Begins At Home

It has been said that "well conservation is good farm management, and results in additional income with a minimum of effort and expense. Good farm management is not only for farmers and others of this generation, but also for generations to come."

Many people think of soil conservation solely in terms of some regional projects which are being conducted by the government. But the fact is that this is the most effective and productive soil and water conservation that has been conducted in this country.

Soil conservation work such as this, on any well equipped farm, is not only possible, it is profitable. It is a fact that the soil is being used in present day farm machinery. It is a fact that the soil is being used in present day farm machinery.
