school, is missionary minded and evangelistic.

The anniversary program will begin Thursday night, October 4, with a message by R. M. Bell, President of Johnson Bible College; he will also speak Friday night, October 5. Sunday, October 7 will be the big day of the celebration. At eleven o'clock Ralph Thomas, the pastor, will preach at "Old Concord," the mother church of the Carlisle congregation. Many former members of this affair will be on hand. Old-fashioned basket dinner on the Concord church lawn, after which W. A. Fite, of Grayson, Kentucky will preach at 2:30. Brother Frank Tinder, a former pastor will preach in the evening service at the Carlisle church.

All are invited to attend these services, especially former members, and those with some connection in this church now or in the past.

Southern Bell Co. To Expand Soon

A $300,000.00[illegible] $400,000.00 construction and installation program, involving the extension of additional telephone needs of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Kentucky, was announced today by Hal [illegible], general commercial manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Mr. Dumas said the program will be the largest ever undertaken by the Southern Bell Company and will extend over the next five years.

Some idea of the size of the program can be gained from the statement that in order to keep pace with the demand for telephone service in the state [illegible] must spend a sum for extension about equal to the total value of all the facilities we now possess" Mr. Dumas said. "The money [illegible] amount to be used by the telephone company in the state for the purchase of materials and the pending application for service. We anticipate a period of substantial employment in the telephone industry and further telephone expansion in the years to follow."

Mr. Dumas said Southern Bell's construction plans included many [illegible] different cities and towns to be outlined in detail.

Extending and improving rural telephone service.

Catching up with plant facilities to provide for the [illegible] demand for telephone service.

Extension of service to other [illegible] areas.

Providing adequate [illegible] to provide confidence in the telephone industry as a place to retain and expand the position it has gained as the result of the [illegible] service it has rendered to the public during the war years.

A "what you can do" program to call a normal [illegible] growth in the years just ahead. We are [illegible] materials, a favorable climate, a [illegible] industry, [illegible] telephone labor, which has acquired new skills in hundreds of [illegible] jobs, [illegible]

"As the South develops so will the telephone business develop. It serves it business and social life—and it contributes to that development through the extension of an ever-expanding, ever-improving service."

War will never yield but to the spirit that is stronger than war. We trust you will worship with us and give your influence to the building of our community.

Our G. I's are returning and we are glad to see them finding their places in the church. The church is the first line of moral defense. If we neglect this church we neglect the only hope we have for better days.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION

By W. W. REID

An inter-religious conference calling together the leaders of the world's great religions for the consideration of a "basic formula" whereby all faiths can work together for lasting peace and the betterment of mankind, is urged by Rabbi William F. Rosenblum, of the Temple Israel, New York City. It would be a sequel to the San Francisco Conference, he says. He suggests also, that if the Pope could not, leave Rome to join in these discussions, the conference could be held in Rome itself. "The days of secret diplomacy are past and the days of aloofness among the great religions should be ended," says Rabbi Rosenblum. "The Catholic Church, the Protestant bodies, the Jewish group, the Modern leaders must find some formula for common action on the things which are basic to all religions. They need not meddle in politics, in fact, this is the very thing they must eschew. But they can unite to mold the thinking of those who have the governments in their hands, and thus hasten goodwill and peace."

A recent poll of leading agnosts and church musicians throughout the United States indicates that the following, in their order, are the principal favorite hymn tunes in general use in the churches: "St. Anne" (used with the works of "O God, our help in ages past"); "Sine Nomine" ("For all the saints who from their labors rest"); "Ein' Feste Burg" ("A mighty fortress is our God"); "Aurelia" ("The church's one foundation"); "Vigiles et Sanctae" ("We watchers and ye hold ones"); "Picardy" ("Let all mortal flesh keep silence"); "Passion Chorale" ("O sacred head, sore wounded").

"A girl whose sense of God is dulled by indifferent parents; a boy whose mind is by disordered, abnormal age; a home imperiled by too much money and parents working on odd and disrupting shifts; these are wounds that threaten people here at home as certainly as German shells and Japanese bullets threaten our boys," says Bishop Paul B. Kern of Nashville, Tenn. "And we don't get excited about this danger and nobody stops to think that passion is not only rolling a bandage but is also helping a confused youth to straighten out his life . . . This is the job of moral leaders and spiritual guides. Soldiers can destroy, but teachers must rebuild. We must train a new generation of boys and girls who will be wise enough to make war impossible and bring in a good life to men and women everywhere."

The arrival of the American Air Force in West China, where the missionary-educational activity of Nanking is "in exile," introduced some quite noticeable influences of sociological and historical interest. One point mentioned recently by an English teacher, was that the rigid, rich coolies were speaking as good English as some of the students. The calls of "Let's go, Joe" "Joe's", "Hospital," "Parking Lot," no longer cause the older students residents any surprise while a coolie who can sing or recite the words of popular songs as he runs along is not unusual. One coolie was heard to say in perfect pronounced words: "Do you want to go to the Park? Paris, Texas, Illinois?" asked by the Chinese-American Institute of Cultural Relations, is now continued under the title of the Social Changes in Chengtu Since the Arrival of the AAF."

As a result of an experimental Bible course offered as a weekly program feature for five months over Station WCHU, Ithaca, N. Y., the Rev. Clyde W. Rogers is convinced that children of Bible study and that such a program is popularly received by the radio audience. Radio time was granted without cost by Cornell University, who owns and operates the station, and Mr. Rogers used juniors and intermediates from his parish as participants. According to the mail received, discussion questions, based on Dr. Bowley's "Story of the Bible," were most popular. At the close of the series Mr. Rogers said, "We believe that great opportunities are in store for those who will give themselves to this type of endeavor."

The following poem was received by Mrs. Elden Hutchings from her husband now stationed in the Pacific. He says it applies to all the "so-called beautiful" Pacific islands.

THE MARIANAS VS ALCATRAZ

Down in the Mariana Islands
This base is sure the spot.
Working in the awful heat,
In the land that God forgot.

Just sitting here and thinking
Of what we've left behind.
We hate to put on paper,
The thoughts we have in mind.

We have worked a million hour
And we've sweated many more
All these are but a tiny speck
To the misery in store.

Many a mile we've walked
And to get to leave this hole
We have to send the paper,
A mortage on our soul.

Among the rock crabs and lizards
Down where a man gets blue
1,000 miles from Frisco
And many miles from you.

Even at night the heat stays on
It is more than a man can stand
No, we are not convicts,
We are defenders of our land.

We are sailors, marines, and doggies,
Earning our meager pay
Guarding the people with millions
For a couple of bucks a day.

Thinking of our parents
And dreaming of our pals;
Hoping that when we do return
They haven't married our gals.

We don't mind the Navy life
And taking the "Bar-matur"
But being in the Marshalls
Is like serving in Alcatraz.

The obstacles we've confronted
They're all so hard to tell
Let's all hope it's nice in Heaven
Cause we've served our time in Hell!
