$5,350 In Prizes Offered In Farm Improvement Contest

One hundred and sixty-one Kentucky and Southern Indiana farmers and farm wives are going to win $5,350 in the 1947 Home and Farm Improvement Campaign of The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and Radio Station WHAS.

Newly re-organized to pay more cash prizes to a greater number of farm families, the contest was announced this week by Dean Thomas P. Cooper, director of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, Miss Myrtle Weldon, the University's State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents, and Barry Bingham, president of the newspapers and the radio station. Cash prizes are greater this year by $350. Seventy persons won awards in 1946.

No longer is an over-all record of farm or home improvement needed to win a prize. The contest for men has been divided into two parts. Thirty district prizes of $25 and a Kentuckiana award of $100 will be given to the farmer showing the best record of improvement in crop production. Similar awards will go to the farmer having the best record for livestock production. Those who have the best over-all programs can compete for grand prizes of $300, $150 and $100.

The women's home improvement contest has been separated into three departments. The women having the best records for home improvement and management will win thirty district prizes of $25 and a $100 Kentuckiana award. Like prizes will go to farm wives having the best records in home food production and conservation. The same prizes are offered for women doing the best job in home sewing and clothing conservation. Those combining these departments into an over-all program can compete for grand prizes of $300, $150 and $100.

Every farm family in Kentucky and in 21 counties of Southern Indiana is eligible to compete. There are no costs of any kind. Judging will take place in November. Tenant farmers are judged on an equal basis with big land owners. Winners of grand prizes and Kentuckiana awards with all-expense trips with their families to the annual Farm Awards Luncheon of the newspapers and the radio station in Louisville next December.

Information booklets containing rules, prizes and stories of 1946 winners are available. These and contest questionnaires may be obtained by writing the Home and Farm Improvement Campaign, in care of The Courier-Journal, The Louisville Times and Radio Station WHAS, Louisville, 2, Ky. Information also may be obtained from this county's Home Demonstration Agent and County Agricultural Agent.

News For The Veteran

Kentucky Vets Using G. I. Bill

One out of every three World War II veterans in Kentucky has applied for education or job-training under benefits administered by the Veterans Administration. Peak enrollment has not been reached, because more than 50,000 approved applicants in Kentucky have not yet entered education or training and 180,000 state veterans still may apply if they so desire. Of March 1, a total of 88,979 of the state's Bill (Public Law 346) or the Vocational Rehabilitation Act for Disabled Veterans (Public Law 16).

Under the G. I. Bill, education or job-training may be started up to four years after the official end of the war or the date of discharge, whichever is later. Disabled veterans eligible for education or training under Public Law 16 face no specific application deadline, but they must complete their training within nine years after the end of the war.

Lump Sum Payments

Veterans with NSLI policies who wish to have their beneficiary paid off in a lump sum must so inform the VA. The insured is the only one who can select this option. If a veteran does not indicate to the VA that he wants the "Lump sum" option, the beneficiary will be paid under one of the monthly plans available. The Contact Representative who visits Carlisle every Wednesday will be glad to assist any veteran in preparing a letter to the VA requesting this option.

Facts And Figures

The 80th Congress now in session has 202 veterans among the House of Representatives and 45 veterans in the Senate.

William Arthur, VA Regional Insurance Officer, reported that 3,329 Kentucky veterans of World War II have reinstated $24,954,000 in G. I. Insurance since February 3.
