WILL THEY PUT THAT NEW PLANT?

No town can stand still and prosper. Either it advances through the vision and planning of its civic leaders, or it goes to seed, drained of its people and resources by its more progressive neighbors. And no state is more progressive than the sum of its towns.

It's up to you civic leaders, you men with whom the community moves either forward or backward, to see that your town leads the way. Industry begets industry onward and upward to a more enterprising and alert town, a town with a future.

It's your home town today. Tomorrow it will be your son's. Leave him a place in which to prosper. You can't let George do it. YOU are that civic leader. YOU are your home town.

Kentucky HAS what it takes to get new industries. More than 50 new ones were established in the state during 1944-45. And not one has ever questioned local electricity costs. No industry, plant, or factory has ever refused to come to any town served by Kentucky Utilities because the price of electricity was too high.

Our Industrial Department is always ready to aid you community leaders. We will help you find out what kind of industry or new business you want, and then work with you in a program aimed at reaching your goal. Our contacts with industries, planning agencies, research experts, and other business managed power companies enable us to assist your town in developing its potential resources.

We have prepared a booklet, "SETTING THE STAGE FOR A BETTER HOME TOWN." Many of these have already been distributed. If you haven't seen a copy, drop by your local K. U. office and ask to see it, or write the Kentucky Utilities Company, Lexington, Ky., requesting a copy. It's yours for the asking. "SETTING THE STAGE" offers suggestions on what you can do to help your town, and how to organize your work. It will enable you to surprise community's good points, and to point a questioning finger at its poor points.

THE CARLISLE MERCURY

Volume LXXX Established 1867 CARLISLE, KY., THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1946 Price Five Cents NUMBER 16

Glances Here & There
By I. D. Zern

THE MERCURY HEARTILY Joins in the movement among many Democrats over Kentucky to urge Tom R. Underwood, editor of the Lexington Herald and long a leading figure in Kentucky affairs, to seek the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate. This newspaper is convinced that if Mr. Underwood would make the race a long-sought solution to Democratic ailments would be found in his candidacy and that all elements of the party would unite behind him to give the party an old-time overwhelming victory in November.

While it is well known that the Lexington editor has shown reluctance to become a candidate for office, success at the polls in the fall and the healing of wounds through the nomination of a candidate all Democrats can wholeheartedly support, is being urged by friends of Mr. Underwood as reasons he should give the race his consideration. It is the belief that, good Democrat that he is, he may prefer to be the increasingly clear "call."

BUD SCOTT, MANAGER OF McRanda, tells me that he is developing post-war plans for his rural cemetery and that as soon as federal works begin he expects to see a life-size statue become true by getting things done for the section of the county in which he said to be top office leader.

So realistic have been Bud's hopes for progress there, I am told, that long ago he directed a stranger who was making a big-ry-robe to the ninth floor of the mercantile building there, of course, this stranger didn't find the buggy-robe much less the large mercantile building and, the story goes, he didn't find Bud, either, when he returned to Carlisle.

RECENTLY THE LEXINGTON Herald punned the friendly agreement I had with Jay Jay over the writing of My Old Kentucky Home by stating that it hoped that Jay Jay and I would sing together and try to sing it.

Comes a man this morning from William Talbott, Paris banker, who writes the "Ole Bill" letters I know you have seen in the Lexington Herald, recalling the days he sang bass to my light tenor; so I don't know about Jay Jay's vocal qualities but if he can carry a good bass, we should be able to sing the song at that.

GRIMES CAYWOOD, WHO would, by the way, vote for Jay Jay as being the state's best citizen around newsman, was in this morning on his way to an assignment beyond Grimes recently wrote a story in the Lexington Leader about the problems of the bus station there which dreaded and derelicts of the night who loiter in the waiting room during these transient times.

He told how some of them, in order to spend the night asleep on a bench, would purchase a cheap ticket to some nearby stop so as to be able to flash it on any chance officer to prove they were bona-fide customers instead of vagrants.

GEORGE H. SCOTT, PROMOtional director at the Midway school which is sending to Carlisle a trained chorus to present a free program at the Christian church the night of good Friday, writes me of old times and re-ities an incident which took place a long time ago at Pleasant Valley when John Jolley was station-agent for the L. & N. there. Shooting at a rat one night, the agent missed the rat but set a blasting powder which blew him out of the building and across the tracks. The story made the New York Ledger, George says. What happened to the rat was not disclosed.

MRS. M. C. CLAY, OF MILLersburg, showed me a china doll she owns a few days ago which she thinks is at least 100 years old. Dressed in dainty and voluminous clothing of what I would guess to be the 1840 period, the doll is really a museum piece. Paint used to color its eyes and rouge its lips and cheeks seems as fresh as when first applied. Its berribboned dress is of a delicate material and the remainder of its apparel includes several petti-coats and—pantalettes!

Rotary Members Told Advantages Of Dairying

Dr. Fordyce Ely, head of the dairy department of the University of Kentucky, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Carlisle Rotary club here Thursday night, being introduced by County Agent Ed Straw.

He told his listeners that Nicholas county can have a very promising future in the dairy industry if efforts already planned by the local dairy committee are placed into commission. Comparing the benefits of the dairy business with mining and marketing of tobacco, the university man said that while dairying does not embrace the extreme highs and lows of the tobacco market, it is a very dependable source of farm income and one upon which the dairy farmer may always rely. Beside this the admixture of dairying with the plans of farmers allows for a diversity of enterprise which assures better chances for remuneration. Farmers of the South, the expert said, are too prone to depend on a "one crop" agriculture and beat methods adopted after research into dairying several definitely that risk in failure is greater under the near-obsolete system of farming.

Dr. S. F. Hutchings, recently elected president of the club, to take office the first of July, presided in the absence of F. J. Hardesty, the president.

Reasons For Pipe Line Remain Dark

Mystery veils the whys and wherefores in connection with the unloading in Carlisle this week of a large number of 15 inch steel pipes but after a survey of the situation by Police Officer Orville Gaunce and a Mercury reporter best deduction at this time is that the lot of pipe is the first shipment of the big-inch material to this locality for the laying of a natural gas line from south or west, as determined point to Cincinnati.

From some reports the gas will come from Texas and from others it will originate somewhere beyond Menifee county, although no one seems to know. Will residents here be able to tap the line? The report is no—that all gas it carries will be consigned to a Cincinnati company. Real information is just now as vaporous as the gas the line will carry.

Wants Roads Marked

W. J. CURTIS

W. J. Curtis, curator of Blue Licks State Park, who recently returned from a vacation in Florida, looks forward to what he believes will be one of the best years at the famous battlefield shrine near here. Last Sunday the number of visitors to the park and museum exceeded that recorded this early in the year, he said Tuesday.

Mr. Curtis strongly advocates the erection of roadside markers to serve as tourist guides and will urge that the Department of Highways carry out a program planned at the beginning of the national emergency but laid aside for the duration of the war.

Dairy Committee Sees Better Days Ahead For Industry

Following a lead in planning for improvement of the dairy industry in Nicholas county laid several weeks ago, a committee composed of Oval Day, Lovell Holtar, Edgar Darrell, Sr., Edgar Darrell, Jr., D. L. Baker, L. M. Gaffin, Glenn Booth and Milton Cole met last Thursday night at the courthouse to perfect arrangements to carry out plans.

County Agent William T. Straw, ex-officio member, outlined plans already made and presented Dr. Fordyce Ely, University of Kentucky, who discussed possibilities of dairying in the state and county.

The county agent following the meeting stated that adoption of the method for improvement of dairy herds as outlined at the meeting would allow for accomplishment of betterment in five years of what might be ordinarily expected to take 20 years.

The committee expressed preference for the Brown Swiss breed of dairy stock in a round table talk concerning the introduction of pure-breds. Interest in the young dairymen in 4-H clubs and other organizations of youths has been revealed to be awakened to the many good qualities of pure-bred stock. Steps said will be hoped to be able to perfect an outright dairy movement among the young residents of the rural communities in the great future the industry can hold for them.
