Homemaking Educational Program Explained

By Kay Fisher

This is the first of a series of articles on homemaking to be published in this paper over a period of three weeks. The total homemaking program will be explained so the purposes of homemaking education in the schools will be better understood. These articles will be divided into seven phases: (I) Foods (II) Child Care and Training (III) Management of Time, Energy and Money (IV) Personal and Family Relationships (V) Health and Home Care of the Sick (VI) Housing (VII) Clothing.

I. Foods—A. Foods for the High School Girl.
1. Principles for preparing breakfast, lunch, and dinner.
2. Rules for setting table.
3. Rules for waiting on tables.
4. Table manners.
B. Foods for the Family.
1. Minerals.
2. Vitamins.
3. Basic seven.
C. Foods for Special Occasions.
1. Lunch.
2. Buffet.
3. Dinner.
D. Food Preservation.
E. Storage of Food.
F. Selecting and buying food.
G. Special Foods Problems.
H. Correct way of washing dishes, cleaning stoves, refrigerator, etc.

II. Child Care and Training—A. Ability to select and prepare food, clothing and play equipment for children of different ages.
B. Ability to help children of different ages with activities in the home suited to their development and which will help make them happy.
C. Ability to help children understand what is desirable behavior and assume responsibility for their acts.
D. Ability to help train children in desirable habits.
E. Ability to make children secure through affection and to develop confidence.
F. Caring for small baby.

Kentucky Homemakers Creed

The Kentucky Federation of Homemakers adopted an official creed during the annual Farm and Home Convention at the University of Kentucky. Written by the Jeffersontown Homemakers Club of Jefferson county, it follows:

I believe in the home as an inspiring and happy center of family life; comfortable and attractive, a place for relaxation and work where pleasures and responsibilities are shared.

I believe in the homemaker, alert, diligent and in search of better ways of doing ordinary things for the welfare and happiness of her family.

I believe in the homemaker as a leader in her community, in her responsibility for passing on to others her mastered skills and knowledge.

I believe in the home, its contribution to community life which reflects the development of the homemaker and her family.

I believe in the partnership that comes through the homemakers' organization, the exchange of ideas, the joy of knowledge shared with others, thus broadening our lives and lifting homehold tasks above the commonplace.

For these opportunities I am grateful. I am thankful for the courage of yesterday, the hope for tomorrow and a growing consciousness of God's love always.

Western Homemakers

Mrs. William Kendall was hostess to the Western Homemakers club on February 10th. Eleven members and two visitors were present for the meeting. The devotional was given by Mrs. Maxwell Burden, using the thought: "Christ in the Nativity." "How God is the Lord" Interesting reports were given by the delegates from ten held in Lexington were given by Mrs. Dorothy Rowe and Mrs. Kendall.

"Party Sandwiches" was the farm and Everette Holbrook for the lesson studied by Mrs. Ora Mae Stated by Miss Rowe, assisted by Mrs. B. Hopkins and Mrs. W. Irvin Bowles. Mrs. Bowles was followed and the members discussed the "Sandwiches" that made during the lesson. Recipes for sandwich fillings were urged for future use.

The place for the March meeting will be announced later. Mrs. Frank Henry.

Moorefield Homemakers

Mrs. Fithian Rice and Mrs. Mildred Scammell were the hostesses for the Moorefield Homemakers when we met at Mrs. Rice's home Tuesday, February 14th at 1:30 p .m.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. J. Clark the president, and Mrs. Rice gave the devotional and had charge of the games. Mrs. Howard Campbell gave our poultry lesson and Mrs. Noble Jones gave the lesson on gardening. Both were very helpful and timely.

Mrs. Ward Taylor gave a book review on "Chopper by the Bend." A Valentine party was held at the conclusion and gifts exchanged by Cinderella sisters. The March meeting will be with Mrs. W. E. Judge. Mrs. Clinton Newman became a member and there were 18 members present, and one visitor—Mrs. Ward Ecton.

Headquarters Homemakers

Mrs. John Fryman was hostess to the Headquarters Homemakers Wednesday, February 15. There were 14 members and one visitor, Mrs. Roy Franklin, present.

Mrs. Boone Clark gave the devotional and thought for the month, "America For Me." Roll call was answered by naming a past president of the United States.

Reports on landscaping were given by Mrs. Lawrence Rankin. She told us when to sow grass seeds on our lawns and when to plant sweet pea seed. Mrs. B. K. Cable, reading chairman, gave a very fascinating review of "Let Love Come Last."

For the noon lunch the table was beautifully decorated representing St. Valentine.

Mrs. John Holland and Mrs. Veach Delaney gave an interesting lesson on gardening and poultry. Mrs. Holland advised us to buy chicks close to our home town and ways to care for our brooder house.

Mrs. Delaney told us some new seeds for our gardens and how to spray to kill different insects. All seemed very interested and many questions were asked.

A Valentine party was held and Mrs. Rankin entertained us with several games and Secret Pal gifts were exchanged.

The March meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Chares Fuller.

Attention, Mr. Farmer

We have just received another bulldozer (same size as the one now operating) which will enable us to get around to you farmers who have work that needs doing.

We've found that it is impossible to meet the demands for the type of work we do in Nicholas county with just one outfit.

One outfit is now working on the Upper Jacks-town pike headed towards the East Union neighborhood. The other is headed for the Moorefield section.

If you have work for us in either of these vicinities, contact us and we can take care of you, NOW!

You Have a Vital Stake in Telephone Bargaining :

It's YOUR money that pays telephone wages

Southern Bell Wages and Working Conditions Already Are Among the Best - Any Increase in Wages Would Have To Be Paid By Telephone Customers - There Is No Other Way Wage Increases Can Be Paid

You have a vital stake in telephone wage negotiations, for it's the money you pay in to us that we pay out in telephone wages.

Telephone employees are well paid. Their wages compare favorably with the wages paid by other concerns in the community for work requiring similar skills.

Telephone wage rates have been increased 117% since 1939, compared with an increase of less than 70% in the cost of living.

But wages are not the whole story. Telephone employees have the advantage of steady work, with no seasonal layoffs. They get vacations with pay, up to three weeks, plus six holidays a year. In addition, they enjoy the real security provided by one of the best pension and benefit plans in any industry. Among other things, it provides:

- A pension with a minimum of $100 a month, including Social Security, at age 65, and liberal provisions for earlier retirement.
- Sickness and accident benefits, up to a full year's pay, depending on length of service.
- Death benefits, up to one full year's wage, depending on length of service.

For all of these benefits, the employee pays nothing—the Company pays all

Any way you look at it—wages, working conditions, pensions and benefits—telephone employees are doing all right. And that's the way we think it should be. It takes all these things to get and keep good people.

The telephone business is regulated in a way that Unions and most other businesses are not. Federal and State Commissions determine the rates we charge for service. Any increase in telephone wages would force us to ask for an increase in telephone rates.

What About The Contract?

Southern Bell and the CWA-CIO are engaged in collective bargaining on wages at the request of the Union. We earnestly hope that a settlement can be reached that will be fair to the employees; to telephone users and to the company. Meanwhile, the public has every right to expect uninterrupted service under the present contract between the Company and the Union, which provides that, quoting the contract itself, "UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES MAY [The Contract] BE TERMINATED EARLIER THAN JUNE 5, 1950."
