Here Abouts - - - - - with Emily Asbury

Guess most every body is familiar with the now traditional th Christmas eve. If you used them on your cards and packages this year the following story of how they came into being should interest you, even though you're probably through licking for another 365 days.

It seems that a rather poor lady walked into the office of a large Philadelphia newspaper some years ago. She explained to the rather busy editor that in her particular family there was a case of tuberculosis and she had an idea that might help others with the disease.

The editor listened to her plan to print a few th stamps, the proceeds of which would go towards finding a means of wiping out the terrible sickness, but, told her that he didn't believe in reminding the public of the dreaded disease at Christmas time, supposedly a time for rejoicing.

The lady wasn't to be discouraged, however, and so she went to a small print shop and executed the printer to make her a small batch of stamps, for which he was paid mostly in thanks and a very little cash.

One day at a newsstand in the city of Brotherly Love, where the seals appeared on sale for one cent each, a dirty little stress urchin came up with a penny clutched tightly in a grimy hand. He pointed to the seals with the penny and said:

"Gimme one of them, please, my sister's got it."

The story has a happy ending, as all such stories should during this season of giving and sharing because it just so happened that the same busy editor to whom our lady determined and courageous lady had first taken her idea was at this same newsstand and overheard the little boy asking for "one of them seals." He located our lady of faith told her what he'd seen that afternoon.

"Madam, he said, let's have that story again. I'm convinced yours is a great and wonderful idea." And so it was.

Aren't you glad you bought those seals last week?

—I—A—

Things on the hill behind the Piper home are really mushrooming these days. The new Nicholas County High school, to be completed some time next year, in taking on all the aspects of the modern educational institute that the original plans called for.

I understand that should the two high schools ever consolidate, there would be adequate facilities for the upper four grades of each school.

One of the many fine features of the new building is the installation of 220 metal lockers to be used by students for books, wraps, etc.

And for the sportsminded individuals, the gym will be the most modernly equipped in the State. The seating capacity will be even greater than originally intended. Yea blue!

Every now and then, this boss will love that statement) Sag (Curley) Kash knocks out a pretty fair yarn. Since this is still the holiday season and there's still some fruit cake left in the box by the same name, I'd like to pass along to you all his very golden thoughts on Christmas: (You bent over backwards on this one, sir.)

Santa Claus

c/o Dear Hearts & Gentle People Everywhere

Dear Santa Claus,

We would like for this to be the best Christmas ever for all mankind. But we'll have to overlook the mercenary things upon which most of us have gazed too long and too covetously.

Right here you will probably say:

"Hmm, that leaves us a mighty narrow field in which to work, doesn't it?"

No sir, the boundaries are still immeasurable as eternity itself but if you'll permit us the time we'll make our requests as brief as we can:

Please bring the glow of a girl, wearing her first formal, to the faces of those now furrowed with frowns....Give the blind a vision of the sun turning the ocean's

Bowl Game Thrill Of A Lifetime—Clark

You can take the word of serious-minded Emery Clark that all the hard work and extra energy put out in connection with training for one of the nation's biggest bowl extravaganzas adds up to just one thing—the biggest thrill a football player's likely.

That's how our Carlisle, junior on University of Kentucky's bowl-bound football team feels about the chance of a lifetime he'll be getting New Year's Day in New Orleans when the Wildcats meet Oklahoma's national championship Sooners in the Sugar Bowl.

"I know that everyone on the team feels its an honor to play on a winning outfit and to be selected for a post-season test in one of the top bowls in the country," he declared. "It's a fine feeling and enough reward in itself just to win, but an invitation to play in a place like the Sugar Bowl is just about the biggest thrill the game offers—unless it would be winning the bowl game."

Clark plays left halfback for the Kentucky grid squad of Coach Paul Bryant which this season dropped only a 7-0 upset decision to Tennessee in 11 starts against major opposition.

The Blue Grass team, which displayed its wares last season in the Orange Bowl at Miami, trained at Mobile, Ala., to escape the snow and unfavorable weather prevailing on the home grounds in Lexington. The 41-man squad was dismissed for a three-day Christmas holiday and then re-assembled at another training camp in Baton Rouge, La. Preparations will continue there until the New Year's Day Sugar Bowl battle with Oklahoma. After the game, the Kentucky players will be given a three or four day vacation in the Mardi Gras city.

Kentucky Polio Chapter Receives Check From National Unit

A check for $10,600 from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has been received by the Kentucky Chapter of the National Foundation for use in the treatment of the state's polio patients.

The announcement was made today by Neil Dalton, chairman of the Kentucky Chapter.

The check is the third received from the National Foundation this year, increasing the total advanced to the Kentucky Chapter in 1950 to $82,600.

Heavy polio incidence this year in Kentucky made the advance to the chapter necessary, Mr. Dalton stated. The National Foundation has advanced $7,848,150.60 this year to chapters whose funds have been depleted by new and carry-over cases.

The Kentucky chapter is at present providing funds for the care of 368 patients stricken this year and is continuing to pay for the care of 473 cases stricken in past years.

Roger Babson's Business And Financial Outlook For Coming Year

UN Will Withdraw From Korea During 1951; United States Will Have Largest National Income Of Its History, Roger Babson States

American business has no more inspiring personality than Roger W. Babson, internationally-known business commentator and investment adviser. An outstanding feature of his philosophy has been his life-long insistence on the importance of religion in business.

Born in 1875, reared in an old-fashioned atmosphere of hard work and hustle on a farm in Gloucester, Mr. Babson went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Upon graduating in 1898, he turned instinctively to financial and business activities.

Mr. Babson's forecast for 1951 follows:

By Roger W. Babson

1) Excluding defense orders, the total business volume in 1951 will be less than that of 1950. However, National Income in 1951 will be the highest ever recorded, as war orders take the place of peace production and high prices prevail.

More Government Controls

2) The outstanding feature of 1951 will be the ever-increasing interference of the government in the lives of businessmen and consumers.

3) The Administration and its economic advisers are firmly convinced that radical inflation is a bout to break out next year. But the old "brain trusters" are overlooking the fact that the boom is already old and that it was creaking badly when the Korean War broke out. War postponed the downturn which would have taken place much sooner. The date of the slide has only moved ahead.

4) Rushing to catch up on its neglected defense program, the Administration is anxious to shrink business volume to an unnecessary degree. Efforts at first will be along the line of tighter credit curbs, such as restrictions on mortgage and installment loans and increased bank reserve requirements.

5) As 1951 wears on, the effect of credit controls, will cause a decline in legitimate business. Civilian production will decline more than armament production will increase. The public may then cry, "This is a government-made slump; let's get rid of the controls!"

6) If in 1951 it becomes evident that business is declining too fast as a result of government curbs, the planners at Washington may rush their point into an oxygen tent.

Labor Outlook Will Continue Tight

7) Most labor groups will not be successful in getting a sixth round of wage increases in 1951. Although there may be more strikes in the first part of 1951, there will be fewer for the whole year as compared with 1950.

8) Tightness in labor supply will be continued as the year wears on, particularly of highly-skilled workers.

9) The Taft-Hartley Law will not be repealed during 1951 but may be amended. The Administrators of the law will continue to work at some of its clauses.

Commodity Prices Will Remain Firm

10) Wholesale prices of many commodities will be marked by a mild decline in 1951 when compared with the price level for December 31, 1950. In some lines the drop may be quite steep from the high levels of the late 1950. Retail prices for 1951, I do not now forecast.

11) The year 1951 should prove an excellent time to keep a tight grip on inventories. Commodity speculation for the rise will not pay in 1951. Furthermore, our expanding stockpiles of strategic materials present a real price threat in the event of a peace scare. Such stockpiles could then act strongly as a depressant on prices.

12) The cost of living will remain high during 1951. This prediction recognizes that living costs next year may be above the lower levels that existed during the first half of the year now closing.

Farm Outlook Good

13) Farmers' income for 1951 should average no less than that for 1950. Since the trend in the first half of 1950 was down, this forecast is not so optimistic as it might otherwise seem, for there is likely to be a weakening of the farmers' income position during the latter part of 1951.

14) Barring crop failures, the total supply of food available should be larger in 1951 than for 1950, since the government will raise planting quotas as part of its attack on inflation. If the weather is extremely favorable, the government will be blamed for farm-price weakness during the latter part of 1951.

15) With prospects good for a rising supply of feed grains, meat should be more plentiful next year than in 1950. Prices for meat, however, will be held up by continued high National Income and by military needs.

Taxes Will Be Higher

16) The burden of federal taxes, both corporate and personal, will be increased again in 1951. State and municipal taxes will remain high.

17) There will be an excess profits tax in 1951. These excess profits taxes will be milder than those in force during World War II, but they will be inflationary and retard efficiency, economy and incentive.

18) There will be heavy pressure for increased federal "sales taxes" to discourage purchasing of luxury and certain nonessential goods. Congress will see the value of some such sales taxes as an inflation road block.

19) States and municipalities will again be under pressure to find adequate sources of revenue. Further increases in such taxes can be looked for next year with additional cities and/or states adopting sales taxes.

20) Despite renewed efforts to increase the long-term capital gains tax above the present 25% figure, rates will remain unchanged.

Domestic Trade Will Be Low

21) Credit curbs will cut into the demand for automobiles and household equipment. Completions of fewer dwellings will also act as a damper on furniture sales.

22) Failing demand for hard goods should mean a stabilization of the public's spending for food and lower-priced soft goods.

23) The trend forecast in No. 22 will mean a decline in department store volume, but I predict a rise in sales of variety chains and of drug chains.

Foreign Trade Outlook Fair

24) Barring new war developments, I look for continued shrinkage in our exports during 1951. Imports, however, should rise further. Total foreign trade should not be much changed, but the exporters will be on the short end of this business while the importers gaining.

25) It will become more difficult to convince Congress that additional heavy credits should be granted abroad except for war supplies.

26) As was the case this year, many domestic manufacturers will feel increasing competition from foreign merchandise. The cry for increased tariff protection will be heard again in the land.

27) Business and financial forecasts for next year are NOT based on the thought that World War III will start in 1951. Russia is certainly heading for war, but we do not believe she wants it in Europe. She will be satisfied to have her satellites continue taking unexpected jabs at us, while the Politburo boys hand out the soothing syrup. But we may see another episode like "Korea" in 1951.

More Deficit Financing After June 30, 1951

28) The first half of 1951 may actually see a budget surplus as

Yule Decoration Winners Announced

The annual awards for the best Christmas decorations were presented to the following persons by the Rotary and Woman's clubs of Carlisle:

Best resident exterior—1) Keller Hughes; 2) Raymond Wesley.

Best resident interior—1) Dr. Stanley Hutchings; 2) Raymond Wesley.

Best window display by local merchant—1) Holbrook's; 2) Hopkins Drug Company.

Cash prizes of $3 and $2 were awarded in each of the divisions.

Income Tax Man Here Jan. 15-16

Collector of Internal Revenue, S. R. Glenn, announces that a deputy from his office will visit Carlisle on January 15-16 for the purpose of assisting farmers in preparing their January 31 declaration or final income tax returns.

Also taxpayers whose income under the law is not classified as income from farming and was not subject to withholding, and taxpayers who would be required to file amended declaration returns or would be privileged to file returns by January 16.

The service is absolutely free and Collector Glenn urges the taxpayers of Nicholas county to see the deputy and let him help them with their income tax problems.

More Deer Seen In Bourbon County

Bourbon county may soon become inhabitated by a good sized deer population, for two more of the animals were reported recently grazing on the farm of George Brannock on the Ruddles Mills road.

The animals appeared to be young and seemed to be very content in their surroundings.

Previously a deer believed to be a bit older was seen in the Ruddles Mills road sector, jumping fences in a very nimble fashion.

Community Tree Celebration Draws Throng; 700 Kids Get Candy, Fruit

Bryant Is Named Leading Citizen Of Commonwealth

University of Kentucky Football Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant has been named by the Kentucky Press Association as the state's "Outstanding Citizen of 1950."

Announcement of Bryant's selection was made Saturday night by Joe LaGore, managing editor of the Pulaski Sun-Democrat and president of the K.P.A.

The personable young mentor, whose Wildcat gridders meet the powerful Oklahoma Sooners in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, was chosen by a committee of Kentucky newsmen in recognition of "outstanding service to teh Commonwealth" during the past year.

Factors leading to Bryant's selection were the nationwide publicity his top ranking team brought to the state as a whole, and his consistent emphasis upon development of character among, not only his own athletes, but the entire youth of the Commonwealth.

On January 26 at the K.P.A.'s annual mid-winter banquet in Louisville, the Wildcat chieftain will be presented an engraved silver pitcher and a citation proclaiming him Kentucky's outstanding citizen of the year.

Previous winners of the award were Vice President Alben W. Barkley, 1948, and former U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, 1949.

Cantata Planned

At a meeting Monday of the Carlisle Ministerial Association, Rev. J. G. Carr, president, named Rev. E. V. Carrier to head the proposed "Cantata" to be held here in the near future. Rev. Carrier and his committee will meet to make plans for the coming event.

At the same time, a Hi-Y program for local schools was discussed.

Merchants Award Valuable Prizes

More than 700 bags filled with candy and apples and 115 baskets of assorted fruits and candy were distributed here Saturday afternoon at the renewal of the Community Christmas tree by the community service committee of the Lloyd George Post 8666, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

One of the largest Christmas shopping crowds ever to assemble in Carlisle was on hand to greet Santa Claus who passed out the three-pound bags of candy to children from a truck that was parked in the court house yard.

"In fact", said Bill Power, chairman of the committee, "there were so many people that we ran out of bags, but, we'd to take care of everybody."

A spontaneous posture, not prescheduled, was the donation of toys by Paul Garrett, manager of the local Lerman store, to families with children whose Christmas might otherwise have been incomplete. The Presbyterian church also gave baskets of fruit to the crowd.

Prize Winners

A special feature of the Community Tree celebration was the presentation of prizes by Carlisle merchants at a drawing of names following the distribution of baskets.

Winning names and prizes won include: Guyrene Curtis, set of tree lights from Duncan's Electrical Shop; Mrs. H. C. Davis, basket of groceries from the Mercury; Evalyn Bailey, free lunch and two pints of ice cream from Williams' Restaurant; Jack Tincher, baseball glove from The Western Auto Store; Grace Ritchie, photograph album from the Carlisle Drug; Mrs. Calvin Minton, mattress from Footsack's; Sally Fisher, electric clock from Holbrook's.

Bill Marshall, basket of apples from Neal's Grocery; Mrs. Ruth Anderson, deluxe basket of fruit and groceries from Coatney Bros.; Willie Colmire, nylon hose from Abraham's; Joyce Ritchie, bag of flour from Ben Alexander's grocery; Mrs. K. D. McCollum, man's nylon shirt from the New Kirklands; R. T. Brayfield, $2 certificate redeemable at The Little House; Grace Ritchie, basket of groceries from Stamm's Cash Store.
