A Suggestion To Our Farmers

It is obvious that there will be a very short corn crop this year. Prospects are very good in Nicholas and adjoining counties, but it is a well-known fact that we will not have half enough for our feeding requirements. To track it in, if we can get it, for the next 12 to 18 months we are mostly in a tight and quality.

Our Suggestion Is This:

For farmers who can sow a few acres of barley this fall. This should be ready for harvest in early June, just when the feed situation will become acute. We have seen barley yields as high as 70 bushels per acre, but even at half this rate it would furnish a lot of good feed, just about equal in value to corn and is good for all livestock.

Sow Approved Seed

We would advise sowing, as early as possible, Kentucky No. 1 barley seed, since it is hardier and produces a higher yield than the common varieties. And please understand that this is not a seed selling campaign. From a definite standpoint, some feeds make more sense than others, but it is only through a spirit of co-operation and for the general good, that we offer this suggestion.
