Daytime Classic

By VERA WINSTON
WELL-STYLED silk dresses, essentially simple despite interesting detail, make up a nice segment of the season's dress parade. Frocks of this type, such as the one selected, can go through the day from luncheon on, and always look right. Lemon yellow silk shantung is used for this model, with buttons of iridescent blue plastic and a belt of matching French blue suede, for a nice co'or scheme. The flattering neckline is deep, and is cuffed, being buttoned down at the half-way mark. One large tab of the fabric loops over the collar in front. There are pockets at the side front of the six-gored skirt. Matching gloves complete the outfit.
