The American Way OERS TO CHOOSE

There really are two systems of government: 1) The Government-Democratic System, and 2) The Government-Communist System.

The second system is the Government-Communist System, which we know as the Government-Communist System.

There is no lasting indifference between these two systems. The immortal Abraham Lincoln said "I believe this government cannot endure permanently half slave and half free."

All we need of the American people is to choose between these two systems. The choice is yours.

WORKING TOGETHER THIS WAY

WE DO A BETTER JOB . . . SURE THING! IT MEANS MORE SERVICE AT LESS COST

NEARLY three-fourths of Kentucky's people make their living by farming. Unless these folks are reasonably well off, the rural co-op and company can serve without interfering with other status.

Everybody knows that the use of electric service makes farming more productive, profitable and convenient. So we figure that the more rural electrification there is, the better off Kentucky will be, and the better off we will be.

For this reason we have worked heartily with rural co-operative groups in our territory from the very beginning of the rural electric co-operative program.

18.7% of its farms, while Kentucky's was reversed: Kentucky had service available to 24% of its farms, while service was available to only 22.2% of Tennessee farms.
