Rehabilitation For Disabled

The Veterans' Administration has started a state-wide campaign to inform approximately 1,500 severely disabled veterans of WWII in Kentucky of the vocational rehabilitation opportunities available to them at government expense. The survey will cover all veterans who are receiving compensation for disabilities of 70% or more in degree and who have not applied for any kind of training. Mr. H. W. Farmer, manager of the VA Regional Office in Louisville says, "It is our intention to have all severely disabled veterans in Kentucky fully appraised of the rehabilitation benefits to which they may be entitled. Our primary objective is to give every disabled veteran the chance to overcome his handicap."
