Flying Classroom

Lord Mayor's Show, Guildhall—London. All our travel will be by air and we will meet each day with such world figures as Pope Pius XII, Prime Minister Attlee of England, Premier Pleven of France, Winston Churchill, Charles De Gaulle and many others.

But what is perhaps more important we will talk with the common people. We will walk the street, labor leaders, school teachers, agricultural officials and many others. We'll have an opportunity to observe first hand how the various countries work with our own America. And as this series of articles I hope I can tell you some of the things that I am seeing and hearing and with this my personal opinions of life outside my land.

Behind this project is the hope that through such studies there will come about a better understanding of the peoples of other countries, better international relationships and a greater appreciation of our American Way of Life. Perhaps the most hoped for goal is "Peace." In the minds of the men who engineered this project the best way to accomplish that great thing "flying classrooms" might shuttle back and forth across the Atlantic Ocean carrying thousands of Europe and bringing European leaders over here to study the democratic principles that have made living and points of view.

Great things have been planned for us. For example, just before I left Versailles I received a letter from the president of the Paris, France, Rotary Club. I couldn't translate it all but I gathered that the Rotarians there were planning a special celebration for us. I believe we'll have a chance to talk with and take with us many things that we learn. Of course, I hope so and I can't wait to get started. But I'll tell you about it all in my letters.

Sincerely yours,
Allen Hopkins

Motor Bike Laws Change July 31

After July 31, 1950, it will be illegal for any one under 16 years of age to operate a motor bike or motor scooter in Kentucky. This was pointed out by Paul Boyd, supervisor of Operators License Section, Department of Revenue in calling attention to changes in Kentucky's motor vehicle license laws made by the 1950 session of the Legislature.

The former provision for a special license to operate motor bikes and scooters by those under 16 years of age has been repealed by the new law. No one may obtain a regular operators license, good for operation of any motor vehicle.

Another major change in the operators license law was the elimination of the free extension privilege for licenses of military personnel. This was repealed by the 1950 Legislature when the emergency was declared ended as far as the Commonwealth of Kentucky is concerned.

Bass, Quail Stock Distribution Delayed

The bass and quail stock for distribution in Kentucky fields and ponds has been delayed, like everything else, by the lateness of spring weather, the state Game and Fish announced today.

This announcement was made to inform those who are to receive the chicks and fry to be patient and stand by for deliveries.

Usually at this time of the year the quail at the Game Farm are laying fluently but so far this year the first egg has not been received, the Dowson says. The more than 2,000 pairs of quail have been penned for some time and a little expected next week, the Dowson claims, and since it takes 22 to 23 days for the eggs to hatch no

Former Native Makes Travel Talk At Lex. Woman's Club

Mrs. Joe Ong and her husband, Mr. Ong, were guest speakers at a recent meeting of the Lexington Woman's Club and illustrated their travel talk with colorful pictures of the Hwaiian Islands.

In Mrs. Ong's introductory remarks, she stated that she was "plucked from a blackberry bush near Blue Lick Springs." After the entertainment was concluded two former Carlisle women, Mrs. M. R. Burton and Mrs. William Donnell, made her acquaintance, and soon found that she was the former Martha McClure, daughter of the late Dorsey McClure and Anna Rogers Mc-Clure and a grand daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Samuel Rogers of High street and a niece of the late Mrs. C. U. Bramblett.

In the comments from Lexington pupils of their unusually interesting program, it stated that Mrs. Ong had related many interesting facts about the Hawaiian islands, several times and their program was in two parts; first showing pictures of Honolulu and Mrs. Ong executed gracefully a number of hula dances. Mrs. Ong, a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, has a fine background of dramatic training and radio experience, and is the narrator of her husband's pictures. He is a graduate of Purdue University, is a consulting transportation engineer, and his work enables them to indulge in two favorite hobbies —travel and photography.

The notice stated their entertainment was one of the most delightful of the season and they have done a wonderful job of capturing the spirit and beauty of the land, the flowers, the rainbows on the mulls, as well as the friendliness of the natives, in their films.

Bee-Keepers Must Register Colonies

Commissioner of Agriculture, Harry F. Walters, has called attention to the fact that recent legislation has provided for statewide bee inspection for the prevention and elimination of bee diseases. The bee-keeping industry is suffering severe losses through disease, this resulting in more loss to farmers than through lack of pollination of various farm crops. This menace soon has become so serious that the bee-keepers themselves have asked through their State Bee-keepers Association, that an inspection service be rendered by the State Department of Agriculture.

The present statutes call for registration of all bee colonies in Kentucky by the Department of Agriculture. The scale of fees is $1.00 colonies, 50c for 1-10 colonies, $1.00 for 51-200 colonies, $2.00 for 201-400 colonies and $3.00 for more than 400 colonies.

Remember, this legislation is for the benefit of bee-keepers and farmers, the registration fees to gether with other funds available to be used in the best interests of bee-keepers. Blanks for registration may be obtained from the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture at Frankfort, your County Agent, District Beekeepers Association or the Kentucky State Beekeepers Association, Box 43, Lousiville. Cooperation of all beekeepers is asked by the Commissioner.

Excellent ratings were received by the following Nicholas counians:

Jimmie Judge in the beef cattle farming achievement contest, Marion Burden—sheep and Williams Letcher—hay. The hay project placed second in the district. The Chapter music entry by Paul Brady, Phill Billock, Hargis Fryman and Edward Small also placed excellent.

The Nicholas county F. F. A. entered a scrap book this year for the first time. It placed fair along with Chapter Meeting Contest and Chapter Secretary's book. Fair ratings were secured by William Letcher in public speaking, Paul Brady in individual music, Marion Burden in the corn farming achievement contest and Billy Mattox in farm shop.

This made a total of 14 contests in which Nicholas county secured recognition. Plans are now being made to attend the State F. F. A. convention in Louisville, June 6, 7 and 8.

Mayor W. C. Talbert received this week a letter from James Yunker, chief gas engineer, of the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, who has prepared a detailed estimate of a gas system which could be installed by the city. Total cost including engineering would be $77,600.

A table showing an estimated number of consumers which could be expected to be obtained in five years, the amount of gas consumed, revenue from gas sales, cost of operating and retirement of revenue bonds from profits are detailed and will be found on page four of this issue. Mr. Yunker's letter is reprepduced in the following paragraphs.

Louisville, Ky.
April 21, 1950

Hon. W. C. Talbert, Mayor,
Carlisle, Ky.

Dear Mr. Talbert:

As per our conversation, I am setting out below the various aspects of a municipal gas system for your town, where an adequate and enduring gas supply can be obtained with only one mile of transmission line and a small amount of the service can certainly be obtained by the third or fourth year of operation, is economically sound and can easily be financed by an issue of revenue bonds.

Secondly, with the price at which you have been offered gas wholesale by the Central Kentucky Gas Company (something less than 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet) you can afford to sell gas for one-half the cost of bottled gas and one-fourth the price charged for electricity for the same installed heat units. Also, you can sell gas for space heating purposes at a price that will be less than the cost of the equivalent coal. In many towns people buy gas at twice the price of coal because of the many advantages it is use. We have made a preliminary layout at a gas distribution system for Carlisle and estimate that an adequate system can be installed at a total cost (including engineering) of $77,600.

Finally, we estimate that an $80,000 issue of 4% revenue bonds could easily be retired from the profits of the system in 10 years.

We attach a sheet showing our estimate of the number of consumers which could be obtained by years, amount of gas that would be used, revenue from gas sales, cost of operating the system and payroll on a bond issue.

We will be glad to furnish any additional data you require.

Respectfully,
James Yunker
Gas Engineer
