The World At War
No. 160

By Charles M. Knapp,
Professor of History,
University of Kentucky

THE WESTERN FRONT IN EUROPE: The most spectacular incident of the week was the establishment of a bridgehead across the Rhine by the American First Army on Wednesday. Thus the Rhine has been crossed over nine miles south of Bonn at Remagen where advance platoons following close on the heels of the retreating Germans found the Ludendorf railway bridge intact and raced their men in time to dismantle the demolition charges which the Germans had prepared to blow it up. It was a daring, desperate chance which the American Infantrymen and tanks took, but it was successful. The Allied armies in the west had a bridgehead which they quickly expanded, across the Rhine. Unfortunately, however, that bridgehead is not in the most propitious location on the Rhine for attacking into the heart of Germany. It is located on the middle course of the Rhine, where the river is broad and the current swift and where hills rise sharply from the east bank, where the main highways must cross successive bridges which could furnish a determined German resistance with the strongest kind of natural defense positions.

The bridgehead has been widened, according to the latest available reports, to five miles, and increased to a depth of five miles. Numerous supplementary pontoon bridges have undoubtedly been thrown across the river. A great advantage has been gained by the seizure of a great bridge intact in that it stands near to the German defense. It will help in effecting other crossings nearby and may stand as a tremendous blow to German military and civilian morale. The Rhine has been crossed. The Allied armies have accomplished what the Nazis had always declared was their place. The real threats to the German western defense of the Rhine operations north of this bridgehead by the American First, Fifteenth, and Ninth armies.

THE RUSSO-GERMAN EASTERN FRONT: Not more than a week the Russians have been driving in full force down the Polish Corridor against Danzig, and toward the port of Stettin, the Baltic port for Berlin, on the lower Oder River. The outskirts of both ports have been reached at this date and the final straightening of the Russian front in the north made preparatory to a direct drive on Berlin. The significance of the Ruskin operations thus far lies in the fact that they have been carried on on a major scale simultaneously with the Allied drive against the Rhine. The Germans for the first time have had need of all their reserves to stem advances against both their eastern and western defenses. Their miserable at Breslau in the indication that their commanders are under great strain and that confusion exists in the high command. Thus the siege would seem set for a speedy German collapse on one or all fronts when pressure can be exerted from additional bridgeheads across the Rhine.

THE PACIFIC SECTIONS: The struggle for Iwo Jima by the Marines has entered even its fourth week. The Japanese resistance continues desperate but confined to the hills and caves on the northern parts of the island. Most of the surface of that small island is in our hands, but the struggle for the remainder is by no means over.

In the Philippines, Gen. Mac-Arthur has announced that a landing in force, after the familiar naval preparatory bombardment, has been effected on Mindanao, where the Japanese expected him to attack first, instead of on Leyte. Z-mbuanga, the capital city, is the object of the rapid advance.

Tokyo has suffered during the week-end, two terrific bombardments with fire bombs by more than 300 superfortresses, which have started fires which have burned more than 15 square miles of that city.

RIGHT now, neighbors, before the busy planting season is on us, let's get together and put our farm telephone line in good repair. We can't afford the risk of having our telephone line go dead right when we'll be needing it most. So let's get together and do the job we all know has to be done. Call the secretary of your line tonight and fix a day to start the work.

A FREE BOOKLET—"How to Build and Repair Your Farm Telephone Line" is yours for the asking at your telephone office.

NAVY TO STOP SENDING INFIT MEN OVERSEAS

Many physically fit men are being sent overseas for naval duty and the Navy Department says that must stop.

It has been disclosed that the Navy's Bureau of Medicine and Surgery and the Bureau of Naval Personnel have sent a joint memorandum to all ships and stations telling them what to do about the situation.

"Numerous reports of receipt of men in the overseas areas who are not physically qualified to perform all of their duties have been received by the Bureau of Naval Personnel," said the memorandum, which then went on:

"In view of the transportation involved, the unwarranted burden on medical facilities in overseas areas, and the present congestion of men awaiting medical or dental treatment in those areas, it is extremely urgent that steps be taken to prevent transferring such men overseas.

"A careful physical examination of overseas drafts will be made at embarkation ports and the physically unfit eliminated," the bureau ordered.

Thousands Killed By Superforts

(By Harry Wilson Sharp, UP Correspondent) If persons were beheaded to death, thousands were seriously injured, and many thousands were made homeless in a Superfortress attack on Tokyo, a Japanese official admitted today.

Tokyo announced also that, with the fall of the empire now at stake," Emperor Hirohito had ordered Premier Gen. Kuniaki Koiso to take part as an equal member in future meetings of Japanese imperial headquarters chieftains.

Both the frank statement on air raid losses and the decision to include Koiso—a general, but one holding civil office—in deliberations of the Japanese supreme war leadership revealed urgent anxiety over the prospect of additional aerial attacks and the threat of an invasion of Japan.

Sadao Iguchi, spokesman for the Japanese Board of Information, made the statement on air raid losses.

Iguchi disclosed that Superfortresses had dropped propaganda leaflets in huge numbers but he gave no details.

The General Communications Commission recorded the Tokyo broadcast which reported Iguchi's statement.

A version of the broadcast received by the United Press in San Francisco included Nagoya and Osaka, two Tokyo in the casualty list as "many thousands."

Iguchi sought to show that the Superfortress was a source of terroistic nature and said they only bombed military objectives.

"The object of the enemy is clear," he said. "The enemy is making every effort to shorten the war and thereby bring an early end to the vast destruction and material losses he is suffering in the battle zones at the hands of the Japanese forces. He is making no choice of his means. According to his way of thinking any means, however bestial or inhuman, are justifiable as long as they bring victory.

OBSERVATIONS

WE SEE AND HEAR
By Monty

HANDLES $100.00 BILLS

Mrs. Ruth Sampson was overcome recently of how the "Little House with Big Heart" handles customers with large change. It seems that a native had been to the city and purchased a $100.00 bill in payment for the service, whereupon, he was returned his change in the small bill denominations to be found in the establishment after deducting the breakfast cost. The customer showed signs of being surprised when the "change" possessed so much small change.

DRIVING HAZARDS

Among the many driving hazards are children at play, old people, pedestrians, dogs, rabbits, chickens, hogs, horses, bright lights, slow drivers and fast drivers, and always the "other fellow."

DOG BEAUTY SHOPS

Since there are so many dog fanciers and owners of nice dogs —house dogs and lap dogs—that have to be kept clean and smelling good, a suggestion is advanced that a good business in the right location operating "Dog Beauty Shops" might be in order.

CRIPPLE DOG CAREFUL

Some dog owners are seemingly foolish habit of running toward and petting a dog without any fear, some that have come in direct contact with a passing car and are crippled or maimed for life and if we are very, very careful not to get too close to another moving car. The adage that a burned child will stay away from fire holds true concerning a hit dog will stay away from cars. Some dogs, however, seem to have special training in approaching a street crossing, stop and look both ways before crossing.

$747 NEEDED FOR RED CROSS GOAL

Chairman Fightmaster Urges The Workers Finish Job. Sunday Schools Have Red Cross Day

The Red Cross drive in Nicholas county is so near the goal that Chairman Cleary Fightmaster and his committee chairmen and every workers are eager to finish the Job as soon as possible, within the next week, at least.

There are possibly several in the territory of each worker who have not been contacted and given an opportunity to make a pledge. Workers are urged by the general chairman to carefully go over the list of names in their respective communities and complete all calls at the earliest possible and make the final report. This is very important in order to make the final totals.

All who have had a part in any way in helping to make the Red Cross drive in Nicholas county a success are to be congratulated and the task should feel that he or she has had the opportunity to spend by the side of the boys on the front in a time of great need. Thanks are extended to the contributors by the local organization, the national organization, and the boys who benefit. If you have not made your contribution, there is time yet to have a part in this great humanitarian organization.

Don't forget that next Sunday, March 25, is Red Cross Day in every Sunday school in Carlisle. This offers an extra opportunity to make an extra gift should you not have given as much as you feel as it should be, or an opportunity to help by your first Sunday contribution to complete the Nicholas county quota.

Berryman and Miss Lois Gatewood, who is assistant leader to the Girl Scouts.
