IS THE CATHOLIC CHURCH THE CHURCH OF THE IGNORANT?

Well, maybe. But note this only partial list of the many first-rate minds in the literary field alone, who in recent memory have come into the Catholic church in adult life with eyes wide open: Achmed Abdullah; "John Ayscough"; Maurice Baring; Aubrey Beardsley; Herbert C. F. Bell; Robert Hugh Benson; Katherine Brege.

Heywood Broun; Orestes Brownson; Peter Hardeman Burnett; Dom Bede Camm; Cecil Chesterton; G. K. Chesterton; Richard Washburn Child; Paul Claudel; John Wm. Cuypheare; Dr. Herbert F. Cory; F. Marion Crawford; Dorothy Day; Christopher Dawson; "Richard Dehan"; Selden Peabody Delany; Mary Angela Dickens; Enid Dinnis; Owen Francis Dudley; Pamela Frankau; Sir Philip Gibbs; Erie Gill; Dorothy Fremont Grant.

William Hard; Henry Harland; Joel Chandler Harris; Rose Hawthorne; Carlton J. H. Hayes; Ross Hoffman; Gerard Manley Hopkins; Christoper Hollis; Joris Karl Huysmans; Johannes Jorgensen; Vernon Cecil Johnson; Sheila Kaye-Smith; Frances Parkinson Keyes; Joyce Kilmer; Aline Kilmer; Frederick J. Kinsman; Ronald Knox; Shane Leslie; D. B. Wyndham Lewis; Theophilus Lewis; Robert H. Lord; Arnold Lunn.

Compton Mackenzie; Lucas Malet; C. C. Martindale; Jacques Maritain; Bruce Marshall; Francis Maurice; J. Lewis May; Theodore Maynard; Alice Meynell; Wilfrid Meynell; John Moody; J. B. Morton; Rosalind Murray; Cardinal Newman; Anne Nichols; Alfred Noyes; Henry Obreen; William Orchard; Coventry Patmore; C. Kegan Paul; John Howard Payne; Max. Pemberton; H. I. Phillips; Ruth Reed.

Daniel Sargent; Lady Eleanor Smith; Frank H. Spearman; Cyprian Stockley; Charles W. Stoddard; John L. Stoddard; "Guy Thorne"; Sigrid Undset; Aubrey deVere; "Artemus Ward"; E. J. Watkin; Evelyn Waugh; Michael Williams; Sir Bertram Windle; Cuthbert Wright; John C. H. Wu; Margaret Yeo and Clare Booth Luce.

Yet, the Catholic church is the Church of the ignorant—the church of the intelligentsia—the church for every man, no matter what his race, color, social status, or type of mind.

When you hear of the ignorant Catholic remember that the pages of history are replete with names in literature, science, art, statecraft, and learning of every description, of which the whole world is proud.

If it's anything Catholic, ask a Catholic!

Cane Ridge Meeting House

Mr. Hoven

The Rev. Ard Hoven, minister of the Chase Avenue Church of Christ (Christian) of Cincinnati, and minister of the national radio broadcast, The Christian's Hour will be in charge of a special service to be held at the Cane Ridge Meeting house near Paris at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, July 19.

Gene Hines, director of music at the Chase Avenue church will be in charge of the congregational singing. All residents of the area are invited to attend this service.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 13.

The Golden Text is "Let us keep to feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincereity and truth." (I Cor. 5:8)

Among the citations which the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it." (Matt. 26:26, 27)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual essence of blood is sacrifice. The efficacy of Jesus' spiritual offering is infinitely greater than can be expressed by our sense of human blood. The material blood of Jesus was no more efficacious to cleanse from sin when it was shed upon the 'accursed tree', than when it was flowing in his veins as he went daily about his Father's business. His true flesh and blood were his Life; and they truly eat his flesh and drink his blood, who partake of that divine Life." (P. 25)

Sanitation Needed For Raising Hogs

Following a strict sanitation program is necessary if one is to raise hogs extensively, is the opinion of Hoyt Chaney of Warren county. Chaney Bros. produce and sell from 1,300 to 1,500 head of hogs per year, according to Agent Ray C. Hopper.

Mr. Chaney pointed out three practices which he considers essential in hog production: a central farrowing house which can be heated when necessary, sloping floors in the farrowing house, and special attention to the litter when the pigs are very young. The importance of water was emphasized when Mr. Chaney said no one can carry on a good sanitation program without hauling water, or having it piped to the various temporary fields.

4-H Information Put To Good Use

Lelia Clarke, 16, of Bath county has found good use for the dishwashing, ironing and housekeeping information she learned in her 4-H club work. Enrolled in the labor service project, she helps her mother, who is employed, by caring for four younger brothers and sisters, preparing two with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Soper Sr.

We are sorry to hear of Mrs. Walter Shepherd's illness. Hope for her a speedy recovery.

Urge Care To Save Late Crops Of Hay

Because of the loss of much early hay, due to wet weather, dairymen at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture are urging special effort to save later hay crops.

The milk-producing value of hay, they say, depends on the kind of hay crop, stage of maturity when cut, weather conditions and methods of curing and storing.

Tests made in Ohio showed 25 percent more feeding value from red clover hay cut before any heads turned brown, compared with clover cut when most of the heads were brown.

Experiments at the U. S. Experiment Station at Beltsville, Md., indicated that the most feeding value is saved when hay is put in silos. Barn drying ranks between field curing and storing in the silo.

Alfalfa silage retained 7 percent more dry matter and 17 percent more protein than field-cured hay and produced 12½ percent more milk per ton of dry matter fed.

Much Water Called Unfit To Drink

A new circular of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics called "Septic Tanks for Dwellings," says the extent to which rural wells, cisterns and springs are contaminated is appalling.

Of 2,878 samples of water from these sources analyzed by the Public Service Laboratories at the Agricultural Experiment Station last year, more than half were unfit for drinking.

As a solution for this menace to health, the circular gives plans and specifications for building septic tank disposal systems. Copies of the circular may be had free at offices of county agents and home demonstration agents, or by writing to the college at Lexington.

The National Poultry Improvement Plan is operating in Kentucky under the supervision of the Kentucky Poultry Improvement Association, the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The plan has two main parts—breed improvement and the control of pullorum disease.

Swine production in Green county is said to be the lowest in many years.

Kentucky Cows Make Big Record

Two hundred and fifty-eight Kentucky dairy herds on test in May had an average production per cow of 731 pounds of milk and 30.7 pounds of butterfat. The herds contained 6,297 cows, including 763 dry cows.

Average feed cost of 100 pounds of milk was $1.09, and of a pound of fat, 27 cents.

Best production was in Shelby county, where 24 herds containing 484 cows produced an average of 1,021 pounds of milk and 39.9 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Small Flocks Pay

Herbert McGaha of Adair county made nearly $1 a day from a flock of 71 New Hampshires last month. They laid 1,325 eggs which sold for $47.26. Feed cost $17.95, leaving a profit of $29.31. Half of the eggs went to a hatchery.

Farmers and 4-H'ers in Pulaski county have entered 26 five-acre plots and 53 one-acre plots in the corn derby.

Ballard county girls who took part in contests at 4-H Club Week in Lexington were all blue ribbon winners.

4-H Berry Show

Seventeen 4-H boys and girls displayed 140 quarts of strawberries at a show sponsored by the Corbin Kiwanis Club. Dual Moberly won the first prize and his brother, Henry, the second prize. The top berries sold for $2 to $2.25 a quart at an auction after the show.

Following a lesson on lamb-shade-making in her homemakers club, Mrs. Robert Mosgrove of Russell county made 19 shades.

R. C. Moore of Boyd county sold his entire potato crop in the field for $3.00 a hundred pounds.

4-H Club Plans Lunches

Members of the Johnson 4-H Club, in an isolated section of Perry county, are seeing to it that they will have good school lunches next winter. With the aid of their parents, they are growing a three-fourths acre garden on property owned by the school. Last year, 300 quarts of vegetables were canned from their garden.

The club is also beautifying the school grounds.

Club members interested in hog production were given eight gilts in June, the club having brought four registered gilts last year.

War Veteran Clements Pledges Real Help For World War II Veterans

Congressman Clements

FORMER Buck Private Earle Clements has a first-hand knowledge of the war veteran's problems. In 1917, at the age of 20, he left the College of Agriculture at the University of Kentucky and enlisted in Company M, First Kentucky Infantry. He served 28 months, won the rank of captain and was honorably discharged.

Clements has no sympathy for those who shirked or avoided the service of their country, in whatever capacity it was needed, in any war.

Clements has no patience with the efforts of the present State Administration to extract from veterans state income tax, plus penalties, on their service pay. The last General Assembly passed a bill to exempt such pay from taxation, but it was vetoed.

In his own words, Clements' attitude is: "I imagine there are many who did not worry much about their income taxes while on the beachheads of Iwo Jima and Normandy. As Governor, I shall recommend and sign an act that will waive, rebate or give proper credit, for state income taxes on service pay."

Clements promises to the many young Democrats "qualified for leadership due to experience gained in war service": "They will receive the same preference in State jobs that is now given them in U. S. Civil Service employment."
