He urges that residents here give financial support to the University through contributions to raise the status of athletics of interested person, regardless of attendance of the University, may become a member of the club, he said.

In connection with the effort to stimulate the University, Womack said that for many years people of this county along with those from all over the state have greatly desired a better brand of athletics, football in particular at the state school that Kentucky may take a more important position in the nation in sport circles. With the hiring of a new football coach, he said that now is the time when every Kentuckian should rally to the support of the institution.

"The county attorney was not formed and this week, at the termination of the War Finance Committee in the state and has been asked to close his files. Womack was presented a coin especially cast by the government which will bear his name as chairman here.

He said that the record of Nicholas county in raising funds to aid the government since 1941 has been a splendid one, there having been during the time a total of $2,107,889.50 subscribed here. In announcing the conclusion of the work, Womack expressed appreciation for each of the many who helped make the record.

Straw, Nicholas county agent.

The group will leave the postoffice here at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning.

Breaks Arm

Mrs. Frank C. Henry suffered a fracture of the right wrist Wednesday morning when she fell in her home. She was brought to the local hospital and after the member was set, was taken to her home.

Baptists To Build Modern Hospital In Lexington

According to an announcement recently by Rev. Ira McMillen, pastor of the Carlisle Baptist church, sixteen Baptist churches in the immediate Lexington area have been fully organized to begin collection, February 10, of the drive to raise $1,500,000 for the building of the new Central Baptist hospital.

The campaign which is being promoted in the Lexington area will be carried to other communities throughout Central and eastern Kentucky. Baptists of Carlisle and Nicholas county will be asked to contribute their share to the fund and others interested are asked to make such donations, inasmuch as the hospital will serve persons of all denominations.

With patients coming to the two existing Lexington hospitals from all parts of Central and Eastern Kentucky, the shortage of hospital beds has become very acute in the last few years. The minimum number of hospital beds for this entire area is an average of 6 beds per 1,000 population. There are now only 1.5 hospital beds per 1,000. Patients are now being placed in corridors, reception rooms and libraries, because of the demand for hospital treatment. The new hospital will provide 250 more beds, thus alleviating the overcrowding to a great extent.

In recent months, citizens of Nicholas county who have needed immediate hospital attention have found it difficult to gain admission to the Lexington hospitals. With the addition of the facilities which the new Central Baptist hospital will provide, this condition will be remedied considerably.

This new project has been endorsed by Governor Willis. "I am very glad indeed to know that the need for further hospital service is recognized, and that you are proceeding to meet that need insofar as you are able to do so," Governor Willis wrote the committee.

An announcement concerning the launching of the campaign in this area will be made later, Mr. McMillen stated.

Does it seem odd to you that some of your cast-off clothes can be the saving influence in this chaotic world?

The Victory Clothing Collection in Nicholas county is under the charge of Mrs. Frank J. Hardesty and girl scouts will call all over the city Saturday, Feb. 9, to pick up apparel you can give away. Residents of the county are requested to leave articles at the offices of the Kentucky Utilities Company.

County Judge Walter Shepherd will have one of the county trucks make a tour of the principal streets of Henryville on that day and pick up waste and refuse as trash cans. Waste material should be placed in suitable boxes, containers, or bags which will make handling easy for the truck men, it is said.
