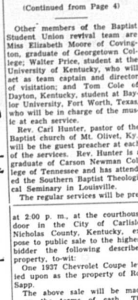
Bright Blazer



Navy and white striped jacket.

By VERA WINSTON

A BLAZER JACKET is a good wardrobe pal since it teams up with skirts to make a smart enough suit and goes well with a simple frock. Then, too, it has a bright, casual, young look that is very much in tune with fashions at this time of year. Navy and white striped flannel is used for this cardigan-necked blazer, and there are gored patch pockets. It is shown here with a white flannel skirt and navy blue sweater blouse which makes a mighty fine country or resort combination.

City Board Offers New Proposal Concerning Merger of School Systems

A formal proposal that the Carlisle Board of Education desired to merge its Independent School District with the Nicholas County Board of Education was drawn up by the group at a special session held here Wednesday afternoon.

The proposal, signed by Dr. G. T. Cowan, chairman of the city board of education, and R. E. Davis, secretary of the board, which requests that the merger become effective May 31, 1948, was submitted to Raymond J. Wesley, secretary of the Nicholas county board, late Wednesday afternoon.

The proposal requests that the full five-man city school board be absorbed by the county board for the remainder of their elective terms and offers to accept county pupils in the city schools for the forthcoming school term at the rate of $60 per pupil.

Wesley said that the proposal would be turned over to the county board for its consideration. However, he said that action upon the proposal might be deferred until 1948. No regular meeting of the county board is scheduled before August.

Meanwhile, Wesley said the county would proceed with its plans of sending its students to Headquarters during the forthcoming school term.

The proposal made by the city board, in its entirety follows:

Whereas, the Carlisle Independent School District being desirous to merge with the Nicholas County School District for the purpose of forming a new Nicholas County School District, does by this proposal herewith and hereby merge as aforesaid but only in strict conformity with the provisions of the Kentucky Revised Statutes relating to such a merger, and in the light of certain decisions of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky as hereinafter set out.

This proposal is presented to the Nicholas County Board of Education for its consideration with the following provisions:

1. That the Carlisle Independent School District will insist on having its full Board of Education as members of the merged Board of Education which will function as the Nicholas County School District Board of Education.

The Carlisle Independent School District supports this contention as follows: KRS 160.040 "In case of a merger the members of the Boards of Education of the merged district may serve out the terms for which they were elected."

The Carlisle Independent School District is further advised that the most recent case to come to the Court of Appeals of the State of Kentucky is McGlone et al vs Burton et al 80 S. W. (2nd) 522 and it has the following to say concerning the rights and powers of the Board of Education of the merged schools:

"The quoted section of the statute (KRS 160.040) is couched in general, definite, unambiguous terms respecting the status of school trustees in the event of a merger with the county school system. Courts when called upon to construe a statute, will assume that the words and phrases employed therein were used in their usual and ordinarily accepted sense and meaning, and, in the absence of doubt and ambiguity, will uphold and enforce the statute as written." And continuing: "Since the statute unequivocally provides that, upon a merger as contemplated by it, the trustees of the graded school district shall serve as members of the county board of education without any conditions or limitations as to their duties or powers as such members, it is manifest and we are constrained to hold that if the merger of the districts was properly effected, the trustees of the various graded districts became members of the county board of education and were clothed with all authority conferred by law upon the members of such boards."

II. That the merged Board of Education of the Nicholas County School District will put the Carlisle Independent School District on the following basis:

(a) That the Carlisle Independent School District now owns, as hereinbefore stated, consolidate and merge with the Nicholas County School District effective May 31, 1948. The case in the Circuit Court of Pendleton County vs Pendleton County Board of Education, 42 S. W. (2nd) 885, provides as follows:

"That the trustees of the Butler Graded School District commenced to the County Board of Education its desire to enter into the public school system of the County with the understanding that the graded school board would be allowed to retain control of the school during the remainder of the year ending in June 30, and thereafter the control of the school should pass to the Pendleton County Board and a resolution to that effect was certified to the county board of education which county board, after setting forth in effect the contents of said resolution, stated that the application was accepted to take effect on the date indicated in the resolution. It was held that this action met the requirements of the statute calling for concurrent action of the Boards."

That in accordance with KRS 160.040 the district resulting from the merger shall take over all the assets and owned liabilities of the district joining in the merger.

(b) The Carlisle Board of Education wishes to co-operate for the advantage of the county high school pupils and if the County Board of Education desires to enroll any high school pupil in the Carlisle High School for the school year of 1947-48. These will be accepted at a tuition rate of $50.00 per pupil.

Delegations Request Street Improvement, Water Line Extension

Improvement of the city's streets, installation of additional street lights, and an extension of water lines was requested by two separate delegations appearing before the Carlisle city council at its monthly meeting Monday night.

A delegation of Buck and Mrs. Crackers street residents urged that steps be taken as soon as possible to provide adequate paving along these two streets, declaring that in its knowledge no "repairs had been made in the past 30 years". It also requested installation of additional street lights to aid to residents of the area. In addition to its verbal request, the delegation left with council a signed petition drawn up by residents of the aforementioned streets. The delegation included Mrs. Ed Wilson, Mrs. Early Lawson, Mrs. Frank Simons, and Mrs. Chandler Dinsmore.

Mayor W. C. Talbert told the delegation that the city hoped to resume its street improvement program, which has been delayed for the past five years due to shortage of materials, as quickly as it possibly could and that full consideration would be given the petition.

A delegation composed of Elmer Dampier, Tom McGinley, E. M. Watson and D. Lebeck filed a request with the city that water lines be extended to several residents residing along the upper Jackstown pike. The request was turned over to the water works committee by the mayor.

A suggestion that the city stand-by fire truck be sold failed for lack of support. Council was of the opinion that the truck could be converted for use on the street repair program and a bed could be constructed which would make the truck adaptable for hauling loaves next fall.

Dirt resulting from the excavation for the erection of the Assembly of God church was declared a nuisance to residents of Walnut street and council ordered that Chief of Police L. B. Barton instruct the dirt be removed and the lot affected be graded and sodded.

Property owners throughout the city were reminded of an ordinance which provides that they cut the weeds upon their property which have accumulated during the summer.

Board Re-Names Headquarters In Nicholas County High School

'Pomatoes' Reproduce

For the second year in succession Fluffy Bowles of the Myers community is producing "pomatoes".

"Pomatoes", for the enlightenment of other gardeners, is the production of tomatoes and potatoes upon a single vine. Proof of this feat was brought to the Carlisle Mercury office by G. B. Pruit, soil conservation agent, who declared the practices he advocates had nothing to do with the vegetable produced.

Pruit said he was advised by Bowles that the strange plant put in its appearance last year. Even a change of seed failed to stamp out a repeat performance by the freakish plant.

City Is Focal Point For State Candidates

Carlisle, during the past week, has been a focal point for Democratic candidates seeking the nomination to state offices in the forthcoming primary of August 2.

First to make a personal appearance upon the local scene was Earle C. Clements who arrived in the city last Thursday night to confer with local supporters in behalf of his candidacy for governor.

Dennis V. Snapp and Ed Pritchard, both of Paris, and both seeking the candidacy for state representative of the Nicholas-Bourbon district, next made informal visits.

Phil Ardery, Paris and Frankfort, appeared in the interest of Harry Lee Waterfield, spoke in Carlisle Saturday night and Waterfield made a follow-up visit Tuesday, speaking in his own behalf here.

Another visitor to Carlisle Tuesday, was Albert Wilson, Mt. Sterling, father of Holman R. Wilson, Louisville, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor. Mr. Wilson, who called in the interest of his son's candidacy, reminded Nicholas county residents that the candidate was a resident of Carlisle in 1910, 1911, and 1912.

Everett Tolle, Maysville, has been named manager of the Carlisle Cooperative succeeding Armstead Felan.

Authorization that two additional rooms be added to the Headquarters High school building to handle the influx of the county's students this fall and the name of the school changed to the Nicholas County High school was given by the Nicholas county Board of Education at its July meeting Saturday.

In addition, the board also authorized County Superintendent Raymond J. Wesley to request a transcript of credits of all Nicholas county pupils attending the Carlisle High school.

Meanwhile, the board indicated it would continue its building plans with its unanimous approval to execute the option on the W. E. Piper land to the western suburbs of the city, the site formerly used by the Civilian Conservation Corps.

The plot contains 17 acres, seven of which face State Highway 32 and 10 acres of which are located on the north side of the highway.

The purchase price will be determined by a survey, between $14,000 and $15,000, Wesley said.

Charles M. Cox appeared before the board and discussed the matter of merging the Nicholas county and the Carlisle independent school district.

In consideration of the interest of the citizens represented by Cox, the board voted unanimously to offer the following proposal for the immediate merging of the districts:

"That the city board Wednesday July 9 at their regular meeting, pass a motion to adopt a statement of policy for carrying out a merger program in Nicholas county as follows:

1—The general aim of our merger program shall be to base the school program of Nicholas county upon the needs of all persons of the county. We recognize that our human resources are of most importance.

2—The foundation of the entire school system is the elementary school; therefore we shall seek to improve and maintain a strong school program for the first eight grades.

3—Every child in Nicholas county is entitled to, and deserves an opportunity to attend a high school with the best rating possible within our financial resources. It is our responsibility to initiate and maintain a county-wide high school program, with at least a minimum rating of "A."

4—We are confronted with two problems that are vital. At the present time, all things are out of reason in price. We are also working with children whose very lives are continuing to go on in spite of high prices and unsettled conditions. These children are growing older and today is their day of educational opportunity. Therefore we hold ourselves responsible to give them the very best advantages we can, under sound financial management. We shall at all times keep ourselves advised by the financial authorities of our state and proceed with their advice and approval.

5—Due to our close geographical relationship, we feel morally bound to co-operate with the other school system of Nicholas county, for securing the very best educational advantages for all of the children within the bounds of Nicholas county provided such can be done with a united system. In pursuance of the above principle we have made proposals at two different board meetings, held solely for merging purposes, that the two systems become one system for the next school year.

The county board also authorized the employment of John Adams as assistant agricultural teacher to help handle the expanded program in agriculture. Adams, who holds a master of arts degree in agriculture will begin his work in the county on August 1.

Increase in the tuition rates from $25 to $46 for colored students attending the Carlisle Colored school also was authorized by the board.
