompson told city police that the young man, whom she met while walking on Market street, Lexington, near her home, stopped her in the street, walked on a few steps, then turned and asked if she was married. She offered an apology. He then snatched her purse from under her arm, she said, but as he turned to run, he slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk.

Mrs. Thompson struck the fallen thief on the head with a container of groceries, but he escaped with the purse. However, as he did so, the purse sprang open, the billfold and checkbook fell out and Mrs. Thompson recovered them.

To Visit Carlisle

Garrett Duncan Jr., son of Garrett Duncan Sr., of Carlisle, has returned to his home in St. Mary's Ga., for a furlough before continuing his service. He expects to visit in Carlisle in January and will be accompanied here by his wife and young daughter. His mother has formerly been Miss Faye Townsend, teacher in the city schools here.

Scout Honor Court Sees Advancement Of Local Boys

Kenneth Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Campbell of Carlisle, and a member of the freshman class of Carlisle high school, was made an Eagle Scout at the Bourbon District Scout Court of Honor held here Sunday at the Carlisle Christian church. Several other scouts in troop, comprising the district received for service including a number of Nicholas county boys.

Others made Eagle scouts were Stanley Dickson and Bill Davis, both of North Middletown.

Attended by an impressive gathering considering the inclement weather Sunday, the ceremony was presided over by W. C. Dalby, of Paris. Among others present was a body of Girl Scout in uniform. Arrangements for the session were in charge of Chess Shearer, Scouts of the Nicholas county troop received training under Scoutmaster E. M. Smith.

Campbell, who is 15 years old is the first scout of this county, to receive the highest rating in Boy Scoutdom. According to Scoutmaster Smith his record came after a lot of hard work and close attention to scout training. He entered as a tenderfoot March 22, 1944 and has been advanced rapidly.

Members of Nicholas troop, 15 who were honored at the meeting were: Life scout—William Newell, Charles Dixon, Robert Palmer, Gaylord Caswell and J. Paul Jones; Star scouts—Robert Pitman, Custer Blair, Hugh Wood, all, John Barr and Henry Potts Young; second class scouts—Billy Hillock and Frank Cavanaugh.

KENDALL AMONG THOSE OPPOSING LICKING DAMS

Elva Kendall, local realtor and commander of Nicholas post, American Legion, was among those who voiced opposition Tuesday to the damming of Licking river at points which experts calculate would inflict damage to Nicholas and other Kentucky counties. Declarations that Robertson and Fleming counties "could not exist" were made by representatives from those counties to army engineers at Frankfort during the meeting to hear protests against the proposed $51,885,000 development of dams in the Licking river basin.

Also appearing in protest against the dam construction was J. A. Standiford, president of the Nicholas county farm bureau. County Judge Walter Shepherd was unable to attend the meeting because of a recent illness and the inclemency of the weather.

According to a statement made recently by County Judge Walter Shepherd the damming of the river at proposed points would do inestimable damage to a fertile part of Nicholas county. At the meeting at Frankfort engineers were told that the project would inundate approximately 7,000 acres of land in seven county and would flood a third of Robertson county.

Of the amount proposed to be spent on the project, $43,569,000 would be used for flood development and the remainder of the allotment on flood control measures.

Homemaking Clubs Work Described By Demonstration Agent

(By Dorothy C. Rowe)

Home Demonstration work in Nicholas county, sixty-sixth county in the state of Kentucky to organize this program, was begun in July 1945.

The organization is part of a system of adult education, free to all; a working agent intent on improving the profession of homemaking. The object of it is to extend to homemakers the opportunity to study home-making problems under trained leadership, to increase their skill, add to their information and develop their appreciations that they may apply the contributions of science and art to their chosen professions—homemaking.

Eight homemakers clubs have been organized in the following communities: Parks, Ellisville, Headquarters, Carlisle West, Carlisle East, Miranda, East Union, and Moorefield. There is a total of 150 members. It is the purpose of the organization to organize clubs in every community to extend the work.

Approximately 435 articles have been made from feed sacks and scrap material by the members of the homemakers clubs. More fruits and vegetables have been stored this year. The 4-H club girls have canned nearly 3,956 quarts of food.

Plans for the county annual meeting of the Nicholas County Homemakers clubs was the topic of discussion at the first advisory council meeting held December 12 at the office of the Agent. Mrs. S. R. Barlow, Parks homemakers club, was elected as temporary chairman and Mrs. Robbert Feeback was elected temporary secretary. The county homemakers annual meeting will be held January 22, 1946.
