Carlisle Affected By Potato Shortage

If you see a potato-plant in your yard, you are probably one of the few who are not affected by the potato shortage.

Many growers are not able to produce potatoes because of the shortage of fertilizer.

Some growers are using old fertilizer, which is not as effective as new fertilizer.

Others are using less fertilizer than they should, which also affects the yield.

The shortage of potatoes is expected to continue through the summer months.

Consumers are advised to buy potatoes early and often to avoid shortages.

Some stores are selling potatoes at a premium price due to the shortage.

It is hoped that the shortage will be alleviated by the fall planting season.

Growers are encouraged to use proper fertilization techniques to improve yields.

The potato shortage is a result of several factors, including weather and fertilizer availability.

Consumers should be prepared for higher prices and limited availability of potatoes.
