WE CAN give him a really tough job-even tougher than washing an elephant with a toothbrush. It's convincing y that your electric rates are lower, despite the fact that your monthly electric bills are as high-or higher -than they've ever been. The problem is this: So few of you seem to realize how much electricity you use each month. (Like a man in a restaurant, we're all interested in the right hand side of the menu.) Your bill probably indicates you're paying as much or more today than you paid 10 years ago. (At least that's one break-everything else you buy is higher.) Actually, though, today if you're an average home customer, your dollar buys twice as much electricity as it did just 10 or 12 years ago.

you added in the last 10 or 12 years?
