"68 Club" Organized To Promote Travel

With a representative group of more than 50 residents of Nicholas, Mason and Fleming counties in attendance, organization of the "68 Club" was effected at a meeting held last week at the May's Lick school, and Roy Roberts, well known Washington business man, was selected chairman of a temporary committee.

Other committee members include Vernon Craig, of Nicholas county, Tom Mackey, of Fleming county, and Ivan Mason, of May's Lick. The meeting was presided over by Attorney William S. Kenton of Maysville.

The aim of the organization is to perpetuate historic U. S. Route 68 through Mason and counties to the south and to restore its prestige as a main artery of the "Gateway to the South."

Speakers included H. P. Purnell, former Mason county judge, Ray Parker, ex-mayor of Maysville, Mr. Craig and Miss Pattie Hunter, of Washington. All described the historic value of the highway and stressed the need for improvements of the route.

It was brought out at the meeting that during the last 10 years traffic over this section of U. S. 68 has fallen off 42 per cent.

During the past decade, it was claimed, the highway has been closed from three to five months each year for minor repairs. At present traffic is being detoured through Flemingsburg and Carlisle because a section of U. S. 68 is being surfaced.

The organization will endeavor to enlist the support of all residents of cities and towns along U. S. 68 in an effort to have the route kept open the year around and also to maintain the highway in good repair at all times.

The meeting, marked by keen enthusiasm, was also attended by State Representatives from Nicholas and Robertsen counties.

Reds Meet St. Louis In Labor Day Twinbill

Cincinnati—Just one dozen more games are left before the curtain falls on another season of baseball action in the back yard of Luke Sewell's Cincinnati Reds.

The meat of the Redlegs' remaining home card falls during the week of September 4-10 when the Reds entertain neighbors on the list in a nine game set which includes three double-headers.

A Labor Day twin bill with the St. Louis Cardinals next Monday launches the week's festivities and in that bargain bill the popular Redbirds will be making their first Cincinnati appearance of the season.

The Reds enjoy an off-day on Tuesday (the 5th) before returning to the native sod to entertain the magnetic Ralph Kiner, National League home-run King and his fellow Pittsburgh Buccaneers in a night game Tuesday and a single game the following afternoon.

Frankie Frisch brings his Chicago Cubs in on Friday for a busy weekend schedule of five games in three days leading off with a night, light-night doubleheader. That date (September 8) will be the last on which the Crosley Field lights will be turned on this year. The Cubs will be on hand for a single game Saturday afternoon (ladies' day) and a double-header Sunday the 10th.

Following next week's crowded schedule, the Reds are slated for only three more home games, a season-closing series with the Pirates on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 29, 30 and October 1, all single attendance.

Tickets for any of the Reds' remaining home games are available at the club's ticket office at 303 Vine Street, Cincinnati 2, and may be obtained in advance by mail.

Radar Being Used In Tarffic Division

Radar is being used by the Traffic Division of the Highway Department, it was announced today. Speed limits in congested areas.

The radar device called the "Vision-Master Speed Meter" is a trailer, to which two skies per hour. Speed of every car passing over the road where it is in operation. With the findings of the machine as a basis speed limits will be posted which the majority of drivers on that road think reasonable.

Statistics have shown that 85 per cent of the nation's drivers travel at or below a reasonable speed for the road. The statistics also showed that the driver is not inclined to drive at that speed regardless of the speed limit posted.

A survey of traffic conditions put out by the Civil Engineering Department of the University of Illinois stated, "Most present post-of speed limits are ineffective because they are unreasonable and hence unenforced.

The machine weighs only 45 pounds and can run on a car battery.

House Passes $7,000 Dairy Cattle Bill

The 1950 Kentucky Legislature passed House Bill No. 422, which is an act to aid in the development and promotion of the Purebred Cattle industry in Kentucky. It sets up the Department of Agriculture headed by Commissioner Harry F. Waltjen to aid, encourage, sponsor and supervise the development and the improvement of the Purebred Cattle industry in Kentucky. The bill appropriates money to be used for this purpose under the direction of this Commissioner.

The bill specifies $7,000.00 to be used for promoting Purebred Dairy Cattle, of which $2,000.00 is to be spent for advertising. Representatives of all the breeds of dairy cattle met with the Commissioner and decided to add this $5,000.00 to the State Fair Dairy Show premiums. This money has been well distributed among the breeds of cattle and in both Open and Kentucky classes. This additional money should make the 1950 State Fair Dairy Show the greatest in history and should make the 1951 show even greater.

More and better dairy cattle should be attracted to this show from all sections outside the state of Kentucky. More dairy farmers should be attracted to this show and greater interest in dairy cow improvement should be encouraged. This interest in dairy cow improvement is one of the important avenues to more dairy income of the future and the future of dairying in Kentucky in the years to come. It is expected interested in improving the quality and improvement of dairy herds by using the outstanding sires that are available for this purpose in our state.

Seeing the outstanding cattle at the State Fair Dairy Show is a means of encouraging many dairymen to go home and do a better job.

Chapman Introduces Burley Amendment

Washington, D. C.—In every price ceilings are imposed on Burley and flue-cured tobacco, Kentucky's Burley crop for this year may bring about $19,500,000 more under an amendment to the economic control bill drafted by Senator Virgil Chapman and adopted by the Senate shortly before passage of the measure last week than would be the case if this amendment is eliminated before final passage of the legislation.

Although not included in the Senate committee draft of the bill this amendment was introduced by Senator Burnet R. Maybank, (D.-S. C.) a member of the Banking and Currency Committee which had charge of the measure, with joint sponsorship with Senators Chapman and Willis Robertson (D.-Va.) during the debate, this Maybank - Chapman - Robertson amendment was added in the Senate on a division vote.

Chapman and Senator Robertson today that "this amendment is designed to assure equitable parity prices for all different types of tobacco and growers for the 1950 and 1951 crops and subsequent seasons.

"Much of the flue-cured tobacco already has been sold and marketed at that type will continue to be sold and marketed for the remainder of the year," Chapman pointed out. "The current parity price for approximately six cents above parity. In event ceilings are imposed under this amendment, parity would become the ceiling price.

"This amendment assures that the ceiling heretofore imposed will afford producers of flue-cured tobacco everywhere an opportunity to obtain the same approximate by those who marketed their tobacco in areas where sales were held prior to this act. It obviously would be unfair to hold those who have not sold their flue-cured tobacco to a ceiling lower than the price other growers already have received for tobacco of the same type, and consequently an amendment was prepared by the Department of Agriculture to correct this inequity."

Senator Chapman noted, however, that the amendment as originally prepared by the Department of Agriculture, called for dollar and cent protection to Burley growers, whose parity will not open until late November or early December.

"With the current production of Burley, and the indicated demand for that type tobacco, there is no danger that the parity on original Burley will substantially above parity. Hence, it is now thought as flue-cured parity," he said. These are competitive types and the parity on original Burley will approximate six cents per pound above parity this amendment does not provide for the case without the Under existing law, the Kentucky Senator also explained, dark-fired tobacco and Tennessee tobacco and Virginia air-cured tobacco have a support price equal to two-thirds of the Burley support price, while dark fired-cured Kentucky and Tennessee tobacco has a support equal to three-fourths of the Burley support price.

"This amendment," he added, "will assure that a minimum ceiling on those types of dark tobacco would be the same percentage above the support price as the minimum ceiling for Burley is above the Burle support price."

Present Agriculture Department estimates are over-all Burley production this year are 500,000,000 pounds, including 325,000,000 pounds in Kentucky. Officials

Court Appoints Josephine Campbell To Operate Johnson Memorial Hosp.

She oft-asked question, "What are they going to do with the old hospital?" can now be answered.

At a meeting of the Nicholas Bi-ed court Wednesday afternoon, it was decided that Josephine D. Campbell, RN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Campbell, Myers, would operate the Johnson Memorial hospital, which served Nicholas county since May 1, 1929, until September 1, 1950, as a convalescent hospital as a transfer for and on behalf of the Nicholas fiscal court.

The story of our long and faithful institution begins many years ago . . .

By Mrs. Edna Keller

Back in the early 20's the need of a hospital here had grown to such proportions that civic minded citizens were determined that we have a hospital.

The late Judge I. B. Ross, while serving the late High Magistrate with his will, suggested that Mr. Johnson leave him some of 10 lots on the west side of the street (which formerly belonged to his mother, Mrs. Mary Johnson) to Nicholas County to be used as a hospital.

High Johnson died May 7, 1926. In his will he left his home to be called the Mary Johns Johnson Memorial hospital, after his mother, Mary, and brother, John, who had died in 1925.

But the battle had just begun. the building solved only one problem—financing the costly project became the bridge to gap.

Through this hard time, Paul D. Darnall, and the fiscal court were very much behind the movement to equip a hospital in Nicholas to care for the many patients that we were forced to take to Lexington each week at a high cost to the county and discomfort to the patient.

So, the fiscal court nominated 12 directors from various districts to organize a hospital board, including

Sam T. Howe, R. T. Kirkland, Mrs. Edna Keller, Dr. B. F. Reynolds, Mrs. M. A. Gaunce, E. R. Kendall, John W. Buchanon, Mrs. Mark Kenton, Mrs. Claude Whalen, Mrs. Ben Kenton, Mrs. Ben Kerns, Mrs. H. C. Galbraith, Mrs. Margaret Conley and George Mann. Mrs. W. T. Lee was later added to the board later.

Mrs. Keller was made executive committee was formed to complete construction and financing arrangements. Sam T. Howe was elected chairman; Mrs. Edna Keller, secretary and treasurer; and Dr. B. F. Reynolds, Mr. Kirkland and Judge Darnall served on the board.

A drive to raise funds for the hospital met with great success. Donations as large as $100 were received to purchase necessary equipment. One hundred thirty-fifty citizens promised $10 a year for five years. Many of these are now—

On May 1, 1929, the Johnson Memorial opened its doors to patients with Mrs. Josephine Threlkeld Haight in charge. Nicholas and Mrs. Lee Kelly as superintendent, a position she held until August, 1930.

Mrs. Elsie Greathouse Talbott of Lexington was night nurse and after her resignation, Mrs. Nell Rankin served for many months.

In March, 1937, Dr. C. W. Mathers died leaving an estate valued at $308,904.15. Fifty thousand dollars of that amount consisted a trust fund to be used in whole or in part for the maintenance of a hospital in Carlisle. The fund was known as the Mary Mathers Fund. The interest of this fund has since met many deficits.

Since its opening in 1929, seven women have served as superintendents. Besides Mrs. Haitlip (Mrs. John F.) Miss Effie Lexington, (1930). Miss Doris M. Dahlke (Mrs. Robert Millersburg end and extend to the concrete and traffic routed on this stretch while the Carpenter pike is repaired . . . had news in form of a wrenched knee injury to our boy and Wildcat star, Emery Clark came to us Wednesday morning . . . Owas good to see young Jimmy Williams' name on the list of freshmen football players at UK . . . .

A nice size crowd was on hand Friday night when the Musketeers met Mt. Sterling in a "you-have-the-ball-awhile-then-let-me-have-it" football scrimmage.

Before the game, our 12 or 13 varsity boys and four or five grade school candidates looked mighty few and far between compared to the Trojan squad of some 30 odd gridders.

But as soon as the game got started they made up in spunk and drive what they lacked in sheer number.

When the final whistle blew, the score book showed things all even. CHS had fumbled, Coach Burr "Tiny" Jones' eleven to a 12-12 tie in a better than average practice tilt.

A football ruling which doesn't allow pre-game high school regulation games only gave the spectators a smattering of the green and white's brilliant prowess. Which we may lose a game or so, but the opponents will be in for a fight. Those little boys are game!

Speaking of "Tiny" Jones, he's really a show. From the sidelines he plays harder than his athletes will be at basketball or football.

The tremendous Trojan mentor has something to say about every play, and it usually is worthwhile.

For example, on a play that netted Mr. Sterling a touchdown Friday night, Jones had taken off one of his boys who probably missed a block and didn't say boo to the boy who made the nice 35 touchdown jaunt.

But, they love him and he turns out some mighty fine teams over Montgomery!

The pot grows

This column started it, so it might as well continue!

Someone else will toss in $20 towards building that proposed sign at the end of the concrete to swing a little highway 68 traffic through Carlisle.

Ralph Shearer says he's good for two ten dollar bills. That was Wednesday's post right after the Mercury hit the street.

It seems as though that a few individuals should put out for a project that would benefit everyone in the name of an entire community.

But they'll do it because they realize what those potential dollars that Shearer's prophesied Carlisle all these years will mean to a back-water town?

Regardless of who sponsors the sign, it now seems a must in the planning of Carlisle's Second City's future progress.

Every little helps.

Traffic piled up as a dangerous intersection. Impatient drivers sat on their horns.

A salesman just entering town pulled up behind the line of standstill cars.

Curious to know what the hold up was, he leaned out the window of his car and shouted to the driver of the vehicle just in front of him:

"What's the hold up, there?"

"The guy in the first car, think?"

Not too many weeks back, I talked about the passing of the pot-bellied stoves that used to be a definite feature in the country stores.

The one I had in mind was the "centerpeice", so to speak, at Butler Ritchie's store in Barterville, now known as Donahues.

Much to my surprise, the other day I walked in only to find a group all sitting 'round like in the good old days I've heard so much about.

The hub, however, wasn't the pushed-to-the-rear stove, but a television set that held their attention.

They get mighty good TV reception at Barterville.

About 900 County Students Enrolled

A total of 154 junior and senior high school students registered Tuesday at Nicholas County High for the 1950-51 school year, county superintendent Raymond Swing announced today.

At press time Wednesday no report was available from the Moorefield school. The other five elementary schools, however, had a combined total of 579 students. The enrollment at Moorefield should raise that figure to well over the 600 mark.

Enrollment by schools:

NCHS—high school 154, grades 185; Ellisville, 119; Myers, 95; East Union, 90; Parks, 90.

Some students, engaged in farming have not as yet reported to their schools. It is thought that by next week some 900 students will be in classrooms of the five county schools.

Musketeers Meet Bulldogs Friday Night In Opening CKC Grid Clash

Local dopsters received a pleasant surprise Friday night when they watched a supposedly light and inexperienced Musketeer football squad battle on even terms with the highly regarded Mt. Sterling Trojans in a 12-12 pre-season scrimmage.

The Musketeers, prepping for its opening game in Cynthiana tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock need notice that they will not be pushovers this fall. They have a driving line that took plenty of punishment from the heavier Trojan band and a fast, elusive backfield that likes to run, preferrably unmolested. The manner in which scat back "Doot" Hardin takes off, he's liable to come all the way line several times this fall.

Hardin scored the initial td in the scrimmage, taking a hand off from quarterback Brooks Pitman, circling his own left end and galloping to within inches of the double marker before being hauled down. On the next play the diminutive fullback bulled over.

After the Trojans tied it up several plays later, Pitman took the pass from center, straightened up and fired an ariel to Jim Hughes on the enemy 40. The junior flankman gobbled it in and sped the remaining distance despite would-be Trojan tacklers.

The Musketeers suffered two damaging blows Friday night. Halfback Benny Donovan, counted on to drag down a starting assignment, sustained injuries that will force him to see only limited action this season. Senior end and letterman Billy Joe Morrison received painful charley horses on both legs. He will see service Friday night against Cynthiana if he responds to treatment this week. Coach Tebay Rose said yesterday.

The squad was strengthened somewhat by the announcement that Billy Clark enrolled at CHS Tuesday. Clark, small but fast, has been working out with the Musketeers during the past three weeks and will see action at a guard post or as Donovan's replacement.

Against the Bulldogs, who lost key men on last years team by graduation, Coach Rose will probably start Morrison and Hughes at ends; Kelly and Clark, guards; Owings and Shepherd, tackles; Flora, center; Pitman, quarterback; Booth and Donovan, Clark or Blake, halfbacks and Hardin, tailback.
