Hospital Donation Day

Woman's Club

The Carlisle Woman's club heard Rev. Ralph Thomas, minister of the Carlisle Christian church, in a very interesting and timely message, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Allen Hutsinson. He chose for his subject, "The First Step Toward Organized Society."

"The home is the first unit of society," he said, and stressed the need for guidance and training in this foundation so that the boys and girls of tomorrow may better meet the world's problems, "the magnificent" was his description of our land. He also said, "In no other country do they have freedom of education".

Rev. Thomas was introduced by Mrs. George W. Taylor, program chairman.

At the business meeting it was voted to make fifty sheets containing candy, nuts and a small gift for the disabled veterans at Nichol. General hospital.

Assisting Mrs. Hopkins, hostesses, were Mrs. Elizabeth Colville, Mrs. W. H. Frey and Mrs. Walter Haselrigg.

Report Of P. C. A. Annual Meeting

Farmers in this area have borrowed $2,393,617.15 from the Flemingsburg Production Credit Association since it was organized twelve years ago, including $433,473.21 during the past year, reported C. G. Crockett, president, at the annual meeting held in Flemingsburg Saturday.

In a very impressive talk James I. Stephens said that farmers of this area have a very bright outlook for post-war farming with reference to improved cropping and improved methods of farming.

In his report as secretary-treasurer, C. G. Sutton said membership has grown to 759 farmer members in Bath, Bracken, Carter, Lee, Fleming, Greenup, Mason, Nicholas Robertson and Rowan counties. The association owns approximately 7,000 shares of stock in the Federal Land Bank, stock owned through the Production Credit Corporation has been retired, $140,000 and capital reserves amounting to $24,000 protect the stockholder and give the association a sound and continued spreading of the association's operations.

D. D. Porter and Harry Lowe were elected to the Board of Directors to succeed themselves. Mr. Porter has been a director since the date of organization in 1934.

Mr. Lowe succeeds Ben Hall, retiring former director, who has served since the organization of the association in 1919.

Refreshments were served by the Ladies Auxiliary of the County Medical Society.

Builds Combination Tobacco, Stock Barn

A combination tobacco and stock barn is being built on the farm of Dr. W. Frank Hall, Mayslick, Ky., according to Ed Bramblett, county agent. The barn will be 42 feet 4 inches long, four bays deep, each bay 12 feet wide. The barn is being built from the plans and specifications of the county agent. One half room of the first modern type to be built in Mason county.

Nitrate Doubles Rye, Oats Yields

A field of Simpson county-bred Farm Agent Woodrow Wilson Rye, grown on a farm fertilized with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate, having used it on rye and a field of hulless oats with 100 pounds of nitrate, leaving a part untreated as a check. The untreated portion made eight bushels per acre as against 19 bushels on the treated area. Mr. Roark further stated that he had less fire damage on the treated portion. Ammonium nitrate increases the yield of oats from 50 bushels to 60 bushels per acre, he said.

On Kentucky Farms

Bracken county farmers have placed orders for more than 40,000 tons of soybean meal to supplement home-grown grains for winter cattle feed.

For the third year, watermelon growers in Boone county found the striped Klondike wilt-resistant variety profitable.

Hybrid corn has proved so satisfactory to farmers in Hancock county that there are few who do not plant it.

By following good farming methods, Harold Bohanon of Shelby county has grown tobacco on the same field for 14 consecutive years.

The Christian County Farm Bureau reports a total of membership of 1,167.

More than 12,000 bushels of kilbo rye seed have been sold by county farmers.

It is estimated that the use of prisoner of war labor in Henry county added at least $25,000 to farmers' incomes.

Farmers in Caldwell county report losing as much as half their tobacco crop where non-root rot resistant varieties were grown.

S. O. Goff of Green county produced a third more corn from his hybrid seed than from the open-pollinated variety.

LOCAL PERSONAL SOCIAL

ACCEPT OUR PRAISES, LORD

By Grace Noll Crowell, in Holland's Magazine

Steady and true the out-stretched hand of God
Has showered His countless blessings on the earth.
Up from the fastness of the close-locked sod
The grain has sprung, the cattle given birth,
The gold and purple fruit on vine and tree
Has sweetened in the sun mirculously.

Today, despite the wreckage left by war,
We pause to thank the Giver for His gifts.
There is so much that we are grateful for,
And now with one accord our clear voice lifts
In sincere, heartfelt, rapturous gratitude
To the Author and the Giver of all good.

Accept our praises, Lord, accept we pray
Our humble thanks for all Thy tender care.
Not only on a set Thanksgiving Day,
But every day we would be mindful
That we thus be, oh, far more worthy of
This tender mercies and Thy bundless love.
