Public Sale

Beautiful Building Sites
SATURDAY, MAY 3
At 1:30 P. M.

We will sell the following vacant lots on the premises, starting in Liberty Heights, two certain lots or parcels of ground, lying just East of the City of Carlisle and being lots number 5 and 6 in block "D" as shown on the plat or plan of Liberty Heights of record in deed book 34, page 69 of the Nicholas county court clerks office. These are two beautiful building sites and are located near the home of the late Dr. Hopkins.

Immediately following this sale we will sell one vacant lot on School avenue. This lot has a 65 ft. front, runs back 90 ft. and will make an ideal location as it is close in and near the school building. The first two lots are the property of Mrs. Clarine Mohney and the second lot is the property of Straughter O'Neal.

With the shortage of homes in Carlisle and no vacant lots on the market, this will make some one a good investment. Any one desiring to look over these lots will be shown by the selling agents.

TERMS—Reasonable and will be made known on day of sale.

Mystery Still Surrounds 'Flash' Flood Disappearance Of Sugar Creek Man

Clements Sets Out Plans For Schools

In endorsing the program for education in Kentucky recently adopted by the Kentucky Education Association, Congressman Earle C. Clements, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, today said that he will ask the General Assembly in 1948 to adopt a deficiency appropriation to assist schools.

"If Governor S. S. Willis does not call a special session," Congressman Clements said, "I will see to it that the money is appropriated for education in the fiscal year that begins July 1, 1947, and ends June 30, 1948, in the other way.

"As a candidate I could not subject to the strength of any appeal that the spokesmen for the schools and others interested in education already have made to her a special session.

"The present situation is critical and tragic because so many counties do not have the money with which to pay teachers. In September the condition will be even more deplorable unless there is some assurance that the state can aid, in the coming school year, to the funds that already are being provided by counties that are raising their own tax rates under the new limit for land taxes. Only a deficiency appropriation by the General Assembly will meet the crisis of the coming fiscal year. If a special session is not called, added state funds only can come through a deficiency appropriation.

"The Kentucky Education Association has made a thorough and thoughtful study of all the state's educational problems.

I endorse the objectives of the KEA program. As Governor I shall consult with school heads in the teaching profession and possessions in urging the adoption of a will cooperate with members of the Legislature to obtain its enactment."

The matter of teachers salaries, however, is the most immediate problem. It is a taxpayer's problem. It is a parent's problem. It involves the teachers and the profession of teaching. It is a matter that no longer attracts competent men and women the State will be paying for this in higher taxes and less efficient teaching for many years to come. Unless there is a deficiency appropriation the teaching personnel, which the state so vitally needs will be further depleted in September."

Rat Campaign Is Terminated

Approximately 900 pounds of rat bait were applied in the city of Carlisle and on about seventy farms during the campaign which was held on May 1, 2 and 3. The Boy Scout Troop of Carlisle performed a worthwhile public service in distributing the rat bait in the city area. The committee, E. M. Smith, Paul Garrett, Ralph Shearer and Boyd Hamilton made valuable assistance in supervising the scout groups. Walter Wyrick, and Orville Greene also assisted with the program.

In distributing the rat bait to farmers, several individuals reported extensive damage by rats. Fryman Bros., of Blue Licks said that rats destroyed 300 bushels of corn for them during the past winter. Although damage was somewhat less on most farms, this pest is a source of much destruction.

The rat campaign in Carlisle was sponsored by merchants. Funds for the purchase of bait was solicited by the following committee: Mrs. Walter Wyrick, chairman; Mrs. Frank Hardesty, Mrs. Boyd Hamilton and Mrs. A. B. Crouch. The first rat campaign in Carlisle was sponsored by the Nicholas County Homemakers' Association and the Utopia Club. Mrs. R. E. Harlow was chairman of the Homemakers' Association and Mrs. Ben Harmey, Jr. is president of the Utopia Club.

Sale Of Ratliff Buildings Slated

The Deposit Bank of Carlisle, executor of the estate of the late C. C. Ratliff, announced this week hat the two buildings on Main street now occupied by the C. C. Cole company and Lerman's department store would be sold at public auction at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 24. In addition to the two buildings, 34 shares of capital stock in the Deposit Bank will be offered to the highest bidder.

Sheriff Anderson Believes No Foul Play Is Involved

Belief of County Sheriff John Anderson that the body of Allie Clyde Laughlin, 42, of this county will eventually be found when swollen waters of Licking river have further subsided, was voiced by the officer Wednesday as the search for the missing man was carried to the vicinity of Claysville in Robertson county.

Attaching little importance to several reports of foul play in the incident, the sheriff stated that it was his unbidden opinion that Laughlin was swept into the river in a sudden "flash" flood which occurred on Wednesday night.

As storm was raised Thursday after it was reported that Laughlin, last seen in the company of Mrs. Ben Maffett and Maddrous Selby, was missing along with his automobile in which he and the companions had been riding. Officers said that Maffett and Selby told of that they had left Laughlin in the automobile when the car had stuck in the sandbars near the junction of Sugar Creek and the Licking river, and that when they returned the car was driven into the of the rain-swept stream had carried away both automobile and occupant.

Following the alarm an unsuccessful search by the state has been going on to recover Laughlin's body. Dragnet and the use of a mine-detector have failed to be of assistance in locating the car or the man. Anderson said he placed no credence in rumors of foul play but that his office was checking carefully the stories of those involved in the occurrance.

Widespread and varied rumors concerning the disappearance of Allie Laughlin, and his automobile have accompanied the search. Most of them having little or no foundation in fact. One rumor to the effect that Laughlin had a considerable amount of money on his person at the time of his disappearance could not be substantiated by the fact, as ascertained by the Mercury this week, that Laughlin early on the afternoon of the flood cashed a check for $10 at the Gulf filling station of Truie Mackey at Blue Licks.

Hon. Oliver Curry, who with her husband operates another filling station at the mouth of Sugar Creek in the vicinity of Sugar Creek on the Licking river, stated that Ben Maffett, Thaddeus Selby, William Crosver Selby and another companion had made some purchases in her store on the night of the flood and about 8:5 p. m. had left, presumably on their way home.

According to information available in the neighborhood, the two Maffett brothers and Selby had accompany Laughlin, Maffett and Thaddeus Selby into the Sugar Creek section where the latter was residing nearest the scene of the disappearance and stated that they had observed the Ford. with its three occupants, turn off the main road and proceed toward the scene of the accident every shortly before the outbreak of the "flash" flood. They stated that after the downpour subsided for minutes later, it would have been impossible for the automobile to have returned up the roadway which runs along the Sugar Creek bottom.

Bearing out the belief that Laughlin was drowned, officers pointed out that a can of coffee purchased by the men earlier that day and believed to have been in the car, was found about one mile downstream from the mouth of Sugar Creek. Several fresh cuts in the bark of trees growing in the Sugar Creek channel nearby, in mouth, indicate the possibility that the automobile had been swept forward by the surging waters.

Yesterday, the search for evidence of either the man or the automobile, or both, was carried downstream in the Claysville, in Robertson county. Two motorboats, belonging to Walter Hollar and Roger Sampson, traveled down opposite sides of the river while three occupants in each craft searched every possibility for clues concerning the whereabouts of the missing man.

The Westfall Realty Company reports the following sale:

A house on North street of Mrs. Phillip Sugg, to Ben Workman of Fayette county.

Leaving Carlisle

REV. RALPH THOMAS

The Rev. Ralph Thomas, minister of the Carlisle Christian church for the past two years, submitted his resignation at the meeting of the official board Sunday morning, effective July 1.

The Rev Mr. Thomas, who came to Carlisle from Sturgis, announced that he had accepted a call to the Flemingsburg Christian church where he will succeed the Rev. T. H. Alderson, who resigned.

Many friends made by the Rev. Thomas during his residence in this city regret his decision to leave Carlisle and expressions of best wishes for him and his family are general. The Rev. Thomas since coming to Carlisle has been active in civic life club work. He is a member of the Carlisle Rotary club.

Junior Red Cross Chairman Expresses Appreciation

Miss Ernestine Eades, chairman of the Nicholas county Red Cross, Junior Red Cross, this week expressed her appreciation to the school principals, teachers and teachers of the county for the part they have played in furthering the development of the local chapter. Her letters, concerning activities of the chapter, follow:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the teachers and parents, the boys and girls of the Nicholas county schools for making a success this year the Nicholas county chapter of the Junior Red Cross a success.

Maybe there are those who do not realize the great machinery of the American Junior Red Cross, which starts with the school child with students of many ages enrolled in the American Junior Red Cross. This program has been developed in response to the interests of young people and in response to evidences of human need in this country and around the world. This organization not only is a means for young people to become aware of needs they can meet at home and abroad but gives them a voice in making decisions on matters of social importance, extend aid in personal crises and cooperate with other community groups.

This year this county made a good contribution when the campaign was made. Just the past week the students, with their teacher-sponsors filled forty-eight gift boxes.

These boxes are shipped to Czechoslovakia, Australia, Finland, Holland, Greece, The Netherlands, Belgium, Norway, Korea, China and the Philippines.

The gift boxes are distributed through Red Cross channels and are designed to give education in countries overseas to children in schools, hospitals and other institutions.

There is an educational value in filling these boxes. Teachers may use this interest to promote a better understanding of the countries we have to be friendly with. Geography, history, art and other classes can be made more real through this program.

Voting Is Spirited In School Election

Jimmy Emmert, FF. Clark and Cleave Fightmaster, incumbent members of the city school board, were re-elected as board members in an election here Saturday brought out an exceptionally large vote. Mrs. Geneva Allison, who received 116 votes, failed of election, in the race in which there were four candidates and in which three members were selected.

Henry Palmer received the most votes with 347 registered beside his name; Mr. Clark received the second highest number with 319, while Mr. Fightmaster, with 274, was lowest in the tallying, except for Mrs. Allison.

Mrs. Allison was unable to campaign aggressively during the closing days of the race because of having been under quarantine, her daughter having been ill with scarlet fever for three weeks.

The balloting brought forth a larger vote than is usual in school elections and a great many Nemores participated in the voting. Hauling of voters to the polls, not usual in school elections, was practised from the early hours.

Three write-in candidates received one vote each. They were Sella Carnahan, Frank Simons and Charles Cox.

P. T. A. Meeting

The Carlisle Parent-Teacher Association will hold its last meeting of the year at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, May 14. All members are urged to be present.

Business Places Closed Wednesdays

Most Carlisle business places and offices were closed here Wednesday afternoon in their first observance of the mid-week half holiday which will be continued throughout the summer months.

Board Awards Contract For Designing New High School

Lexington Architect To Draw Plans For Larger Institution

Huch Meriwether, Lexington architect, Saturday was awarded contracts by the Nicholas County Board of Education, to prepare plans, for a Nicholas county high school with facilities ample to accommodate all county students of high school age. It was dividsed Monday by County Superintendent Raymond J. Wesley.

The firm of architects was also given a contract for the planning of a new graded school at Moorefield, to replace the structure recently destroyed by fire.

The Meriwether firm, Mr. Wesley stated, will advise with the board at an early date concerning the selection of a suitable site for the county high school, and plans for such a structure will be completed in the near future.

Nicholas county at the present time does not maintain a high school for all county students in high school age, and Mr. Wesley explained that a survey now nearing completion by county officials dicates that enrollment in high school in the county would be greatly increased if a county high school large enough to accommodate all the pupils in the county were maintained.

Preliminary plans for the Moorefield structure call for six classrooms and an auditorium, the superintendent said, and the new school plant according to present plans will have a central heating system and space in its basement for a cafeteria.

The architects were scheduled to make a survey of the Moorefield site this week and to present plans for the approval of the board within three to four weeks. The building will be designed for maximum utility and attractiveness as a public building, it was reported, and final approval of all plans for the new structure should be completed in time to begin construction by July 1 this year.

4-H Club Rally Day Event Here Friday Attracts 300

Ribbons Awarded Winners In Events

Approximately 200 4-H club members, parents and friends were in Carlisle Friday and Friday night to attend the annual Nicholas county 4-H Club Rally Day demonstration.

High points in the day's program were a girls' clothing judging contest held Friday morning and a demonstration team competition held during the afternoon. Phyllis Cook, Headquarters delegate, received first prize as county winner in the clothing judging event and was selected to represent the county in a state contest to be held in Bowling Green. She was also the winner in a similar event held at the Carlisle high school Friday night.

The competition among 4-H club demonstration teams, the East Union girls' team, composed of Kathleen Crawford and Betty Booth, was selected as county winner for their demonstration of "Making and the Use of Dry Suds." The Paris boys' team composed of Harold Honaker and Dorsey Watkins Jr., was winner among the boys' groups for their demonstration of "Controlling the Mexican Bean Beetle."

The rally day was held under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Straw, county 4-H club county home demonstration agent, William T. Straw, county agent, and E. S. Elsmer, assistant county agent.

Judges for the day's events were Miss Dorothy Gentry and G. J. McKinney, 4-H club field agents from the University of Kentucky.

Miss Gentry was called to order Friday morning by Billy Hilltock, president, following which the Rev. Ira McMillan gave the invocation. Club members led by the leader of the 4-H Club pledge and a group led by Hekia Grimes sang the 4-H club flowing song.

In addition to the county winners, ribbons were awarded in the clothing judging contest as follows: blue ribbons—Polly Wagoner, Parks; Jane Anderson, Annville; Loretta Fryman, Ellisville; Betsy Brady, Headquarters; Jeanne Gates, Headquarters. Red ribbons—Roberta Booth, East Union; Dolores Gaunce, East Union; Ann Fryman, Headquarters. White ribbons—Annie Dell Tincher, Myers; Jewell Wagoner, Parks; Nellie Terrell, East Union.

Ribbons were awarded demonstration teams as follows: Blue ribbons—Parks girls, "Helpful Guides in Buying Women's Factory Made Dresses," Jane Hughes, Rose Ballard, East Union boys, "War Against Flies With DDT." Lawrence Newell, Parks; Hazel East Union girls, "Making and the Use of Dry Suds," Nettie Terrell, Roberta Booth. Parks boys, "Controlling the Mexican Bean Beetle," Harold Honaker, Dorsey Watkins, Jr., Moorefield girls, "Preparing Strawberries for the Locker," Phyllis Ruddell, Dottie Shaw.
