CHRISTMAS EVE KILLING HERE MARS OBSERVANCE OF HOLIDAY SEASON

Gaylord Anderson, War Veteran, Is Shot To Death By Foster Bussell Following Argument At Home Of Bussell Here

An examining trial for Foster Bussell, 18, who admitted to Sheriff John Anderson, when arrested Monday night, that he had shot and killed Gaylord Anderson, 40, veteran of World War II, at the Bussell home on the Flemingsburg pike, near Henryville, has been set for 10 o'clock this morning by County Judge Walter Shepherd.

Sheriff Anderson said that he had been called to the Bussell home about 10:15 o'clock Monday night because of a disturbance which was in progress there and upon his arrival found the war veteran dead as a result of a shotgun wound which Bussell admitted inflicting. The officer said that the shooting had taken place during the time he was en route to the scene. Bussell was lodged in the Nicholas county jail on a charge of murder.

The dead man had been shot in the left breast and had apparently died instantly. The sheriff said that there were a number of people gathered at the home at the time the arguments ensued which led to his having been called and resulted in the fatal shooting.

Chess Shearer, Nicholas county coroner, will hold an inquest according to reports, the Christmas eve tragedy occured during the course of a drinking part; although there was no clear report as the direct cause of the shooting.

Anderson is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mollie Anderson, two brothers, Hansen Anderson, Lexington, and Robert Anderson, Carlisle, who now is with the Army in Germany; a sister, Mrs. Wilbert Earl, Cincinnati, and a half-sister, Mrs. Ollie Finch, Nicholas county.

The body was removed to the home of Robert Anderson in Carlisle, where services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday, the Rev. E. H. Barnette of the Carlisle Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Carlisle cemetery.

A coroner's jury impaneled Wednesday afternoon by Coroner Shearer found that the deceased had come, to his death from results of being struck by a charge of a 12 gauge shotgun in the hands of Forrest Bussell. The verdict was signed by R. F. Brasfield, foreman; Ray Snapp, William Pervis, E. M. Smith, Clarence Burgin and Adrian Valandingham.

Hark! The Herald Angels sing. Once again the air is filled with song and music . . . the music of the spheres. Once again it's Christmas with all that this sacred holiday implies.

TOBACCO MARKET IS ANALYZED BY LOCAL WRITER DURING SALE RECESS

(By Grimes Caywood)

Approximately 40 per cent of the 1945 burley tobacco crop had been marketed when the sales schedule Friday for the Christmas holidays.

During the last 10 days of the current sales season the "average on all markets dropped almost $7 a hundred with the slump in prices increasing from day to day.

Only flyings and fine and choice qualities of tan and bulk lugs have continued to bring selling prices throughout the season. Leaf grades, usually called bright leaf and red leaf by farmers, have taken the biggest cut from the OPA ceilings. These grades have sold below the maximum from the opening of the market, although fine and choice baskets commanded ceilings the first few days of the season.

Fair and good grades of leaf have shown the heaviest decline, most baskets selling at from $2 to $12 below the ceiling. The cut on fine leaf has not been as great, ranging from $2 to $6. Low and choice qualities of leaf consistently sold at ceiling or near-ceiling prices.

The OPA maximum prices were paid for all grades of lugs until about the middle of the second week of sales, when buyers started dropping prices on most baskets. Fine and choice thin and buff lugs, with $58 and $60 ceilings, respectively, have continued to bring the maximum price, but fair to good qualities have sold for the most part at from $2 to $10 below the prices set by federal graders.

The familiar chant of the auctioneers, practically silenced during the past three seasons, was heard again throughout the burley belt the past 10 days when they urged buyers to increase their bids. During the war years, the auctioneers merely announced the price and allocated the baskets to the buyers.

Most warehousemen expressed little confidence that prices would increase after the holidays. All were agreed, however, that if farmers continued to rush their crops to market at the same rapid rate, some of the buyers would be forced to curtail their purchases, thereby contributing to lower prices.

The Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, which had been inactive during the past two years, received some tobacco last week, according to announcement made by Frank C. Taylor, secretary and treasurer of the association.

The crop, with headquarters at Lexington, as agent for the Commodity Credit Corporation, has established a floor price on burley to guarantee growers 90 per cent of the parity price on their tobacco. However, warehousemen said few baskets of tobacco have fallen below the advance price guaranteed by the association.

Revised estimates of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, announced this week, have placed this year's burley crop in all producing states at 603,000,000 pounds, an all-time volume record.

Kentucky's production this year will be the largest ever grown. Many of the mountain counties have greatly turned to tobacco production on a more or less heavy scale, and some of the highest averages on the Lexington market this year have been grown in some of these counties. Mountain counties in which burley has been grown this year include Morgan, Menifee, Rowan, Pulaski, Clay, Rockcastle, Wolfe and Powell.

Most of the burley grown in these counties this year was of good quality, all of the light, smoker variety, and has brought good prices. Most of the crops were small.

Nicholas county's crop this year appears not to be as good as last year, judging from averages on the various markets. Most of the Nicholas crop is ready for market, farmers say, and it estimated that almost 50 per cent of the county's production has been sold.

During the past week a number of county Farm Bureaus and other agricultural organizations adopted resolutions asking for curtailment of next year's production in an effort to keep up the price. Most of the organizations have requested a 20 per cent reduction and an increase in the penalty for selling above quotas.

It has been pointed out, however, that the quota for 1946 has already been set and that special legislation would be required to change the figures. Next year is the last year in which quotas will be set by the federal government unless farmers again vote for retention of the quota system. A referendum will be held next fall.

In spite of the slump in prices, the situation is not as gloomy as it appears at first glance. Tobacco is still averaging around $43 a hundred pounds, which any farmer will admit will show a profit.

There can be no recurrence of the debacle that occurred during the sale of the 1919 crop when prices the first week averaged more than $60, maintained a medium of almost $50 for the first five weeks and then started a slump which reached a level of about $30 before the season ended. The floor established by the Burley Association would prevent that.

Caywood Story Attracts Praise Of Revenue Bureau

A Herald-Leader article on the registration of firearms brought to the United States by returning servicemen has been selected as the outstanding newspaper story on activities of the Bureau of Internal Revenue this year, it was learned here Thursday.

The story was written by Grimes Caywood, Leader reporter, and was published in The Sunday Herald-Leader on Nov. 18.

Announcement of the selection of the article was made by Stewart Berkshire of Washington, D. C., deputy commissioner of th Internal Revenue Bureau, in a letter sent to all district offices in the United States. Included with the letter was a reproduction of the story and of six illustrations as they appeared in The Herald-Leader.

"This article, with photographs of firearms as shown, was selected from many excellent ones sent to this office from various districts," Mr. Berkshire's letter stated. He suggested that the article and illustrations be released to newspapers in all cities where district offices were located.
