NCHS Wins Thriller In Final Seconds

A foul shot registered in the final seconds by Charles Gates, diminutive Nicholas County guard, enabled the Blue Jackets to cop a 56-55 eage decision from the Concord Hornets, there. Friday night in a net thriller.

The Jackets trailed by a 46-48 count going into the final quarter. Five foul tosses and two baskets by Donnie Gaunce tied the count at 55-55. With 45 seconds remaining, Gates drove in for a basket and was fouled. The little guard stepped to the throw in five centers line and calmly sank one of two gratis flings that put the game on ice. The Hornets tried despe-dately to regain possession of the ball in the seconds that followed, but expert ball handling and passing by Ward Shannon and his team mates enabled the locals to hold on to the opening for the final gun.

Coach James Wall was well pleased with the performance of his boys. "Anyone get to work as a team to win," he said after the boys did just that."

The blue and white invaders trailed throughout the game, by a hand 11-15, 29-30 and 46-48 in the regulation stops.

The ability of Jackets to sink 14 out of 21 foul shots kept them in the game from the start. Even under pressure at the decisive last canto, the Wallmen sank five out of six tries, instrumental in bringing home the victory.

Donnie Gaunce collected 29 big points for the winners. Shannon and Sargeant dropped in 14 and 12 apiece for the Hornets.

4-H Achievement Contest Dinner

Awards to 4-H Clubs winning the county championship contest for annual Kentucky Utilities Company 4-H achievement contest for this and nearby counties will be made at a dinner, Thursday, 6:30 p. m. at the Methodist Church in Mt. Sterling.

Winning clubs in Bath, Fleming, Rowan, Nicholas and Clark counties will receive $10 cash prizes from E. R. Murphy, k. U. farm service director.

Representatives of the champion clubs, adult club leaders, county agents and home demonstration agents are expected to attend.

The Mt. Sterling meeting is one of 11 meetings being held by the utility company to honor club members and their leaders.

A total of 1,100 4-H clubs with combined membership of 50,000 young Kentuckians participated in this year's contest, the fifth annual competition K. U. has sponsored in counties where it supplies electric service. Total prize money being distributed this year is $905.

Judging in the contest was done by the county agents' offices and the 4-H Club Department of the University of Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service.

Cigarette Tax Raise Bitterly Opposed

Tobacco farmers will lose income if the state cigarette tax is increased, the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association executive committee said this week.

The committee took issue with the three cent a package tax boost proposed by Kentucky teachers as a source of the increase in their proposed $23,300,000 school budget for the next two years.

"If the state legislature passed a three cent levy, this would be an increase of 30 percent," the committee statement said. This would "reduce the tobacco's tax far above the average of tobacco states and put a premium on using cigarettes."

The committee said that it would be an almost unbearable burden for the tobacco farmer to support of Kentucky farmers," the statement said.

"Experience has clearly demonstrated that excessive taxes on cigarettes cut the consumption, which, of course, means less cigarette tobacco and less demand for leaf. This would result in a further decrease in acreage of burley tobacco and more loss of income from depreciation in farm income far greater than the income derived from the increased taxes."

The committee also pointed out that Kentucky "profits greatly by the tobacco industry located within its boundaries and from the taxes selling, processing, storing and manufacturing of tobacco. We would most assuredly suffer through loss of employment."

The committee explained that it was "not unfriendly" to sufficient school appropriations, but felt that the proposal was a temporary measure which would not solve the problem for good.

The budget passed by the General Assembly calling for a $22-300,000 school fund for the next two years, was the largest school appropriation ever passed in Kentucky. It was submitted to the Assembly by Governor Earle Clements.

The teachers then suggested a tax program to raise $12,200,000 additional revenue, with this program's points would increase the Kentucky's cigarette tax from two to three cents.

The Burley Association Executive committee is composed of John W. Jones, Association president; John W. Betts, vice president and W. I. Staton executive secretary.

The Association Board of Directors, representing Burley growers in seven states, will meet semi-annually at their January meeting, but the executive committee would probably result in less farm income and should be fought by the farmers, it said.

According to the Federal-State Market News Service volume of offerings continued heavy. For the period ending January 20, sales amounted to 74.4 million pounds for $41.29 per hundred. Season gross sales were brought to 554.7 million pounds for an average of $45.56.

Declines were general with heaviest losses for low and fair to lead, type and some fail lugs. Prices to their week all lugs had been in good demand. Some better grades of flyings and lugs were unchanged.

I thought this was awfully funny, til it happened to me, now I'm not so sure. But anyway, Monday night at the Carlisle Theatre, several of us were enjoying "I Was A Male War Bride." Gary Grant was having a tough time of it with Ann Sheridan, who, to say the least, was very elusive.

Finally Grant convinces Sheridan that he's the man for her and just as he takes her in his arms to make with the sweet talk or what-have-you. Walter Winch suddles down the aisle and announces in loud tones that a black Chevrolet is parked on the railroad tracks, thereby slightly impeding the progress of the Paris-bound Carlisle limited train, and would the owner please remove same from tracks.

Well, naturally everyone turned around to see who in the world played so little value on his car.

Moments passed and nothing happened. Then Raymond Wesley, county school superintendent, slowly out of his seat and in a bunch-backed Nosey Parker fashion, tried to slip out unnoticed. But he didn't get very far as Wesley had come in late and was seated near the front of the theatre.

Needless to say, it "stopped the show." It pulled the same face-reddening trick at the Carlisle-NCHS basketball game at Headquarters Tuesday night when he parked in front of R. G. Jennings's gas pumps—only he was the only speaker on the "schools would please dismiss classes" broadcast, nothing sound and the length of time it had been after the announcement had been made. Oh well, it's a mere sight!

It must be true to have so much money that losing a dollar is not worth seeing.

Last week Gene Clinkenbeard found a check made out to Bill McClain two years ago and since where it papers and shoes in his ket receipts blowing along the sidewalk in front of his radio store on Broadway.

Gene put the check in his show window to see if by any chance Claim would notice it. However, to date no one has laid claim to the knowledge.

Doubtlessly the check has been cancelled and a duplicate issued, but in case it's still a "live check", if anyone knows Bill McClain, it might be a good idea for them to get in touch with him.

It must have been a good crop I noticed several baskets sold for $.25. Not bad for a January 15 sale.

(The following account was written by Mrs. Perry Vice):

We were so glad to see the pictures of the Somerset Road in last week's Mercury—the road that we remember a few weeks ago in this column. Perhaps if the newspapers of Carlisle will give sufficient publicity to the tragic plight of the residents along this road, something will be done about it. (Ed. note: See story.)

These pictures published are quite near the old Lambert Ford which many can recall before the bridge was built across the placid little stream—at least placid when days are still and skies are blue.

We kids use to know all the best fishing places along the stream where we loved to sit on the roots of trees made bare by high water and dream dreams while w fished —with another line to disturb the stillness except, possibly, the jog-trot of a horse and the rattle of a buggy along the stony road or the caroling of the birds of the woodlands and the ripple of the water over the sharp rocks farther down the stream.

Most every child knew the danger line of said Ford when heavy rains sent the peaceful little stream raging through the countryside. Many times have we walked from school—far around a tiny bridge near the late John McCracken property when the bridge was flooded with back water. Many

Musketeers Defeat NCHS 56-48 In A Battle Royal Tuesday Night

Unleashing a spirited attack that flashed hot from start to finish, the Carlisle Musketeers plastered a beating on Nicholas County high 56-48 Tuesday night in the county school gymnasium.

The aggressive Carlisle quintet and white team, which led all the way, 15-11, 27-20 and 39-30 at the quarter posts, was a combination of determination and team play that paid off. Although numerous shots were missed, the locals were fairly consistant from the foul line and we let up on them in the dog-eat-dog rivalry.

Blue Jacket Ward Shannon and Cavanaugh at forward, Harper at the center slot and Tolliver and Gaines at the guard posts. This driving combination built up a 9-4 lead early in the game's initial period. A set shot by Paul Harper, Musketeer center, made count at 11 all after Brady, Johnny Fryman and Gates had upped the Jacket count to within two points of the Rosemen. However, a lay up by Cavanaugh and a tip in of a foul shot by Harper in the closing seconds of the first quarter shot the Carlisle five in front to stay.

Gaunce High

For the losing host five, it was the accuracy of the amazing Mr. Donnie Gaunce that kept them in the ball game. Going into the final quarter, the Jackets trailed nine points. Within 35 seconds Donnie dropped in three buckets from the CHS foul to 40-36 as hope rained in NCHS followers. As a matter of fact, in the fourth quarter, Gaunce scored 14 points, but was unable to collected in the first three quarters of the game. His total of 24 markers represented half of the 48 point total registered by the county five.

Lay Ups

After the Jackets rose to within four points of the Musketeers early in the final period, Cavanaugh sank a foul. Tolliver tossed in a crip, duplicated twice by Harper, a lay up by Tolliver, a foul on the same play registered by the slender guard and a free toss dropped in by Hardin, fiery Carlisle guard, netting the visiting attack 11 points before Ward Shannon pushed two points through the net for the home team.

Harper led the CHS scoring attack with 21 points, followed by Cavanaugh with 13 and Tolliver with 10. The rebound work of 6-4 Cavanaugh and Harper, who controlled both backboards, proved a deciding factor in CHS win.

Box, Scores, Officials

Friday night NCHS journeys to Connersville while the Musketeers meet Fleming County here. Next Tuesday Carlisle plays a return game with M. M. I. in Millersburg, while the Jackets play host to Tollesboro.

Rep. Snapp, in a letter to The Mercury, stated, "I am happy to report to the people of the Somerset neighborhood the promise made to me by Commissioner Keck and wish that you would convey my message to them.

"I had the opportunity to see a copy of The Mercury, authorized which I noticed several pictures of the road and believe the people should be informed of the good news at once."

A native of Nicholas county, Snapp is the 67th Legislative District Representative. The district comprises Nicholas and Bourbon counties.

Farm And Home Meet Scheduled

Farm and Home meetings are scheduled at eight community points in Nicholas county, February 6 to 15, William T. Straw, county agent and Miss Dorothy Rowe, home agent, announce. The object of the community rallies is to inform, and inspire greater expansion of farming opportunities.

"Women are also invited to attend, because it is now a recognized fact that rural homemakers are also interested in better farming methods and home development", Miss Rowe said. An entertaining feature of each session will be a motion picture in color and sound entitled "Living For Others Pays". The picture has a high rating and should be interesting to farm families, because it is patterned from rural community life.

Fish And Game Club To Discuss Re-forestation Of Chestnut Trees

Planting of chestnut trees' will be discussed by William T. Straw, county agent, at the Fish and Game Club meeting tonight (Thursday) February 2, Jim Williams, club president announced. The session will be held at the county courthouse at 7:30 p. m.

It is believed that the Chinese chestnut tree, is adapted to Nicholas county. After American chestnut trees died from blight several years ago, this tree was imported from Asia. The tree has succeeded amazingly well in America. The Chinese tree is similar to native chestnut, but is not subject to blight.

The Chinese variety is different from native chestnut in that it is smaller in height and is adapted to lower areas of deep soil. The native chestnut was better suited to higher altitudes of dry areas such as eastern Kentucky.

The object in considering the planting of chestnut trees is twofold; chestnuts are a valuable food for wildlife, especially squirrels. Chestnuts are delicious for food and a worthwhile recreation of gathering nuts may be a new sensation in Nicholas county", Williams said. "If sufficient interest is shown, a cooperative order for chestnuts will be arranged by W. T. Straw, county agent," Williams said.

Nicholas Teachers Adopt Resolutions

The teachers of Nicholas county after due discussion unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

1. We feel that we are a part of the N. E. A. and are responsible to the organization for its success and growth.

2. We appreciate the leadership that has been provided by the president, the executive secretary, delegate assembly and board of directors for providing an excellent legislative program for 1950 and for the future.

3. We further appreciate the effort that has been put forth by the entire K. E. A. since the budget bill was introduced in the House of Representatives in the General Assembly.

4. We are completely dissatisfied with the results thus far and it is our belief that the entire teaching profession is dissatisfied with the legislation adopted thus far.

5. We do not believe in school strikes, but we do believe that it is now time for the entire profession to attend to the business of the profession, therefore we are in favor of the following:

I. We fully endorse the request of the K. E. A. for $34,500,000 believing this the minimum amount needed in Kentucky to provide a minimum program.

II. We request Henry Chandler, President of the K. E. A., to call immediately a special legislative meeting of all K. E. A. members to convene at Frankfort, Kentucky for the purpose of securing adequate school legislation.

III. We believe that the 19,000 teachers in Kentucky should have a concerted opportunity to discuss and urge the adoption of the program as outlined at a meeting of the K. E. A. in Frankfort, December 12 1950.

IV. We further believe that 232,809 people, the voters who supported the equalization amendment, can be called upon to support us in the adoption of this program for better schools.
