

Of Interest to Farmers of Nicholas County

Dairy Glassware
Inspected for Accuracy
All glassware used by milk producers and creameries in Kentucky for measuring butterfat tests will be inspected for accuracy by the Agricultural Experiment Station in Lexington, Ky., because of the result of the tests on a basis of standard. The glassware to be inspected will be shipped to the station by the producers for checking, and will be returned to the producers in the original packages. The annual report of the Agricultural Experiment Station shows that 23,139 gallons of dairy glassware were calibrated for accuracy the past year. Of this number, 77 percent were of the standard of one percent variation. The importance of testing dairy glassware for accuracy is emphasized. It is pointed out that only glassware which has been tested can be relied upon in Kentucky. The standard of accuracy is maintained at the station.

Side Line Crops
Two hundred forty farmers in Grayson county, Ky., have been growing side line crops for $250,000. Ten of the best crops grown received an average of $250.00 an acre for the year.

Milk production in Anderson county in 1944 was 20 percent more than in 1943 and in three years has increased 50 percent, according to a survey made by County Agent S. C. Hill. Cows were milked the past year on 1,115 of the 1,200 farms in the county. Six years ago there were 500 farms in the county. Last year they numbered 720. During 1944 there was an increase of 100 percent in the number of farms having better milk herd replacements.

Crop Losses
Sixteen County Agent Wood, Rowlett says some farmers have lost 12 to 15 acres in a million dollars' worth of crops. The loss of 1.5 bushels of tobacco per acre is a heavy loss. The loss of 1.5 bushels of tobacco per acre is a heavy loss. The loss of 1.5 bushels of tobacco per acre is a heavy loss.
