People are all the time discussing what's the best way to get rid of what's the biggest selling cigarette on the market, etc.—

So—this week this column voted 10 to the various stores in Carlisle where cigarettes are sold.

According to local counter sales, Camels are the most called-for brand. In eight business houses, Carlisle Drug, Conway's, Little House, Gaffins, Square Deal, Krogers, Alison's Restaurant and Williams, Camels, Camels, Camels down. At Kerns it was between Philip Morris and Camels and at Hamm's, Luckies and Camels.

All in all, Camels, Luckies, Philip Morris and Chesterfields in that order, head the "smoke parade" in Carlisle.

(Except at the Square Deal Grocery, where Regular roll-your-own Neal tells us Bull Durham is the choice!)

UK followers who took in the Wildcat-Dayton football game Saturday night saw Emmy Curtis almost break away for a touchdown. (He did gain 18 yards, however.)

He told his Dad later that he didn't change pace and reverse his field because he was afraid his injured leg wouldn't hold up. I hope "Big Ed" was just being pessimistic, when he made the statement Monday that he doubt if Emmy could ever be the all-out, heads-up ball player he was before the season.

That's as hard to take as poison ivy.

People who have seen "Annie Get Your Gun," at the Lyric Sunday and Monday, say it's a riot of a movie.

Betty Hutton always gives everything to each picture in which she plays. As a result, she often self-secters nervous breakdowns when she completes the assignment.

After you see her, you're sure you'll see why this happens. And while there, you'll no doubt notice the beautiful, new interior of the theatre. We're really "up town" now.

Miss Lucille Buntin has found a way to put her spare time to good use.

She's sewing ready-cut brunch-coat dresses during odd moments and doing real well. She takes your orders, your measurements and a few days later, you're wearing the finished product.

They're pretty, practical housedresses, and I understand, very economical.

Allie Clinkenbard called to our attention, a short story in this month's "Nation's Business" magazine written by a former Carlisle native, William Martin who now lives in Palatka, Florida.

Bill has written many fine articles for vig magazines such as Colliers, Redbook, Time, etc., during the past 15 years of professional penning.

He is, of course, the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Cray Martin.

Taylor, assistant home agent. 4-H members selected to attend on a basis of achievement were: Jean Tincher, clothing project, Nicholas County high; Phyllis Smith, poultry project, Carlisle Club; Frances Alexander, dairy project, Carlisle Club; Rosemary Billy Straw, garden project, Carlisle Club; Charles Judge, baby beef project, Moorefield Club; Kenneth Booth, tobacco project, Carlisle Club.

patterned her seasons. I say seasons because October is a season all by herself.

As a matter of fact, she has the beauty of a year's work rolled up to one month—31 clean smelling days of blue, blue skies and golden countryside.

During October in Kentucky we should collect toll from out of state tourists who are lucky enough to pass through our scenic state. It is, for a fact, the ideal time to travel.

School Lunch Program Needs Greater, County School Superintendent States

"When you have a school lunch program you have a better school," stated Raymond Wesley, superintendent of county school in an interview yesterday with a Chest representative. Mr. Wesley went on to say there was a close tie up between a school lunch program and school attendance. It has been his observation that attendance is 10 to 15 percent higher in schools where there is a school lunch program. There are other advantages to a school lunch program in that it offers the best opportunity for the teacher to teach good eating habits—new food tastes can be developed and general nutrition may be improved. There is no time in the individual's life as the early formative years in which to begin the instruction in proper eating habits.

The school lunch program in meeting a definite need in the community—however there is evidence, says Mr. Wesley, of a need for its extension.

In the first year of the Nicholas County Community Chest drive, the school lunch program received $300 in chest funds. This, supplemented by the federal aid of eight cents per lunch, was hardly sufficient to provide free lunches for the most needy children. By contributing to the chest this year in greater amount we can provide more free lunches for our children.

Poster Contest
According to the chest publicity committee the deadline on the poster contest is October 20, at 5 p. m. Entries must be in the county agent's office by 5 p. m. All boys and girls enrolled beginning with the sixth grade and through the 12 grade are eligible contestants. Also a class or a grade as a unit is eligible to submit one or more entries.

To give the contestants a start, the committee suggested posters bringing out some major benefit of a Community Chest. For instance (1) a Chest Drive does away with many smaller drives. One large gift covers all worthwhile community agencies. Time is saved and the people also have the assurance that the work of the receiving agency is approved by the community. Or (2) you might want to show by poster some of the activities which are made possible by chest funds. Did you play at the playground last summer? Do you know of a friend who had a hot lunch daily last year who otherwise might not have had a lunch? In a recent paper there was a list of all agencies who received help last year. Or (3) you might bring out by poster the goodwill, the friendship, and the understanding that exists in a community that goes out to build a chest so that it can help.

There are many, many other ideas—yours may be the winning one—entries will be judged on neatness 25 percent, legibility 25 percent, and thought or meaning 50 percent. Make your poster on regular poster paper. First prize $5, second $3 and third prize $1.50.

Nicholas Native Burns To Death

Charles Alexander, 62, Millersburg, was killed about 8:15 o'clock Saturday night when the car he was driving went out of control and plunged into a parked automobile on East Main street, Paris, exploding into flames.

Burning gasoline made an inferno of the dead man's automobile, and the body was burned beyond recognition before the fire could be extinguished.

Bourbon County Sheriff Reuben Armsparger, who lives near the scene of the accident, was one of the first to arrive at the scene. He said flames from the gasoline which had overflowed into the gutter forced him to give up after several attempts to rescue Alexander.

The Paris Fire Department was called and extinguished the flames after they had enveloped both the dead man's car and a 1950 auto owner by J. B. Stipp of the Iron Works pike.

The body was removed about 45 minutes after the crash.

Paris and state police directed traffic around the accident scene. State Policeman Francis Taylor said an estimated 300 vehicles were halted on U. S. 68 on both sides of the burning autos for more than an hour.

Another automobile, owned by James Eades, which was parked in front of Stipp's car, was damaged slightly in the collision.

Mr. Alexander was a native of Nicholas county, a son of Charles and Mary Anderson Alexander. He had been employed several years at the Sunset Inn in East Paris.
