CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christ Jesus came lighting the way for us, healing the sick and the sinning. That this same truth is present and available to us today will be made clear in the Lesson-Sermon read in Christian Science services next Sunday. The subject is "Christ Jesus."

Selections from the Bible include the following verse from Isaiah 47:14: "Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign. Behold a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel."

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "Christ exemplifies spiritual, eternal nature. The name is synonymous with Truth, and Jesus' words and spirituality which is taught, illustrated, and demonstrated in the life of which Christ Jesus was the embodiment" (P. 333).

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians 4:6: "God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

Bill Power Is Named President Of Community Development Group

The Carlisle-Nicholas County Development Association met Friday night in the courthouse and elected Bill Power, long active in civic affairs, as president of the organization designed to promote Carlisle and Nicholas county.

Mr. O. O. Wolfe, a representative of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, was present and discussed the improvement program with those who attended.

One of the first steps of the organization should be, Mr. Wolfe stated, put out an agricultural survey of Nicholas county. The findings of this survey would be prepared in printed form and distributed locally to be used as a supplement to a sound agricultural program in this county. This service would be given free of charge, Mr. Wolfe said.

Speaking of job opportunities for young people, Mr. Wolfe stated that the people of Carlisle and Nicholas county owed it to their youngsters to make positions available here to keep their young people from having to seek jobs elsewhere.

Temporary Chairman Ralph Shearer presided at the meeting and also gave a short talk to the group. Mr. Shearer stressed that the program of the organization would be county-wide and that it would include several phases of rural improvement.

Bruce Romack, member of the charter committee, reported that a charter for the organization would be drawn as soon as possible after the body became permanent.

Naming of the board of directors of the organization, which will include representatives of all civic groups within the city and county, was postponed until the next meeting September 11.

Nicholas county's first case of polio in 1952 was reported Friday, as the illness of two-year-old Janice Marie Wagoner was diagnosed as polio.

The case was reported by hospital authorities as "light".

She was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital in Lexington Friday for treatment. She became ill Tuesday.

The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagoner of Route 1, near Blue Licks.

Two other children in the home are reported to be all right.

Other parts of Kentucky have been stricken with polio epidemics this year, but Nicholas county had escaped thus far. The fact that the case was described as "light" and that polio is usually on the decline this late in the summer, gave officials of the polio chapter here reason to hope optimistically that there will be no serious polio problem here this year.

Over 1,000 Students Expected In County Schools Monday

An estimated 1,050 county students are expected to enroll in the county system's six school districts and high school when the 1952-53 term begins Monday, September 8.

Of this number 265 are expected to enter the Nicholas County high school, which includes the last five grades, and around 795 pupils are expected to enter the rural grade schools.

Both grade and high schools will convene for enrollment of pupils Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock and classes before noon. Classwork will begin Tuesday and lunch will be served.

Eighteen school busses will be in operation to carry the county students to and from school on regularly scheduled routes.

The Nicholas County school system's teaching staff is practically intact from last year with only a few changes being listed.

Biggest change in the high school ranks will be the appointment of a new principal, Howard Moore, which was announced several weeks ago, is that of Miss Isabelle Knight who will teach English, succeeding John Scanlon.

A substitute teacher in home economics will be appointed later this week, according to Superintendent Raymond J. Wesley, to teach until Miss Jewell Dorse Ellis returns from Israel, where she has spent the past few months as an exchange student. Miss Ellis is expected back around the last of October.

Buildings Repaired

According to Mr. Wesley all of the buildings in the county system have been repaired and the floors have been cleaned, sealed and waxed.

The tool house near the high school has been altered for use as a farm shop for the agricultural department and the equipment has been moved to the new quarters.

The farm shop has a complete set of tools and equipment for wood-working, a unit of mechanics, welding, blacksmithing, carpentering and general repair. The farm shop will be used in instructing both the agriculture department and the trainees of the Veterans Training Program.

Mr. Wesley stated that the Veterans Program now had some 75 members in three classes and that Korean veterans are eligible to enter the training under the New GI Bill which was passed recently.

A. J. Thaxton, Foster Pumphrey and Otis Adams are instructors of the Veterans Program.

Teachers Increase Training

According to Mr. Wesley 19 of the 26 elementary teachers have increased their training either by summer school or extension work during the past year. The present term and Mr. Wesley added that this should make them better trained to do a better job of teaching. He stated that he believed that this was an excellent record for any school system and doubted that it would be surpassed by many school systems in the state.

Council Enters Into Agreement To Obtain Gas Consulting Engineer

The City Council met in regular session Tuesday night and transacted business which had been piled up upon them during the past two months.

Biggest item on the night's agenda was the hiring of the Power-line Construction Company of Stanton as a consulting engineer for the city gas distribution system.

Under a gentleman's agreement adopted between the city and this company the company will correct faults of the city gas system, lay meters and help in various other technical ways in the maintenance and operation of the city-owned system.

The service will cost $2 per connected consumer plus a small charge for servicing faulty meters. Brooks Henson, local gas supervisor, reported that 193 meters were now in Carlisle and he expected some 75 more to hook on before January 1.

Also approved at the council meeting was the installation of a series of telephones in the homes of volunteer firemen which will ring simultaneously in four or five places when a fire is reported.

The installation of the telephone is scheduled to start immediately.

The Carlisle Police Department asked the council for a patrol cruiser to help cut the speeding within the city limits. They also asked for speeding signs to be placed on each end of Main street, with a 25 mile per hour speed limit in town and that would be strictly enforced. The police department also asked about parking meter repair. These items were referred to the police committee with the power to act.

The council approved a policy suggestion that prisoners who didn't pay their fines were to work it out while in the city jail.
