Awful Rheumatic Pain Left Man's Body In 8 Hours

"For years I had rheumatic pains in the muscles of my shoulders, legs and ankles, which finally got so stiff, sore and painful that when I walked I would flinch with agony. I got THU-AID and started taking it, and the rheumatic pains began leaving my body in eight hours. Now the pains are gone from my muscles...entirely. I feel like some other person, and I praise THU-AID to the sky." This is a genuine testimonial from a man living right here in this vicinity.

THU-AID is the new liquid formula containing three valuable medical ingredients. These Three Great Medicines, all blended into one, go right to the very cause of rheumatic and neuritic aches and pains. Misery-making poisons get different aid when you don't go by kidneys alone. Many War Workers Have Not Returned

Many persons who left their home communities for war work have not returned, according to a survey which the University of Kentucky Experiment Station made in Scott county.

"A relatively small proportion of the people who left Magisterial District No. 2 in Scott county for civilian war work have returned," said the report. "A considerable higher proportion of those when went into the armed services have returned, though perhaps only temporarily.

"Of the 140 people who had left, 51 percent were veterans and 49 percent were nonveterans. Probably between 40 to 50 percent of the people who went into the armed services have returned, home compared to about 20 to 30 percent of the civilian migrants. Apparently civilians have established themselves in new jobs and new locations during the war, are staying on during the postwar period of high employment.

"On the other hand, men in the armed services, in Scott county, established in permanent positions, apparently are going back to their home districts when discharged. If the present high production of industry continues at a fairly high level is that many of these returning veterans will be drawn away from the farms.

"Most of the 140 returning persons came back alone, but among the 18 families contained in obtaining a total of 67 people. A little more than 72 percent of those over 15 years of age had come back from other parts of the country, 12 percent had been during the war, in other parts of Scott county, 12 percent had been in other Kentucky counties, 11 percent had been elsewhere in the United States. This is unlike the situation in the Mountains, where most of those who returned came from the industrial states of the Mid-west.

"Of the returned people, 78 percent were men, and most of them are young—81 percent were less than 45, and 58 percent were less than 30.

"Fifty-seven percent of the 72 veterans who returned are now working on farms. Nine own their farms, 14 are tenants, four are farm laborers, and 14 work as unpaid workers on their families' farms. Twenty-three are engaged in nonfarm occupations. Forty-six percent of the veterans are married and 54 percent are still unmarried."

Many a man who pays rent all his life owns his own home; and many a family has successfully saved for a home only to find itself at last with nothing but a house.—Bruce Barton

Says Fescue Will Help Save Grain

Kentucky 31 fescue will do its part in Kentucky's grain-saving program, says Manager B. W. Fortenberry of the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association.

"Now is the time for farmers fully to utilize their valuable pasture plant," he continues. "No other pasture plant can play a more important role in the grain saving program in proportion to the acreage being produced than this new so-called wonder grass. Hundreds, and perhaps thousands, of Kentucky farmers have from small plots to large acreages of this grass which will furnish pasture during the coming months.

"Farmers who are getting the most value in pasture from Kentucky 31 Fescue are keeping it grazed closely. If this is done it seems that it is palatable to all kinds of livestock the year-round. Dont be afraid to abuse old stands of fescue grazing. It can take it. Crops that were seeded during August and had plenty of moisture to give the plants a good start can be grazed this winter, when the root system is well established. Many such crops will furnish considerable grazing from December to April 1 and still make seed next year, if a seed crop is needed."

This Saves The Day

The decision of the Court of Appeals that the $500 limit does not apply to officers and teachers of the University of Kentucky will prevent disaster in higher education in Kentucky.

There were supposed to have been ten of twelve, at least, resignations pending upon whether the salary limitation would be lifted.

The people of Kentucky are entitled to the best, in service and in leadership. No one wishes to see raids made upon the public treasury. No one wishes to see high prices paid for most of the regular offices of government.

But generations would have suffered had Kentucky been unable to keep up her educational standards. Congratulations to the Court of Appeals, the state of Kentuc-

Save Feed
The best way farmers can help save feed is to SAVE FEED, NOT by selling their stock, NOT by underfeeding, but by avoiding waste of feed. Follow these feed-saving practices:
1. Feed animals to lighter market weights.
2. Cull low producers, feed remaining ones better.
3. Balance farm grains with protein supplements, and essential minerals and vitamins to help make better use of feed.
4. Reduce animal losses. A pullet that dies in December represents a loss of 40 lbs. of feed.
5. Control parasites (lice, worms, etc.) that sap an animal's vitality and interfere with efficient feed use.
6. Get rid of rats, worst of all feed wasters. (Try Anturat).
Dr. Hess products can help you save feed and we especially recommend these three:
HOG SPECIAL—at Dr. Hess Research Farm, shoats getting HOG SPECIAL finished earlier on 1-3 less supplement and 1-10 less grain.
PAN-A-MIN—pullets at the Research Farm make better use of feed and lay more eggs; as many as 23 more per bird per year.
STOCK TONIC—cows at the Research Farm handle rough feed better and give 25 lbs. more milk for each 100 lbs. of grain.
