Some people have become a little confused about rural Electric Co-operatives—just that they are and how they operate. Here are some facts:

Harrison Rural Electric Cooperative is a PRIVATE BUSINESS ENTERPRISE controlled by its members who are local rural people living in Harrison and seven adjoining counties and who are working together to obtain electric service that was otherwise denied them.

Money to build the line was BORROWED from the Federal Government through REA just as many other private businesses have borrowed through other government agencies.

IT PAYS INTEREST on the loan.

IT IS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE ON RE-PAYMENT OF THE LOAN.

It borrows to use and it borrows to sell. Its former members, but MAIN STREET also by opening a branch now $2,500,000 market in this business area for electric equipment, wiring materials, home improvements and all the things that "household" electrical demands.

Mr. Henry Hale Sterling Ins. Co. Carlisle, Ky.

Dear Mr. Hale:

I hereby insure in you the one and only insurance to have in my family. I know because my family is insured with Sterling. I know because my family had a major operation. Sterling hospital expenses for the past two weeks. They paid most all my Doctor and paid the claim.

I am glad to insure with Sterling Insurance Co. and will recommend it to all my friends.
