Then Do Something

If you wanted to buy a pair of shoes, the obvious place to buy them would be a store that sold shoes, or if your radio needed repairing, the best place to take it would be a radio repair shop. It would be a little silly to try and buy meat in a dry goods store. And yet it's done, more or less, right here in Carlisle.

Here's what we mean—Hardly a day goes by that you don't hear a worthwhile suggestion advocated wherever a group assembles, be it over a cup of coffee in one of the local restaurants or maybe by persons killing time along the streets. The conversation might go like this:

"Why isn't Carlisle zoned for more efficient answering of fire calls?"

Clem—Well, if I was doing it, I'd etc., etc., etc.

Always there are gripes and suggestions, some without foundation, but others with possibilities, that concern the welfare of our town.

The place where they should get action on your ideas will take root is in the City building the first Monday night in every month at which time the City Council meets to discuss measures beneficiary to Carlisle.

This is a democratic country where freedom of speech prevails, thank goodness! Exercise that privilege by attending these per monthly council meetings, instead of sitting at home and griping to your better half.

They say "freedom is everybody's job." Make it yours.

81st Meet A Success

The 81st annual mid-winter meeting of the Kentucky Press Association went over with a bang last weekend in Louisville.

Representatives of most all of Kentucky's newspapers were on hand for the lively sessions, the hottest of which turned out to be a fiery discussion on lottery laws.

Perhaps most enjoyable of the meetings held was the one given Saturday morning by the Courier-Journal players—Cass Gregg, B. M. Atkinson, Joe Creason, Doug Cornett and Earl Ruby.

It was brought to the attention of those present that the newspaper is still the greatest medium of advertising, backed up by the fact that 53 million copies are sold each day in America.

J. Earle Bell gave a snappy resume on how the Union County Advocate functions each week—one of many loveable talks at the month-looked-forward-to meet.

Use The Newspaper

(Irvington Herald)

Not so long ago a circular was sent out to store managers by a large chain which operates retail stores all over the United States. We were interested, naturally, in the subject matter discussed with the store managers and believe our readers will be, too, and so we print it, in part, below:

"(1) Do you want to be certain of reader interest? Then use the newspapers. Many a circular receives only a glance, while the local newspaper, with hundreds of general news items, is read thoroughly from first to last page.

"(2) Do you want representation in the same 'shopping window' the other merchants of your town use? Then use the local newspaper. Women, the purchasing agents of the home, read newspaper advertising daily, whereas many a circular is tossed into the waste basket without a glance.

"(3) Do you want fast action. Then use the newspaper. The ad that you run today, if it contains real merchandise news, will bring immediate results tomorrow, providing you back up that advertisement with good merchandising on your own part—tie-in show window displays and good sales approach.

"(4) Do you want to be recognized as a factor of importance in your community—a real hometown store? If you do, use the newspaper —it undoubtedly is a strong factor in the building of good will and support by the whole town or your store as a good place to trade."

Quotes from other Quarters

Is This Progress?—During that gawky stage in a youth's life when his hands dangle out of his coat sleeves too far, he is embarrassed and never quite knows what to do with them. Then after he gets a little older and makes up his own mind he knows how to handle his hands, he tries to put pats his face slapped—I. Earle Bell, in Union County Advocate.

Some editors of local newspapers make a pretty fair living. Some just make ends meet. Few ever get rich. But most all of them have a deep sense of responsibility to the community. —Kentucky Electric Coop News.

Socialism By The Back Door

Will this country gradually adopt socialized medicine by the back door?

Current [illegible] developments give that question pertinence. A strongest kind of pressure has been exerted on behalf of the compulsory health insurance bill. However, so much public opposition has developed that its sponsors think other tactics may prove more fruitful for the time being.

As an example the Senate has passed and the House may soon vote on a bill which has received relatively little attention, authorizing Federal grants-in-aid to medical schools. Under the terms of it, the Surgeon General would decide what schools were to get the money, and on what amounts. He would work with a council, but its functions would be advisory only. All the real power of action and decision would be vested in him. The medical schools would have to come to him in the acceptable for funds.

If the government pays the bill—in this or any other matter—the government is eventually going to give the orders. That is inevitable. Such a measure, innocuous as it may seem to some, would be a perfect starting point for legislation which would subject our medical schools to political administration in all phases of their activities.

Still another measure which has passed the Senate and is now in the House would make the government responsible for the physical and mental health of all school children between five and 17. That may have an appealing sound—but can anyone doubt that it would become a plank in the home of socialized medicine?

The point is that socialism usually comes to nations on a peaceful basis. These bills indicate the plan to be used in this country.

JEST AMONG US...

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

It's a little late in the sports year to be talking football, but I thought you might be interested to see that U. of K. President H. L. Donovan wasn't asleep at the switch when he signed Bowl game contracts with Santa Clara.

Happy Chandler was in the box with Donovan at the game and I thought that during the famous football interviewing period Happy might help. Well, when the first ball ended with Kentucky ahead, Happy said, "It's a good thing we got ours on the run now. Coming on an opponent sports authority that made me feel good. But Santa Clara had some expert help on its side, too. Their coach gave them a pep talk and he must have only had a pocket dictionary to work from. The only thing I suspected between halves was that they did not do so well after that. If we ever play another bowl game against an Irish school, I'm going to take Bishop Mullen along with us so he can speak Latin with them. They might have!"

The Orange Bowl is a huge place with tier on tier of seats rising steeply skyward. Accordingly, D. Donovan, a prominent Kentuckian who is being shown to his seat by one of the Kentucky-Santa Clara party, and followed the usher up and up and up. At last the usher stopped and pointed to a spot a dozen or so rows higher in the stands. "That's your seat up there, Mister," he puffed. "I can't go any higher. My nose bleeds."

This seems to have turned into a sports column so I may as well admit that I'm getting some facts about Kentucky's basketball teams.

This is Baton Adolph Rupp's 20th year at U. K. . . . In the 19 preceding seasons his teams won 364 games, lost 72, for a percentage of .829 . . . During the last six years, the Wildcats won 171 and lost only 16 . . . Since basketball competition started at U. K. in 1958, the Cats have racked up 581 games while losing 220 . . . And the record also includes an unsurpassable 23-21 tie with the Wesleyan in 1917-18.

Where We Came In

Lesson for February 5, 1950

A CIRCULAR LETTER came in the other day from a stranger who is hot and bothered because he has discovered that Jews and Negroes can belong to Christian churches along with white Americans. The astonishing thing is not that that should be true, but that anybody ever got excited over it. What astonished Apostle Paul was not that Jews were in the Christian church, but that anybody else could be. We must recall that Jesus was a Jew; that the apostles were Jews; that the first Christian Church in Jerusalem was composed exclusively of Jews.

Dr. Foreman

New Type

IT THE CHURCH AT ANTIOCH, one of the most commercial cities of the Roman world, was where the name "Christian" first arose. It is indebted to his former teacher, Barnabas, for bringing Paul to the town in which that church was founded. Barnabas was a Jew, but he was a Christian.

They had no Old Testament. There were parts of the Old Testament sacrifices, they had suffered in the Temple as the history of Israel. Like most Gentiles, they had wealth thought of the Jew as a quaint but unimportant minority group. Now that these Gentiles were in the synagogue with the Jews, there would be plenty of room for trouble.

Could a church made up of such heterogeneous elements ever be brotherhood? So the old mother church at Jerusalem sent Barnabas to Antioch to see. Barnabas was a good man. He was not narrow. He was not afraid of the Greeks. He was not afraid of the Gentiles. He was not afraid of the Jews. He was not afraid of the Romans. He was not afraid of the Christians. He was not afraid of the Pagans. He was not afraid of the Heathen. He was not afraid of the Infidels. He was not afraid of the Atheists. He was not afraid of the Agnostics. He was not afraid of the Skeptics. He was not afraid of the Doubters. He was not afraid of the Unbelievers. He was not afraid of the Sinners. He was not afraid of the Saints. He was not afraid of the Publicans. He was not afraid of the Harlots. He was not afraid of the Thieves. He was not afraid of the Murderers. He was not afraid of the Liars. He was not afraid of the Cheats. He was not afraid of the Drunkards. He was not afraid of the Gluttons. He was not afraid of the Adulterers. He was not afraid of the Fornicators. He was not afraid of the Idolaters. He was not afraid of the Blasphemers. He was not afraid of the Heretics. He was not afraid of the Schismatics. He was not afraid of the Apostates. He was not afraid of the Backsliders. He was not afraid of the Reprobates. He was not afraid of the Castaways. He was not afraid of the Lost. He was not afraid of the Damned. He was not afraid of the Hell-bound. He was not afraid of the Devil. He was not afraid of the Antichrist. He was not afraid of the Beast. He was not afraid of the False Prophet. He was not afraid of the Dragon. He was not afraid of the Whore of Babylon. He was not afraid of the Mark of the Beast. He was not afraid of the Number of the Beast. He was not afraid of the Lake of Fire. He was not afraid of the Second Death. He was not afraid of the Wrath of God. He was not afraid of the Wrath of the Lamb. He was not afraid of the Great Tribulation. He was not afraid of the Great White Throne. He was not afraid of the Judgment. He was not afraid of the Resurrection. He was not afraid of the Rapture. He was not afraid of the Second Coming. He was not afraid of the First Coming. He was not afraid of the Virgin Birth. He was not afraid of the Blood. He was not afraid of the Cross. He was not afraid of the Tomb. He was not afraid of the Empty Tomb. He was not afraid of the Ascension. He was not afraid of the Throne. He was not afraid of the Right Hand of God. He was not afraid of the Intercession. He was not afraid of the Mediation. He was not afraid of the Propitiation. He was not afraid of the Atonement. He was not afraid of the Reconciliation. He was not afraid of the Redemption. He was not afraid of the Salvation. He was not afraid of the Sanctification. He was not afraid of the Justification. He was not afraid of the Glorification. He was not afraid of the Eternal Life. He was not afraid of the Kingdom. He was not afraid of the Church. He was not afraid of the Bible. He was not afraid of the Word. He was not afraid of the Gospel.

New Center

FOR THE FIRST TIME Jerusalem was the capital of the Christian world. All roads led to Jerusalem. So to speak. With the rise of the Christian church Antioch was a new center from the plane of the old Jerusalem, although in fact for times Alexandria led, and then other cities.

For a thousand years Rome and Constantinople were the acknowledged centers of the Christian world. Now we have also London, New York—forever. . . . Many such centers have small beginnings. In America's early days the churches of scattered sects sent missionary money for the help of the struggling little church at New York.

In future years, who knows? Some church in Vietnam may send missionaries to the frolic folk left by the war-devastated ex-white world.

New Name

ANTIOCH is no longer a city of any importance. Mesopotamia gets to it, not from it. But old Antioch left us something still cherished, a new name for believers: Christian. That name itself proves something.

It proves that the church in Antioch was something more than an aggregation of "churchmen." It was a family of Christ-born and Christ-women. These believers must have talked and thought something better than mere vague "religion." They talked of Christ, they loved Christ and they lived Christ, till even their busy neighbors took notice.

If your church had no name, and if your neighbors were to name it, and all the neighbors knew about it were you, by what name would they call it?

UK Brings $15,000,000 To Lexington Annually

More than $15,000,000 is circulated in Lexington annually as a result of the University of Kentucky, Dean L. K. Pettingill, director of the bureau of business research and service, declared last week in an address before the Lexington Kiwanis club. Conservative estimates place the number of visitors to the city at more than 500,000 annually, spend for living accommodations, entertainment and other purposes approximately $500 per person, Pettingill reminded the club. Summer sessions at the university bring the total number of students to 5,000, Pettingill said.

UK Property Value

Current value of University of Kentucky property, according to L. K. Pettingill, is listed at $20,000,000. But in addition $10,750,000 has been spent for equipment, and $6,000,000 for land.

Ever Ask Yourself . .

WHAT'S A BARGAIN?

. . . It's good values for your money in terms of every day living, that you seek. Good clothes for the family, furniture for the home, are hardly items you would expect to choose wisely under any system of pressure buying.

. . . Yet something comparable enters the picture when you take time out to go afield in search of bargains. When time is limited, the opportunity to pick and choose is limited. When dealing with strangers, are you sure complaints will be made good? When paying for merchandise bought out of town, do you add in what it cost you to travel?

. . . The best bargains every day in the week will be found right here at home in stores managed by neighbors you have known for long, who depend for their livelihood on serving you well; in stores right here at home stocked with the best goods our country produces, displayed conveniently for you to choose from at your leisure.
