CARD OF THANKS

I take this method of thanking friends, relatives, neighbors and hospital nurses for every act of kindness, every word of sympathy, and every floral tribute sent to the deceased, singers and ministers for the services they rendered in such a sympathetic way since we are deeply suffering from the terrible tragedy that came into our home on the morning of April 2, 1950. We cherish everything that was done in our behalf and are tendered feeling of gratitude which will remain within our hearts as long as we live. May God's richest blessings reward each one. Mother and Sister of R. D. McKee. 4-13-1t*

U. K. BUDGET SLASHED

Trustees of the University of Kentucky last week approved a budget of $9,000,000 for the Division of Colleges instructional program for the year 1950-51 and the Agricultural Extension Service. The budget for the Division of Colleges is $343,045 less than the amount allotted for the current fiscal year. The decrease being made necessary by the loss of veteran enrollment and the consequent slash in Veterans Administration appropriations. Budget cuts generally were made in the amount of money appropriated for teaching materials, laboratory equipment, and books for the library.

Experts Assert Egg Production Inherited

High egg production is inherited as two poultry experts at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, declare. Dr. Paul Bereman and Dr. Ralph Bressler say that "Breeders can't make hens lay eggs. They can only select hens that are inherited to lay many eggs." New equipment is needed to produce eggs, they added. "But management of hens is the most important factor in egg production," they said. "Hens can be overfed and underfed. Proper management of hens will increase egg production."

Farmers Claim Grass Pays

Marshall county farmers are realizing that grass, rather than corn can be produced profitably, according to Howard Hughes, Duffen Schooler reported that he is getting more net return from pastures than from land put to corn each year. Hafler Morgan, another farmer, stated that he fed hay to his herd of beef cattle only one week during the winter, and that was when ice covered the ground. The rest of the time, the herd grazed on fescue and Ladino clover.

The 1949 tobacco crop in Marshall county sold for an estimated $700,000.

33 Scholarships To Agriculture College

The University of Kentucky announces that 33 scholarships are available to boys and girls who would enter the College of Agriculture and Home Economics as freshmen next fall.

Twenty-three in agriculture and 10 in home economics, they range from $150 to $500. Donors are the Houston Endowment, Kroger Company and Sears Roebuck Foundation.

Interested boys and girls should write Prof. L. J. Horlacher, assistant dean, College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, Lexington.

Homemakers Study Better Management

Hundreds of Kentucky homemakers have made their dusts work easier the past year because of improved kitchens, planned storage space, better laundry equipment or arrangement, use of electricity and better housekeeping methods, reports About 24,372 farm families adopted one or more suggestions as given in leadership training meetings conducted by Miss Ida Hagman and Miss Lucy Lewis.

Improved kitchens numbered 4,605, and included rearrangement of equipment, remodeling, providing work, test and planning convenient and labor saving ideas and improving the appearance of the room.

More than interest homemakers said they had done other things which they proposed - housekeeping practices such as the use of a big dish pan for cleaning, making several articles, making plans or work and other ways to carry out task jobs.

Leadership classes were organized in 2,229 farm homes through purchase of equipment and conservation arrangement.

Tour thousand six hundred and forty-nine farm mothers were assisted with selection or use of electric lights or equipment.

Typical of the increased interest on consumer homes is Hart county, where 60 of 90 rural basement meetings said they had running water in their kitchen. During the past four months, they remodeled 11 kitchens, rearranged equipment and added labor saving devices. New equipment included 75 pieces. New equipment included 75 pieces.
