Little Rock

By Mrs. Perry Vice

A very beautiful and impressive service was held Sunday at the Little Rock Christian church officiated by the new Baldwin Electronic Organ was formally dedicated to the glory of God.

Miss Florence Hopkins, who has faithfully served as organist for many years, was presented a beautiful wrist watch in appreciation for her long record of service. A lovely address was delivered and also presented to Miss Hopkins and to Mrs. H. M. Bradley, pianist. Mrs. Roberts who is a talented musician will play the new organ. A large crowd was in attendance. The average attendance for the Centennial Year has been a traction over 100.

We would like to correct the error in the Sunday School report attendance which recently appeared in this column. The average attendance was 77 instead of 17 which was due to a misprint.

Hanging Curtains Brings Questions

Several perplexing questions on the selection and hanging of draperies were answered for Carlisle county homemakers, said Home Agent Sallie P. Satterly, when Miss Vivian Curnutt, home furnishing specialist from the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, had charge of a homemakers training school for leaders.

Some of the answers were:

1. Draperies may be lined or unlined. However, the lined ones have more body, hang in deeper folds and present a more uniform appearance from the outside.

2. Material chosen for unlined draperies must permit the light to filter through without changing the shape or color of the design.

3. Forty-two to 50-inch material is best, as it is wide enough to hang in deep folds.

4. Pleats for fullness should be made in groups of uneven numbers.

5. The amount and type of pattern chosen for draperies should be governed by the amount of pattern elsewhere in the room.

6. Fixtures should be simple.

Operator's Licenses Go On Sale July 1

Renewals of Motor Vehicle Operator's License for 1950-1951, commonly referred to as "operator's licenses", will be on sale at the circuit court clerk's office in each county during July, Paul Boyd, Operator's License Section, Department of Revenue, announced.

Boyd called attention to two important changes in the law. Kentucky Military Extension Permits become void on July 1, 1950. Operators' Permits from the United States said Boyd, only operating official vehicles in the course of service. Military personnel must have a regular State Motor Vehicle Operator's License the same as a civilian, when operating any privately owned vehicle on the highway. On and after July 1, the holder of a Military Extension can surrender this and obtain an original operator's license without an examination.

The other important change is that no operator's license of any type can be issued to anyone not 16 years of age. Licenses issued for operating a 5 HP Motor vehicle or a motorcycle will be identified by the date of birth on the face of the license and cannot be used for the operation of a regular automobile.

Applicants for any type of operator's license between 16 and 18 years of age must have the father or legal guardian sign that he assumes responsibility under the Operator's License Law, Boyd said.

Fire Destroys Five Buildings In Cynthiana

A rapidly spreading fire swept five buildings in a congested business section of South Walnut street, Cynthiana, Saturday, causing damage of $200,000.

There were no injuries.

The flames gutted a furniture store, liquor dispensary, restaurant, hardware company ware house and the clubrooms of the Disabled American Veterans.

Scores of volunteers aided by the Paris, Ky., fire department helped the blaze under control after four hours.

Officials said the fire apparently started in the rear of the Dalton restaurant.

Fire Chief Charles Hudgins, who has been on the job Saturday had not completed his investigation.

He reported he was compiling estimates of the loss and said the figure likely would go to $300,000 or other sources placed it at perhaps $300,000.

The fire was the third major one on South Walnut street in recent years.

John Jones, operator of the Ascher Inn restaurant, reported he and his wife had closed their business for the night when he heard a loud and then a muffled explosion.

Jones said he believed someone had blown a safe and was calling police when he heard the sirens of the semi-volunteer fire department.

Jones' restaurant was destroyed. The building was owned by Joe Brumfield, also the owner of the building which housed the liquor store of W. H. Heck, Sr. Brumfield said loss was partly covered by insurance.

The Judd Hardware Company warehouse, to the rear of the burned buildings, was owned by Vesch C. Redd.

The other building destroyed was the four story brick structure occupied by W. H. Carr's furniture store. The third and fourth floors collapsed. The building was held in trust of the Harrison Memorial hospital.

A fire wall between the liquor store and Wicklift's Music House prevented the latter from being destroyed. The tracks of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, immediately east of the Redd Ware house, kept the flames from spreading in that direction.

MOVES TO CARLISLE

Mr. Morris Wimberley of Lexington, the new head of the local Utilities Company, has leased an apartment in the home of Brooks Henson in Arnold Heights, and will move his family here July 1.

Here Abouts - - -

- - - with Emily Asbury

Dr. Johnson had a polisher, Mrs. Ted Allison a rug, Stan Wilson a wide grin on his face, and everyone there were hundreds spotted considerable perspiration as volunteer workers labored at the new hospital Monday night.

Those who have taken a gander at the exceptionally modern structure agree that never in their wildest dreams did they think our county would have anything so "nooty" as the hospital seems to be.

A dream that formulated in 1947 has materialized into reality, it behooves us all to be on hand for a look-see Sunday afternoon

HA-HA

Phyllis Gumm's blues her little heart, is very sad these days.

She was in the wreck last Friday that involved the W. S. Gaines, at the bottom of the Brayfield hill, about a mile from Carlisle.

At the time of the accident, her little black cocker spaniel puppy was clutched fondly to her chest. With the impact, the frisky little fella squirmed free and jumped from the car.

That was Friday this is Thursday and so far there is no trace of the lil' canine. Phyllis' mother has scoured the countryside in the vicinity of the wreck, asking the Alton Kerns, Elgin Georges, Vicks Jacksons if they have seen the wandering, lonesome pet, who's bound to be awfully homesick for his "little mother."

If anyone knows the whereabouts of this cocker spaniel, the phone number of the Gaines's is 9 on the party line.

Dr. Henderson is chairman of the medical advisory committee of the U. S. Jaycee Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and said invitations had been issued to 37 doctors and 15 lay people representing public and private health agencies, doctors, nurses, therapists and hospital groups besides individuals.

Pointing to the 31 reported polio cases in Kentucky to date this year compared with 20 for the corresponding period in 1949, Dr. Henderson declared that it was important to pool information concerning what facilities and personnel would be available throughout the state should the need arise.

Plans made at a similar conference last year were put into effect to expedite care and treatment for the 696 polio victims in the state, he said.

The conference, arranged by the Kentucky Jaycees, was scheduled for 4 p. m., July 6 at the Brown Hotel and to be followed by a dinner meeting.

Carlisle Sows Population Gain; County Loses 1,003 In Census Count

Preliminary figures on the census of Carlisle and Nicholas county have been released by Charles E. Jeffrey, assistant supervisor, Bureau of Census, Ashland, shows a population gain of 103 citizens in Carlisle, but a population loss of 1,093 in the county as a whole in the past ten years.

The count to date of the returns of the census taken as of April 1, 1950, in Nicholas county is 7,524 as compared to 8,617 in April 1, 1940.

Carlisle's census figures for 1950 show a population of 1,517 as compared to 1,414 in 1940.

In releasing the census information Mr. Cecil states "this figure is believed to be substantially correct but is subject to revision after returns for non-residents are credited to their proper locality and editing of checks have been made. Although material revision of preliminary counts is unusual, it may occur and occur after careful examination of the records. The official population of the county will be made at a later date by the Director of Census, Washington 25, D. C."

Polio Conference Called For July 6

A Polio Planning Conference was called today by Dr. Elmer I. Henderson for July 6 in Louisville to map procedures for caring for infantile paralysis victims in event an epidemic hits Kentucky this summer.

Dr. Henderson is chairman on the medical advisory committee of the U. S. Jaycee Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and said invitations had been issued to 37 doctors and 15 l-y people representing public and private health agencies, doctors, nurses, therapists and hospital groups besides individuals.

Pointing to the 31 reported polio cases in Kentucky to date this year compared with 20 for the corresponding period in 1949, Dr. Henderson declared that it was important to pool information concerning what facilities and personnel would be available throughout the state should the need arise.

Plans made at a similar conference last year were put into effect to expedite care and treatment for the 696 polio victims in the state, he said.

The conference, arranged by the Kentucky Jaycees, was scheduled for 4 p. m., July 6 at the Brown Hotel and to be followed by a dinner meeting.

Vandalism Damages Many Road Signs

Deliberate acts of vandalism damage or destroy annually more than 10,000 of the metal road signs along Kentucky highways, W. F. Ramsey, Traffic Director of the Kentucky Department of Highways said today.

"Last year $42,450 was spent to reconstruct 33,500 road signs over the state,' Ringo said. . . . at least one-third of these signs were damaged by vandals. Many of the signs which were removed illegally had been erected to warn motorists of approaching danger."

Most of the deliberate damage was done by rifle or pistol bullets, according to Ringo, and there were many instances of road markers being scratched or bent by children.

"In recent weeks," he added, "there have been several instances in which vehicles have been driven along the roadside deliberately breaking off or bending signs to the ground."

Purchase cost of the road signs ranges from one dollar per sign up to four dollars apiece for the large reflectorized signs. New road signs purchased last year totalled 50,000 and cost $98,000.

The problem and maintenance of road signs and warning signs are a vital part of Kentucky highway maintenance," Ringo said. "Any deliberate acts of vandalism committed against this property should be reported to the authorities."

NICHOLAS YOUTH HURT WHEN KICKED BY MULE

Eddie Roy Walton, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walton of the Scrub Grass road, was brought to the local hospital at noon Friday, with an injured right side, suffered when a mule he was busying kicked him. After treatment by a local physician, he was moved to the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington.

Hospital attendants said his condition was serious.

ISSUE GIVEN APPROVAL

A $250,000 bond issue to build a high school for Nicholas county has been upheld Saturday by the Court of Appeals. The school will be located near Carlisle. The order simply affirmed Nicholas Circuit Court decision which was handed down at a later date.

Dairy Cow Contest Draws Six Entries

Buntin's Garage will award a $50 Savings Bond to one of six boys entered in the dairy cow division contest from the Carlisle Future Farmers of America, G. B. Leonard, chapter adviser announced.

This is another in the series of eight contests sponsored by local merchants to promote better farming practices in Nicholas county.

Entries are: Winfred Hughes, Earl Finch, Fred Burnaw, Douglas Clay, David Hardin and Jimmy Carter. Hughes won this division last year.

The bond will be awarded on the basis of the entry that makes the best showing at the Nicholas county fair to be held here this fall. This method of judging is necessitated by the fact that some of the boys produce cream while others produce milk, therefore making it impossible to figure highest production on a common basis.

Dairying, one of the growing industries in Kentucky, is especially suited to the rolling pasture land of Nicholas county.

Most of the dairy cows are Jerseys, Leonard said.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Two additional rooms were furnished at the new hospital last week, one by the Mathers family in honor of Taylor B. Mathers and the other in memory of Mrs. Lizzie Kennedy by her grandchildren, Carol, Judith and Emily Elizabeth Wallace.

Other substantial contributions have been made by Mrs. Edward O. Roade (Lalla Secret) in memory of her mother, Aurelia Glenn Secrest, and the VFW Auxiliary during the past week.

Much of the equipment used to furnish the hospital has not as yet arrived and equipment from the Johnson Memorial hospital to be used in the new hospital will not be moved in time for the dedication.

The board has adopted a policy to employ the very best and most capable personnel.

The official opening of the hospital for patient care will be announced at a later date.

NICHOLAS COUPLE HURT SERIOUSLY IN ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gaunce, of Nicholas county, Nicholas county, were injured seriously last Friday when their car left the road about a mile from here, plunged over an embankment, crashed a fence and struck a tree.

They were returning home from Carlisle, with Mrs. Gaunce driving. It was reported. Both were brought to Johnson Memorial hospital here and were later taken to the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington.

Word from Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gaunce of Saltwek, who are patients at the Good Samaritan hospital, Lexington, is most encouraging. Mr. Gaunce will remain longer but Mrs. Gaunce is expected to be brought home this week.

Polio Victim Improves

Mrs. Ruth Ann Hall, 19, who was stricken with infantile paralysis in Carlisle on June 15, was reported improved today at the Kentucky Children's hospital, Lexington.

Mrs. Hall, the former Ruth Ann Hamilton, is the wife of Jack Hall, Jr., Carlisle Route 1.

"Fats" Play "Leans", Lexington vs NCHS In Softball Twinbill Here Thursday

A laugh-packed fun-for-sure softball doubleheader is slated for tonight (Thursday) at the local playground when the Fats meet the Leans and a Veterans Hospital team from Lexington engages Nicholas County.

In the opener Captain Orville Gaunce of the "Leans" will choose his starting lineup from the following willowy candidates:

Tommy Johnson, Rex Smoot, Lyhue Tedder, Paul House, Kash Ratliff, Robert George, Thomas Gaunce, "Doc" Lambert, Walter Shepherd, Henry Peters, John Ollis, Kenbeard and Gaunce.

Captain Jim Williams, pilot for the Fat team, will attempt to stop the slim boys with Jethro Tebay Rose, Ben Pumphrey, Jr., S. R. Barlow Sr., Pete King, Everett Smith, Charles Sinsinger, Dan Rich, Red Osborne, Teddy Talbert, Luther Thompson, Roger Stewart, Gene Bond, Leonard Alexander and Williams.

Gaunce will start Rex Smoot on the hill and Thomas Gaunce behind the plate.

Tuesday night, the Carlisle Merchants outlasted Watkins Grocery of Moorefield 11-8 in a free scoring contest.

Gene Clinkenbeard gave up a total of five hits over the seven-inning route. The longest blow off the tall hurler was a three-run homer by opposing pitcher Livengood.

CONDEMNATION PETITION FILED HERE MONDAY

A petition for condemnation of land was filed on June 26 in the Nicholas county court by the Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company as plaintiff against J. W. Burnett, Myrtle Burnaw, defendants, requesting right-of-way for a gas pipe line through their land.

The court has appointed G. E. Jones, Mike R. Berry and W. J. Jones as commissioners to appraise the damages to their lands.

Lt. (jg) John Wesley Hazlip, Jr., of Carlisle, Ky., is undergoing a period of instruction with the 90th Officer's Class at the Naval Submarine School, New London, Conn.

The curriculum of the school has been specially designed to disseminate the latest techniques and developments in submarine warfare to officers in the undersea service.
