Season Tickets For Wildcat Games On Sale May 1

Season tickets for the seven-game, 1950 home football schedule of the University of Kentucky Wildcats will go on sale to priority groups starting May 1 and the general public beginning July 15, it was announced today by the UK athletics ticket office.

In an announcement now being mailed to nearly 30,000 former season ticket holders and alumni the University Athletics Association set up three pounds for the purchase of season books.

Mail orders will be accepted during the first priority period, May 1 through May 31, from members of the University faculty and staff who held season tickets in 1949; other 1949 season ticket purchasers; donors to the 1945 financial campaign who contributed $50 or more; original contributors to the stadium fund; active members of the Lexington Alumni Club; and women in football. The second priority period, June 1 through June 30, will cover paid up members of the UK Alumni Association; financial campaign donors who contributed $10 to $50; and members of the University faculty-staff not covered in first priority.

The general ticket sale for season and individual games will start July 15, both through the mail and by direct sale at the University football ticket office.

As an innovation in the University's athletic ticket policy this year, Ticket Sales Manager Harvey Hodges announced that graded high school students will be offered a reserved bleacher season ticket at a reduced price of $7. Orders must be placed through the student's school principal and will not be accepted immediately.

Season tickets for both priority groups and the general public will be located in the concrete stands. The established Clements' campaign for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in August, J. Thaxter Sims, Cynthiana, campaign chairman, said Monday as he announced selection of two key aides for the campaign drive.

Sims announced selection of Herndon J. Evans, Pineville, newspaper editor and past president of the Kentucky Press Association, as publicity chairman for the Clements campaign, and of George Hart, Murray banker, as Finance Chairman of the campaign.

"We are fortunate to obtain the assistance of men of such attainments in their respective fields of endeavor as Mr. Evans and Mr. Hart," said Mr. Sims. "Both are men of the highest caliber."

Evans, native of Morehead, was reared in Frankfort, graduated from the University of Kentucky school of journalism, was one-time Associated Press correspondent at Frankfort, and since 1925 has been editor of The Pineville Sun.

Hart was born and reared in the community where he lives, serving his fourth term as Mayor of Murray, and is executive vice president of the Bank of Murray. He is the immediate past president of the Kentucky Bankers Association, active in all civic lines of endeavor.

A former school teacher, Hart was educated in Calloway County public schools and Western State Teachers College. He served in Calloway County public schools and Western State Teachers College. He served in World War I. He was battalion sergeant major. He was circuit court clerk of Calloway County twelve years and for twenty years has been Master Commissioner of Calloway Circuit Court.

Less Corn, More Hay And Grass In Estill

The 1950 farm improvement program in Estill county, as planned by a county armed with County Agent Fred Brockman, includes 20 percent less corn acreage, more alfalfa and other hay crops and improved pastures.

Corn will be confined wherever possible to bottom or other level or near-level land, hybrid seed used and fertilizer applied. Total production is expected to be as high or higher than that of recent years.

At two places in the county demonstrations will be made of pasture improvement. The soil will be tested, the needed fertilizers applied and grass mixtures seeded. On field will be a hillside and the other bottomland.

Three hundred acres of waste land cleared during the winter will be fertilized and seeded to permanent pasture. Reports of seed purchased indicate that 1,000 to 1,200 acres of land usually put in corn will be seeded to grass. At least 300 acres of alfalfa will be sown this year, and several farmers will sow Kentland clover, if seed is available, County Agent Brockman said.

Corn Derby In Crops Program In 75 Counties

The corn derby is again to be a feature of the crops program of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Kentucky, in about 75 counties. Producers of 100 bushels an acre will receive certificates of achievement, with special recognition for high producers in the acre and five-acre divisions.

The corn derby has been a factor in increasing yields from an average of 24 bushels to 37 bushels an acre in 10 years, according to W. C. Johnstone of the college. Despite a reduction of around 600,000 acres, the total corn yield of the state has increased.

The corn derby, Johnstone pointed out, stresses growing corn on good land and the proper use of fertilizer. There now are laboratories in about half of the counties where farmers can have soil tested. Growing hybrid corn accounts for a large part of the increased yields. US 13 and Ky. 205 are the best yellow corns and Ky. 203 is a consistent high-yielding white corn. Ky. 40W is a new white hybrid corn with a strong stalk available for planting this year.

Ky. 40W is a high-yielding white corn which matures readily next year in US 52W.

Named Publicity Head For Clements Senatorial Campaign

An intensive organization campaign reaching down to precinct level will be undertaken immediately in behalf of Gov. Earle C. Clements' campaign for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in August, J. Thaxter Sims, Cynthiana, campaign chairman, said Monday as he announced selection of two key aides for the campaign drive.

Sims announced selection of Herndon J. Evans, Pineville, newspaper editor and past president of the Kentucky Press Association, as publicity chairman for the Clements campaign, and of George Hart, Murray banker, as Finance Chairman of the campaign.

"We are fortunate to obtain the assistance of men of such attainments in their respective fields of endeavor as Mr. Evans and Mr. Hart," said Mr. Sims. "Both are men of the highest caliber."

Commercial Seining Of Minnows Illegal

Seining of minnows from Kentucky streams for commercial use will be illegal on and after May 1, 1950, Earl Wallace, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced, following the filing with the Secretary of State of an emergency regulation to that effect.

Mr. Wallace points out that studies of stream and minnow conditions in the state have revealed that the streams are rapidly being depleted of various species of minnows by commercial dealers and that depletion of these minnows will cause a crisis, since other types of fish in these streams depend on minnows for their food supplies. Mr. Wallace emphasized that the regulation does not mean that a resident of the state cannot seine minnows from these streams for his individual use.

The regulation does not apply to the taking of shad minnows from Herrington Lake, Dale Hollow, Kentucky Lake and all streams under lock and dam, but not above the last lock and dam, for any stream, Mr. Wallace stated.
