Burley Tobacco Sales Postponed Until Today

Opening of sales of the 1950 burley tobacco crop was postponed until today (Thursday).

The one-day delay was ordered by the Burley Sales Committee, which controls sales of the crop through the burley-growing area.

The decision was made at a joint conference held by telephone Monday night. Albert G. Clay, Mt. Sterling, chairman, announced the action.

Clay said the resolution also provided that 4 hours of sales be conducted each of the first seven days of auctions, instead of the first three days as provided before opening sales was delayed. Thereafter sales will be reduced to 3½ hours a day.

Markets selling on a poundage basis will be permitted to sell 102,400 pounds a day for the first seven days, and 259,200 a day thereafter.

Effect of the change in selling hours, Clay explained, is to permit 70½ hours of sales at the 8 markets close for the Christmas holidays. December 21 instead of the 60 hours possible if there had been no delay.

The delay was agreed to at the request of tobacco companies who said some of their buyers would be unable to reach some of the markets in time for the scheduled opening Wednesday.

Last season's poundage total 560,000,000 pounds compared to an expected 496,000,000 pounds this year.

KENTUCKY'S NEW GOVERNOR—Former Lieutenant Governor Lawrence Wetherby was sworn in as Governor of the State of Kentucky, Monday in Frankfort, by Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals Hubert Meredith. Wetherby succeeded the Honorable Earle C. Clements who Monday took the oath of office as United States senator. Wetherby, who promises a "program of advancement" for the State, will serve as governor until December, 1951.

Barn, Tobacco Razed By Flames Friday

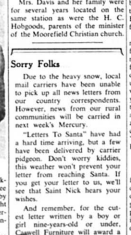
A seven-bent tobacco barn and approximately 4,000 pounds of tobacco located on the farm of Dr. W. G. Irvin, in the Mooreland section of the county, was completely destroyed by fire Friday, at noon.

According to Dr. Irvin, Maurice "Pete" Reid, tennant on the farm, and others left the room to go to eat lunch. Upon their return they found the barn ablaze. Cause of the fire was attributed to an overheated stove in the stripping room.

Besides the tobacco, between 35 and 40 tons of hay, a hog and small farm tools were consumed by the flames.

The loss, estimated at $15,000, was partially covered by insurance.

Jackets Top Mayslick 59-40, In LRVC Game



Johnny Frigman

The Nicholas County Blue Jackets won victory number three Thursday night as they breezed by Mayslick, 59-40, Wednesday night in a Licking River Valley Conference clash on the Mason county's floor.

"Deadeye" Donnie Gaunce looped in 19 points to haul down scoring honors for the invaders. Forward Ward Shannon found the basket for 17 counters.

Collins of Mayslick hit for 16.

Tuesday, December 5, the Blue Jackets journey to Fleming county for a doubleheader before playing host to the Carlisle Musketeers December 8.

WMS Service Sunday At Moorefield Church

The Women's Missionary Society of the Moorefield Christian church will take charge of the morning worship service in the annual observance of Women's Day.

Members of the missionary society will preside over the morning service, leading the congregation in singing, prayer and meditation, according to Mrs. William Sams, president of the society.

The speaker for the occasion will be Mrs. W. E. Davis, former missionary to the Belgian Congo, who now resides in North Middletown. Mrs. Davis, whose husband is a doctor in the Bourbon county town, has lived there with her family for about 13 years.

She was for many years an educational missionary to the Belgian Congo under the United Christian Missionary Society. A talented singer, she was instrumental in provoking interest among the natives in developing their musical abilities. While in the Congo she translated many of our well-known hymns into the native dialect.

Her husband, Dr. W. E. Davis, achieved prominence nationally with the publication of "Ten Years in the Congo," an interesting and popular rendition of his experiences in Africa as a medical missionary. He also wrote a series of articles that were published in the Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. Davis and her family were for several years located on the same station as were the H. C. Hobgoods, parents of the minister of the Moorefield Christian church.

Sorry Folks

Due to the heavy snow, local mail carriers have been unable to pick up all news letters from our country correspondents. However, news from our rural communities will be carried in next week's Mercury.

"Letters To Santa" have had a hard time arriving, but a few have been delivered by carrier pidgeon. Don't worry kiddies, this weather won't prevent your letter from reaching Santa. If you get your letter in us, we'll see that Saint Nick hears your wishes.

And remember, for the cutest letter written by a boy or girl nine-years-old or under, Caswell Furniture will award a beautiful doll. All letters must be sent to The Mercury by Monday, December 18. The winners name will be published in the December 21 issue, and the doll will be awarded Saturday, afternoon, December 23, by Mrs. Franklin Caswell at the Main Street Store.

Assessment Info Wanted Dec. 1

John W. Anderson, Nicholas county tax commissioner, stated today that his office will begin taking information for the 1951 assessment on December 1, 1950. The new assessment law enacted by the 1949 General Assembly requires that property owned on January 1, 1951, and each January 1 thereafter be listed for ad valorem taxes during the months of January and February of the same year.

Commissioner Anderson pointed out that the new law allows only a short time after the assessment period to prepare the tax rolls and submit them for approval by the Department of Revenue and action by the County Board of Supervisors. For this reason, there can be no late additions to the regular roll.

In order to avoid an undue rush in the months of January and February, Commissioner Anderson, will take information beginning at the earlier date, with the understanding that anyone who lists property prior to January 1 and finds that he has disposed of some of the property listed or has acquired property prior to January 1 will return during January or February and correct his listing.

The assessment must show property owned as of January 1, 1951

LETTON LAMBS WIN

Hero Besaiden, Winchester, won first prize on a carload of fat lambs at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago.

A total of 37 carloads of lambs from the United States and Canada were entered in the big exhibit. Besaiden's carload of 50 purebred Southdown lambs averaged 83 1-3 pounds.

ELECTRICITY OFF

Electricity users served by the Fleming-Mason RECC sub-station at Murphyville are reminded that they will have no electric current from eight a. m. Sunday, December 3 until installation of new transformers has been completed.

C. L. Moore, resident engineer, hopes that work will be completed by 1 p. m. of the same day. Should weather conditions prevent this, Monday, December 4, will be done on the first good day following.

FTA OFFICERS ELECTED

The Future Teachers of America at Nicholas County High school met last week and elected the following officers for 1950-51:

Alma Hudnall, president; Johnny Prymus, vice-president; Polly Wagoner, secretary; Ann Collins, treasurer and reporter; Donnie Gaunce, parlimentarian; Henry Hale, sponsor.

Plans were made for initiation of new members.

A marriage license was issued Wednesday to Miss Henry Polly Roden and Mr. Richard H. Aker, Cincinnati.

SITTING UP WITH BABY—These purebreds are in a western specialty dog show in Chicago. The Great Dane belongs to Teresa Turner, Palatine; the Chihuahua, to Mrs. F. W. Evenger, Wheeling, Illinois.

Cook Pork Thoroughly To Avoid Trichinosis

Trichinosis, a painful and sometimes fatal disease, is caused by eating raw or under-cooked meat, usually pork, which is infested with Trichina parasites, or "pork worms."

The disease is easily prevented but as yet no cure has been found for it, since there is no way to remove the worms from the human body once they have reached the muscle fibers.

The only safe rule to follow is to cook all pork thoroughly before eating it. The heat of thorough cooking destroys the worm larvae in the meat. All pork and pork products should be cooked sufficiently to cause them to lose their pinkish color and to turn grey throughout.

Farmers can aid in preventing trichinosis by cooking garbage before feeding it to their hogs and by processing their pork either by heating or freezing before using or selling it.

This advice is particularly timely since, in many sections of Kentucky, it is a killing time and folks in urban as well as rural areas are looking forward to country ham as part of their holiday menu.

Pork is a nourishing food, rich in protein, fat and thiamin. If proper precautions are observed, there is no need to develop a dread of trichinosis. The fact that raw or undone pork may cause trichinosis does not mean that its use should be avoided. It does mean that all pork should be thoroughly cooked before it is eaten.

Unprecedent Snowfall And Blizzard Over Weekend Paralyzes Nicholas

Nicholas countians are digging out of the worst snow storm to hit locally since 1887.

The paralyzing blizzard struck with near hurricane ferrocity late Saturday, following a blanketing snowfall which began Thursday night between eight and nine o'clock, stranding motorists, enroute North and South for a two-day period.

Snow drifts up to 10 feet high in places made county roads impassable. State highways in this vicinity were closed Sunday and until noon Monday, when a grader cleared openings in the white barricades.

Roberts Home Burns

With thermometers hovering just shy of the zero mark, a fire broke out Saturday at 11:10 a. m. in the home W. T. Roberts on West Main street, causing damage in the thousands of dollars. Volunteer firemen fought the blaze, attributed to an overheated stove on the first floor of the two story frame home, until mid-afternoon. Much of the personal property of Miss Roberta Sosby, boarder in the home, was lost or damaged by the icy water.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are staying temporarily in the Taylor apartment, near their home.

Here in Carlisle, several county residents who braved the elements Saturday, found themselves marooned until the first of the week. College students, home for Thanksgiving holidays, were unable to return to class work.

The Giffin Manufacturing Company plant was closed Monday and Tuesday due to the fact that employees from outlying communities were snowbound.

County and city schools were closed until Thursday. Deep and drifted snow halted mail route deliveries, Sunday and Monday. Oil trucks carrying heating fluid to homes in the town and county, made emergency runs Monday after being stymied Sunday. Local stores suffered sharp reductions in Saturday's sales. Greyhound bus service through Carlisle was discontinued the first of the week.

Most Highways Open

Elsewhere, the Department of Highways was able to report today that most highways are open, but urged caution in driving and advised driving only when necessary.

Emergency crews have been at work since Thursday night and every available man was called in, including those on holiday leave, in the effort to keep the roads open.

More than 70 bulldozers rented from private owners, in addition to 17 state owned ones are being used to clear the roads of the heaviest drifts. This is, of course, in addition to power graders and snow plows used ordinarily but inadequate for handling the deep drifts of the present snow.

Drifts ranging 10 feet deep in depth, many from five to ten feet deep and some a mile long, affected approximately four fourth of the state—roughly the area from Louisville and Bardstown eastward and ranging northeastward from Stanford.

State Highway Engineer D. H. Bray said "In the 30 years I have been with the Highway Department we have never had a snow with drifts of such depth over anything like the area." Bray began work with the Highway Department in 1920, the year the same took place.

The principal reason for occasions heavy snows have brought deep drifts in small areas of only a few counties but never so widespread as this one, Bray said, District Engineer in all of the nine offices in the state have been instructed to spare no effort or expense to get main line roads open and in condition for safe travel.

Highway Districts 5, 6 and 8 have been most seriously affected. In District 5 (Bowling Green) 33 bulldozers have been in use; in District 6 (Covington) 28, and in District 6 (Lexington) 19.

Postmaster Veach Urges Public To Get Cards, Packages In Mail Early

It is of the utmost importance this year that post office personnel obtain the co-operation of the public in preparing Christmas mail.

Postmaster Howard K. Veach offers the following suggestions to persons mailing Christmas cards and packages to insure faster postal deliveries during the holiday rush:

Postage—Save time by purchasing an adequate supply of stamps in advance of the rush period. Prepay postage fully on all mail to avoid delays and disappointments.

Addresses — All mail matter should be plainly and completely addressed, preferably in ink.

Greeting cards—Send holiday greetings as first class mail matter to obtain the many advantages this service affords. Such cards may be sealed and contain written messages; they are dispatched and delivered first; forwarded if necessary, and if undeliverable, are returned to the sender if mailer's text address is shown on the envelope. Unsealed Christmas greetings sent as third-class mail (no written messages, please) are chargable with two-cents postage, if weight does not exceed two ounces. However a minimum charge of three cents is applicable to such greeting cards that measure less than four inches long or 2¼ inches wide.

Persons having a number of greeting cards to deposit are urged by postmaster Veach to tie them in bundles with addresses all facing one way so as to facilitate their handling in the post office.

Packages — Articles should be packed carefully and tightly in strong durable containers, wrapped in good quality paper and tied with heavy cord or string.

All gift packages should be registered or insured. Perishable matter, likely to spoil before delivery, is not acceptable. Perishables going only a short distance, should be especially marked as a postal clerk.

Seals—Again this year Christmas seals and stickers are permitted.

Postmaster Veach said that if the public would observe these suggestions, much time will be saved and faster service assured.

Just to be different, let's talk about the snow.

I'm like Roger W., people have been shot at lighter as long as they're snapping at each other. Even the dog lies in front of the porch on game-days straddling between Paris and Knoxville. Whata time!

—HA—

Little Georganna Boots will be reminded often in the future, no doubt, about how she almost made her entrance into this cold, cold world on a sled. With a lot of help, however, Mrs. Bourge Boots made it in to the Nicholas County hospital in time and Georganna was born Monday in the warm maternity ward. 'Twas a close call, tho!

—EA—

Reflections in the snow

A road breaking crew composed of Marion George, Ed George, Rollie Logan, Charles Crawford, Bill Marr, Raymond Coldmire, George Weddle and John Willis, with the help of two tractors, horses, sled and shovels, freed the Pleasant Springs pike of snow from Marion George's house to the Jackstown road.

—Bread trucks finally got through Tuesday, thank goodness.

—Rubber footwear sales soared.

—Sleigh riders still making the most of hilly streets, and we have plenty of 'em.

—Watson has failed to get the "Coke" truck thru and George Gaffin declares Coco Cola's thing of the past.

Absolutely S-n-o-w-e-d Under - - -

Flora and others got in Knoxville on the 21 minutes of the game before boarding the train for Paris. Sounds like a good time.

—Piper's dairy minned milk deliveries Sunday for the first time in 28 years.

—Snow drifts 20 feet high reported in the Jackstown vicinity.

—Mrs. Dora Hill called in about mail deliveries, Tuesday.

—Bill Alexander and his bulldozer among people and machinery removing snow drifts from roadways.

—Rooms in Carlisle from Saturday until Tuesday were at a premium.

—Mrs. Jean Donovan, like a lot of other county people who waited too late to start home Saturday night, struggled in home Sunday to find her front door had blown open during the heavy winds, and snow was all over everywhere. What a "blow".

—Doters S. M. Rickman and W. W. Dye of Paris braved hazardous roads to yank out an appendix for Tod Layfart at the local hospital.

—Paul Ockerman, Georganna and Louanna can't get back to Connersville where he teaches school.

—The Bill Power's are moving in their new home on Archdeacon between snowflakes.

—Will we ever see the grass again?

—Robert Cramer, former jockey, now trainer and owner of horses in Miami, Fla., was a snowbound visitor at the Feeback hotel.

Somebody said—What every young girl should know . . . better.
