57 ACRE FARM
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16
AT 10:00 A. M.

On the premises, located 1½ miles North of Moorefield on Upper Lick pike.

We have been authorized by the owner, Mrs. Eva Bowen, to offer her nice little 57 acre tract of land at Public Auction on the above date.

The improvements consist of a home of 5 rooms, combination stock and tobacco barn, garage, cellar, meat house, hen house, with all other necessary outbuildings, plenty of water and good fence, tobacco base of 3 acres, electricity available. The farm is all in grass but 6 acres and it is sown to small grain. Anyone interested in a dandy little home and farm located on a good road, close to churches, schools and leading markets, need not go farther as this is the ideal spot to locate and be happy ever after. This is the buy for the thrifty person who wants a home or an investment. Terms reasonable and will be made known on day of sale. Interested parties will be shown over farm by the tenant, George Ellington or the selling agents.

I will also sell some farming implements consisting of a mowing machine, disk harrow, fence stretchers, a scalding vat, lard press, cream separator and some small items. A few pieces of furniture including an organ. Eight or ten barrels of corn.

College Girl Smokers.

"Several months ago I wrote a little article about a mob-scene I had witnessed of college girls in a rush for cigarettes. Letters from readers are more condemnatory of smoking girls than I feel able to be. My thought is well stated by a representative of the Blue Mountain College, Mississippi, who, when asked if he thought smoking by women immoral, replied: 'Not immoral but an error in judgment, especially among growing girls.'

"He made the query a peg on which to hang a boost for his fine, old-fashioned college, by pointing out that they have more applicants than they can enroll. He quoted an academic survey upon college women's marriage and divorce, which finds that 54 per cent of the coed graduates get married, and 55.4 per cent of those engaged in women's colleges. Of Blue Mountain graduates it is less than 2 per cent.

"Of course, abstention from cigarettes is not the cause of this notable record. It is only a symbol of the college's way of life.—W. T. Ellis." —Adv.

Mrs. Henry Reports Red Cross Trip

I was invited to attend the Home Service training course from Oct. 1st to 12 inclusive at Eastern Area Headquarters, Alexandria, Va. This course is given several times a year to acquaint home service workers with the plan of organization and the services of Red Cross.

Upon our arrival we found that every comfort had been made for our comfort and convenience. Reservations were made in advance by Area at the George Mason hotel. There were eleven members in the class representing Ohio, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

Mrs. Ellis Thompson, director of training had charge of registration. She also spoke to he class on "Red Cross Milestones," the beginning and growth of the organization, the interest and influences of Florence Nightingale, J. Henri Dunant, Dr. Henry W. Bellows, Clara Barton, Mabel T. Boardman, and Henry P. Davidson, all of whom were effective in the life and growth of Red Cross. The foresight of these distinguished people have made it possible to carry on a system of international and national relief in mitigating the suffering during the greatest calamity the world has ever known.

Mrs. Esther Holihan was our home service instructor. The objective of home service is to help maintain the morale of the servicemen and his family, at home through the fulfillment of the following functions: communications, information and advice and claims, reports, consulting and counseling, evaluation, assistance. These services are available to service and ex-service men and their dependents.

Demobilization is now under way. Red Cross chapters stand ready to help men who are returning to their communities as they did during their military life. The serviceman's readjustment act of 1944 gives the able-bodied as well as the disabled veteran important new benefits in unemployment compensation, job placement, education and loans. Our responsibility to the returning veteran was presented by Rexford Shaffer.

The training course is in entirety very pleasant and profitable. I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the local Red Cross chapter for making it possible for me to attend.

True happiness is to no spot confined
It you preserve a firm and constant mind.

SUPERINTENDENT GIVES RESUME OF NICHOLAS COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM

Enrollment For Year 900 With 30 Teachers Engaged In Program. Taxes Analysis And Expenses Outlined.

(By W. D. Dampier, Supt.)

The schools of Nicholas county opened on September 17, and have just completed their second month. In order that the patrons and friends of the schools may be acquainted with the work that is being done, the following may be of interest:

The work of the schools is being done by a corps of thirty teachers, twenty-three of whom are in the grades and seven in the high school. Only one high school is maintained in the county system, that at Headquarters. Following is a statement of the enrollment in the various schools:

Barrettville	28
East Union	82
Ellisville	141
Headquarters	220
Moorefield	192
Myers	129
Parks	102
Total Enrollment	909

The average attendance in the county for the month just closed was 94.1%, and the percentage of attendance based on enrollment was 93.1%. In addition to these pupils enrolled in the county schools there are almost one hundred high school pupils in the county who attend the Carlisle high school, and are under the Nicholas County Board-pass system. The board also provides transportation for the high school pupils who attend school in Carlisle. The colored pupils in the county district attend the school at Harrodsburg and those who live in Carlisle attend the school at Mt. Sterling.

The principal sources of revenue are from taxes on real estate and from the per capita received from those who pay the school census. The tax rate for 1945 was 75c on each $100.00 of taxable property. There are 1298 pupils in the census this year, and the per capita on each of these is $19.77. The total receipts of the school for this year, July 1, 1945 to June 30, 1946, has a budget of $28,363.83, and this is divided under the following heads: General Expense, $3,200; Instruction, $25,968.60. Operation of School Plant, $2,000.00. Maintenance of School Plant, $5,600.00; Fixed Charges, $1,000. Auxiliary Agencies, $1,000. Capital Outlay, $20,500.00. Tuition to Other Districts, None. Capital Outlay, $13,245.23. Debt Service, $100.00. This budget has to be made each year by the board of trustees, superintendent of schools, and then approved by the Director of the Bureau of Finance of the Department of Education, Frankfort, Kentucky. The secretary of the board is also the Treasurer of the school funds, and is under bond. Each year his books are audited by the auditor of the Department of Education, Frankfort, Kentucky, and the minutes of the office are available to the public.

The following compose the corps of teachers in the various schools:

Barrettville. Mrs. Estelle Rose.

East Union: Mrs. Parmella Caywood, principal; Miss Katie Metcalfe and Miss Cordia Bell.

Ellisville: Mrs. J. E. Soper, principal; Mrs. Zoa Mae Henson, Mrs. Ina Mae Bell Anderson and Mrs. Lucile Richey.

Headquarters: Jno. P. Pirtle, principal; Miss Ethel Botts, Thos. C. Johnson, Mrs. Gladys Kenney, Miss Olive Stewart, Miss Alpha Brierly, Miss Truman Richey, Miss Robbie Harney, Miss Hazel Swartz and Miss Jane Gaffin.

Prize Winning Essay Of Carlisle Student Is Worthy Article

Howard Bryant, Jr., a student of Carlisle high school and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Warner, Sr., of Moorefield, has displayed an intimate and accurate knowledge of his subject in capturing first prize for Nicholas county in the recent contest sponsored by the Courier-Journal and associates for best essays on Conserving Kentucky's Soil, in the opinion of conservationists. His essay follows:

Conserving Kentucky's Soil

When Kentucky was settled, it was known as a fertile and highly productive land. Since that time, soil erosion has developed into its most bitter enemy, and has caused a tremendous loss each year by soil erosion. The soil is being weakened more and more each year. Mr. Moore's method of continuous growing of crops which exposes the topsoil to all the elements contained in the soil. Since the land is becoming less productive, the need for controlling soil erosion is greater than ever before.

Controlling soil erosion protects lives as well as the land. Every three miles from Carlisle and our children's living will come from it likewise; therefore, we should make every effort to conserve it for their benefit.

The most precious layer of soil is the topsoil, and this is the first layer damaged by erosion, and should be saved and preserved. When the topsoil is gone, yields decrease greatly and man's living standards also decrease. Kentucky, in the past few years, has obtained fine yields, but better ones could be produced under proper soil conservation methods. The tax rate would be reduced 75c on each $100.00 of taxable property. There are 1298 pupils in the census this year, and the per capita on each of these is $19.77. The total receipts of the school for this year, July 1, 1945 to June 30, 1946, has a budget of $28,363.83, and this is divided under the following heads: General Expense, $3,200; Instruction, $25,968.60. NICHOLAS COLT BRINGS $4,500

A bay colt owned by F. L. Ballard, of Green Hills farm, Taylor's Creek pike, was sold Thursday at the Keeneland sales for $4,500 during the annual fall sale of thoroughbreds.

The colt was foaled in February, 1944, and is by Lovely Night out of Queen O. Lovely Night, a stakes-winner of more than $55,000, is the holder of the track record for a mile and three sixteenths of 1:57 2-5.

Queen O., also owned by Mr. Ballard, is by Chatley O. out of Queen of the Water Imp. Her sire was winner of the Florida Derby and finished third in the Kentucky Derby to Broker's Tip and Head Play.

Fisher To Fill Place Of Long

The Rotary Club held its regular meeting Thursday night with Dr. S. P. Hutchings presiding in the absence of F. J. Hardesty. Paul Garrett was in charge of the program. Short autobiographies were given by Harvey Leonard, Robert Davis, Paul Garrett and Earl VanBever.

It was decided not to have a meeting this week as it is a holiday.

Robert Fisher was appointed secretary to fill out the unexpired term of W. A. Long who has moved to Falmouth.

Paper Collection

Mrs. Frank J. Hardesty has announced that the waste paper collection to be made by Girl Scouts is scheduled for Saturday.

Union Service

Union Thanksgiving services were held Wednesday night by Carlisle churches at the Christian church and the Thanksgiving sermon was delivered by Rev. W. H. Cobb, supply pastor of the Presbyterian church.

LOCAL INVENTOR TO SEEK PATENTS

Back when the Barlows invented the famous knives and Kentucky rifle, which was exhibited at a World's Fair, Nicholas county won itself a name as the home of inventors. It may do this again when proper attention is attracted to a number of devices designed and manufactured by Ira Hunter, local retired mechanic, and in daily use in his shop in Carlisle. Expertly fashioned and giving the impression of highly technical manufacturing, the various pieces of equipment he has invented appear to have been purchased from a prominent concern rather than made here. But they have not been bought, according to the inventor, because there are no others like them.

Chief among the power-driven devices by which Mr. Hunter is able to turn more and better work with greatly less expenditure of personal labor are a saw sharpener, an iron-saw, a home-mower sharpener, a sickle sharpener and a post-drill. Each of these are separate machines powered by individual motors ranging from a half to a quarter horse power. Each is able by turning a switch, to perform operations which are amazing when accuracy and saving of physical labor are taken into account.

Manufactured from what Mr. Hunter said were "odds and ends" the machines are his own brain-children and so successful are they in getting work done better and quicker that he expected to apply for patents soon.

In the case of the post-drill, which looks as though it may have been shipped in from Chicago or Detroit, the machine came into being at the hands of Victory Ford during the use of parts of a Model T Ford, of which Chevrolet and Dodge cars and a scrapped washing machine.

Rummage Sale

The American Legion Auxiliary realized $18.15 from the rummage sale Tuesday in the Community Center and will auction the remainder Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Legion building.

Proceeds will go to the Youth Center. Anyone having any garments to donate for this sale call Mrs. Ada Knox, phone 289-J.

FLAMES DAMAGE KING PROPERTY

A fire at the home of C. R. King, Sycamore street, last Friday morning destroyed an outbuilding in which his car was housed. The car was badly damaged and a number of chickens were burned to death. A quantity of Hunter's furniture belonging to Mrs. C. B. Huffstetter, stored in the building was also burned.

It is stated that Mrs. Nettie Rupert, a sister to Mr. King, had built a fire in the building about 5 o'clock Friday morning and an hour later discovered the structure enveloped in flames.

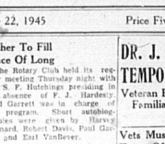
Mr. King, who was in Battle Creek, Mich., at the time, was said to have had the keys to the car with him and the car could not be moved in time to save it from the fire.

In Who's Who

John Hopkins, son of Mrs. W. B. Hopkins of this city, and Doris Talbott Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith of Lexington, formerly of Carlisle, seniors at the University of Kentucky, have been selected to be listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," an annual publication honoring outstanding upperclassmen.

DR. J. W. COBB REQUESTED TO KEEP TEMPORARY MINISTRY AT CARLISLE

Veteran Presbyterian Evangelist To Deliver Sermon On Familiar Topic At Services Here Sunday Morning At Carlisle Presbyterian Church



REV. J. WALTER COBB

The pulpit supply committee of the Carlisle Presbyterian church has extended an invitation to Dr. J. W. Cobb, supply minister whose three-month period here expires soon, to extend his temporary pastorate. Such an extension would bring termination, unless again extended, March 22. Dr. Cobb has taken the invitation under consideration.

The minister, a graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J., and a post-graduate of The Biblical Seminary, New York City, at the regular services at 11, o'clock Sunday morning, will deliver his sermon, "The Evolution of a Fool," which he has delivered many times in Kentucky and in the South.

The occasion may be considered an especial one since in this favored unit Dr. Cobb speaks from a long and varied experience derived from 47 years in the ministry in pulpits reaching the full gamut from village to big city.

A native of Mississipoi, the present time is his second period in Kentucky, having been minister of a Morganfield congregation in 1936. Before coming to Carlisle as supply minister, he supplied a pulpit at Glasgow. A resident of Memphis, Tenn., he expected to live in that city when he eventually retires, he has said. Before entering the supply field, he was Superintendent of Home Missions and an evangelist in Tennessee. He was before this familiar with Presbyterian work in the Carolinas and other southern states.

Dr. Cobb and Mrs. Cobb, who is with him during his stay in Carlisle, are parents of two sons, Robert H. Cobb, of the staff of instructors at Darlington Preparatory School, at Rome, Ga.; J. Walter Cobb, Jr., in the advertising profession in Memphis and Capt. Marion Cobb, who returned to the States on the Queen Mary after service in Europe; and of two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Meadows, wife of a professor of chemistry at the University of Kentucky, and Mrs. H. E. Martin, Jackson, Tenn., whose husband is connected with the T. V. A.

Miss Norvell's Will Probated

The will of the late Lucie B. Norvell, recently probated in county court, directs that real estate be sold and proceeds divided equally between people with the exception of the home place, proceeds of which are to go to the heirs of two aunts, Margaret Marsh and Ida Piper.

The will devised personal property to her family and friends, who are un-named in the document. It provided that three cats be cared for in a cat-home and that other cats be provided with necessities until homes be found for them. Ida Butler was left a picture of Mr. Norvell's mother and Frank Carpenter an afternoon ring. The sum of $200. was left to the Carlisle cemetery for perpetual care.

The old cats, mentioned in the will, which was dated Oct. 18, 1940, died before the will was probated.

Also of recent probate, in the will of the late George B. Sampson, which directed that all personal and real property be left to his wife, Ida Sampson, during her life-time, to divert to his heirs-at-law after her death.

Vets Must List Types Of Arms —Herald-Leader

(By Grimes Caywood)

Returning service men who have brought certain types of firearms home with them or have sent them home are required to register their war trophies and are subject to heavy penalties for failure to do so, E. M. Stratton, investigator for the Lexington office of the Alcoholic Tax Unit, Bureau of Internal Revenue, explained Sunday.

Not all of the thousands of firearms brought home by the returning veterans are required to be registered, Mr. Stratton said, but he explained that owners of the trophies should consult the local Alcohol Tax Unit officials concerning any firearms they possess.

The Alcohol Tax Unit has been designated as the enforcement agency for violations of the National Firearms act, Mr. Stratton said. The two offices in Kentucky where firearms may be registered are the Alcohol Tax Unit, 411 Federal building, Lexington, and the Alcohol Tax Unit, 318 Finecastle building, Louisville.

Section 2733 of the National Firearms act defines firearms affected by the act as follows:

1. A shotgun or rifle having a barrel less than 18 inches long.

2. Any weapon, except a pistol or revolver, that is capable of being concealed on the person.

3. Any machine gun (a weapon designed to shoot more than one shot by a single pull of the trigger).

4. A muffler or silencer for any firearm.

This act does not require the registration of a .22 caliber rifle unless the barrel is less than 16 inches long.

A penalty of not more than 2,000 fine and imprisonment for not more than five years, or both, is provided for failure to comply with provisions of the act.

The definition of machine guns includes machine pistols and machine rifles that will fire more than one shot with a single pull of the trigger; pistols or revolvers that have stoc
