Ghostly Spinning Wheel Whirls No Longer

By Sag Kash

When the sun drops behind the rolling hills west of "Forest Retreat", former home of Thomas Metcalf, 10th Governor of Kentucky, drawing the cloak of night gently about Nicholas county's best cared for historical landmark, the ghost which once reputedly haunted the residence now is stilled.

This bit of local folklore, lying dormant in the memory of the writer for the past 32 years, was substantiated only recently by a former class mate who, likewise, had heard the story and named a former tenant of "Forest Retreat" as her source of information.

The fabrication concerns a mythical spinning wheel, whirring only in the deep of night, disturbing the rest of occupants. For it was only after nightfall that the whir of an unseen spinning wheel operated by a spiritual spinner began. As the treadle beat became faster and faster, louder and louder whirred the wheel as the spindles twisted the threads. It seemed the worker must complete the garment before sunup.

The occupants, however, were never able to catch the spinner in action. As a matter of fact, they could never locate the source of whirring wheel. Although the sound was purportedly said to come the loudest from the south side of the above stairs. That was the location given by Nicholas County's former tenant of "Forest Retreat", when it was property of the late Artis Wiggins.

Now the spinning wheel is silent. Whether the industrious person, or more correctly, some un-named occupant of the nether world, now is satisfied that they present owners of "Forest Retreat" and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ford restore this picturesque showplace of northeastern Kentucky, will, like the ghost, remain a matter of conjecture.

The property, prior to its purchase and restoration by Dr. and Mrs. Estile Asbury, of Cincinnati, in 1935, has been altered almost completely but surely toward decay, through a long period of tenant farmer occupancy.

Now all that has been changed. It 225 years old home, painted white, wooden stock fences enclose the rolling bluegrass pastures of the estate. Dr. Asbury has acquired a string of thoroughbreds for the estate. The home as been repainted and its restoration as a showplace of one of Kentuckys statesman has been carried out by the present occupants. The interior of the dwelling remains much the same as it was in the time it was occupied by the Metcalfs. Even the furnishings are of tastefully selected antiques. The massive mantels which once bordered the grounds fronting the highway has been carefully restored and another has been added around the lawn.

"Old Stone Hammer", by Thomas Metcalf was affectionately known because he supplemented the trade of a stone mason, acquired the property on which "Forest Retreat" was to be built in 1790. Almost five years before he married Nancy Mason. In that time, the stone masterpieces still stand here in the county, to say nothing of many others located in various sections of the Blue Grass

However, it was not until his satellite in the political world began to soar that he selected a site on "Forest Retreat". It is said that his little daughter, Rhoda, selected the site upon which the picturesque old house now stands. Henry (Little Harry) Clay, the Great Commoner, is credited with naming the estate.

There is no doubt that the once colorful statesmen who made their journies to the nation's capital over the Old Stagecoach road, a part of which is now identified as U. S. Highway 68, were many times the guests of "Old Stone Hammer." Here they enjoyed a quiet, restful night beneath the brick-pointed cornices of the home. Here Nancy Mason Metcalf quietly but graciously showered the guests with real southern hospitality.

Thomas Metcalf lost "Forest Retreat" in 1850 through financial reverses. He died in 1855 at the old inn which nestled in the valley beneath "Forest Retreat", a victim of the dread cholera plague of that period.

The old inn, converted into a residence, is now owned by Hinton Caswell and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wasson.

After "Old Stone Hammer's" death, the property changed hands many, many times, until finally under a long period of tenant occupancy, it reached its lowest ebb.

FOREST RETREAT'S ghost, who no longer disturbs occupants, purportedly toiled in the second floor bedroom, the windows of which are shown between the two chimneys. This view was taken from the south side of the residence.

Note the arched doorways over the doorways.

The body of Lloyd J. George of the first Nicholas county soldier to give his life in the second World War II, will be returned to his native soil and will be buried with full military honors in the plot reserved for this purpose adjacent to the World War memorial in the Carlisle cemetery, it was announced here today.

The eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. George, Myers, Ky., Private George was killed in action in January, 1943, during the invasion of Northwest Africa. Since that date his body has been interred in the Tebessa cemetery in Algiers.

Mrs. George said that she had received notification on Friday from the War Department concerning the removal of her son's body and that the papers requesting its transfer from Africa to Nicholas county were filled out and mailed to Washington last Saturday.

Nicholas County High Assured Class A Rating, Wesley Declares

Nicholas County High school, which was formerly identified as Headquarters High school, has been assured a class A rating when classes convene in early September, Raymond J. Wesley, county school superintendent, today announced.

Under the new program, discussed with the state supervisor at the annual meeting of the National Educational association in Cincinnati last week by the superintendent and John C. Pirtle, principal of the school, was ample reason for the new rating, Wesley said. Heretofore the only factor which has barred Headquarters from a maximum rating was the number of pupils enrolled rather than a program of instruction.

In addition to a broader program for the Nicholas County High school, the veteran training program, which is a vital part of the training activities in Nicholas county, will be expanded to provide training for 50 or 60 additional veterans.

A new school bus, which was recently purchased by the Nicholas County Board of Education will arrive Friday. The new bus seats 48 passengers and is equipped with all the latest fixtures, including all safety first aid kits, booster brakes, and all other safety and emergency devices required by the safety code for the State of Kentucky. The new bus, Wesley said, will be an asset in providing better transportation for the new program.

A transcript of credits of all county pupils has been requested from the Carlisle High school so that all county pupils may be registered for the proper subjects at the opening of the forthcoming school term.

Plans adopted by the county board for an extension of facilities at Headquarters are being completed as quickly as possible, Wesley said.

Sheehan Faces Charge Following Altercation

Owen Sheehan, 72, of the Hickory Ridge vicinity, will face a preliminary hearing at 10 a. m., Tuesday before County Judge Walter Shepherd on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon as a result of an altercation which occurred Tuesday morning at the Farmers Stockyard here.

Involved in the altercation, Chief of Police L. B. Barton said, were John Sundy, 56, and his son, David Sundy, of the Hickory Ridge vicinity. Barton said he was told that the altercation resulted from an argument over a line fence.

All three men were injured in the scuffle. The two Sundys were treated at the Memorial hospital where three stitches were required to close head wounds for both men.

Following the altercation Sheehan was arrested on a warrant signed by David Sundy. Bond in the amount of $1,000 was posted by Sheehan pending his trial.

Eugene Ross Clinkenbeard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clinkenbeard, received word last week from the Federal Communications Commission that he had been granted his commercial radio operator's license.

Clinkenbeard, who was a radio operator in the U. S. Navy, at present is enrolled in a radio technician's training school at Cincinnati.

Carlisle County's Cost Of Living Is Up 184 Per Cent, Survey Shows

By Billy Woodall

The estimated cost of living for the average Nicholas county family, consisting of four persons, has increased over the past seven years 184 per cent. This fact was substantiated in an article appearing in The Carlisle Mercury of March 7, 1940. The article follows:

"Prices of staple articles of food are cheaper than at any time since 1934, according to an estimate made this week.

"The executive of a chain system at Louisville estimated the food cost for the average family for a week is $8.78 as compared with $8.80 in 1934, the lowest since that year. Only butter and eggs have not reached the low level, although eggs have dropped about ten cents a dozen in the past two or three weeks.

"Only the price of green vegetables from Florida are higher. One grocer told The Mercury that the price of green bean was almost prohibitive, wholesalers asking $1 a pound, he said. At this time last year green beans were retailing at 19 cents a pound. The freeze in Florida and the floods in California have almost ruined the green vegetables.

"At the beginning of the European war in September, prices of meat, lard, sugar, flour, and other staples rose rapidly for a time but soon settled to a normal."

In 1940 the retail price on some of the staples were: Apples, 60 cents a bushel; coffee, three pounds for 50 cents; sugar cured jowl bacon, 10 cents a pound; navy beans, $2.90 a hundred—buyers are now paying $18.00 a hundred now; pure hog lard, $3.40 for a 50-pound can; bananas, four pounds for 25 cents; mountain sorghum, 79 cents a gallon.

Compare the aforementioned quotations with prices today. Apples are $6 a bushel; in 1940 they were 89 cents. There is an increase of 574 per cent or almost six times more than in 1940. Bananas four cent five cents a package in 1940; now it is 11 cents a package. This is an increase of 120 per cent during the past seven years. Comparing other articles along this line, the following increases in prices are found: Coffee 173 per cent; flour 135 per cent; navy beans 361 per cent; hog lard 200 per cent; salad dressing 130 per cent; canned corn 50 per cent; peanut butter 156 per cent; matches 78 per cent; mountain sorghum 264 per cent.

In meat products bologna has increased 200 per cent, pork 230 per cent, and chuck roast 121 per cent. Springer chickens are up 133 per cent and eggs have increased 52 per cent. Butter fat is up 77 per cent.

On the local market in 1940 hogs were selling at $5.40 a hundredweight. Today hogs are selling at $25 a hundredweight. This is an increase of 360 per cent over the past seven years. Sheep were selling at $4.50 in 1940. Today sheep are selling at $23.70. This is an increase of 426 per cent. Tobacco, a cash crop, tobacco, has increased 154 per cent since pre-war days. And don't butchers at Christmas, 1940, the price of steers has increased 117 per cent during the same period.

Total deposits in Nicholas county banks, as computed from the call sheet, were $1,113,150.38 in 1940; in 1947 they were $4,293,594.57. This is an estimated increase of 285 per cent during the past seven years.

Farm mortgaging up the average increase: in the price of staple foods for 1940 per cent, in the price of hogs, sheep, and tobacco 313 per cent and the increase in the amount of money deposited in local banks 285 per cent.
