Paul's Conversion at Damascus

JESUS APPEARED TO HIM, ASKING, "WHY PERSECUTEST THOU ME?"

Scripture—Acts 7:58—8:3; 9:1-31; 22:1-21; Galatians 1:1; Philippians 3:1-6.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

NEXT WEEK—April 13-19—is National Sunday School Week, sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, Inc., the members of which "believe that the Sunday school is a great influence for good and that the training and inspiration which it gives to our boys and girls makes them better people and helps prepare for the responsibilities they will face as adults."

Today's lesson should give our young people something to think over because it tells of a fine, well-educated man who was obsessed by one idea—to destroy as quickly as possible a new religious movement which, he thought, was with a new religion that threatened to supersede the old Jewish religion in which he had been carefully trained.

Converted to the new faith, however, he had the courage to espouse the cause with all the youthful enthusiasm he had shown before in fighting it, breaking with his old associates and fearlessly facing hatred, persecution and martyrdom.

We first see Paul watching impassively—if not with pleasure—the stoning of that splendid martyr, St. Stephen, whose face, at his trial, was "as it had been the face of an angel." He did not join in the stoning, but "Saul was consenting unto his death," and the maddened rabble laid down their clothes at his feet.

Then Saul, "breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest, and asked them for letters to the synagogues at Damascus, so that he might search out any Christians that city—men or women—and bring them bound to Jerusalem.

On his journey to Damascus, coming near the city, "suddenly there shined around about him a light from heaven." Saul fell to the earth and he heard a voice saying, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou Me?"

"Who art Thou, Lord?" Saul asked, trembling and astonished. "What wilt Thou have me do?"

And the answer was: "Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do."

When Saul rose, he was blind. His companions led him to the city where he was three days without sight, and neither ate nor drank.

In Damascus lived a disciple of Jesus named Ananias, and he had the Lord in a vision. He was told to go into the street called Straight, and ask in a certain house for "one called Saul of Tarsus, for, behold, he prayeth."

Ananias had heard of this man who had made himself a terror to Christians, so he was a little

TODAY'S Menu

Stuffed Baked Halibut Steak

By ALICE DENBOFF

FISH stories today, starting off with Baked Halibut Steak, with a wonderful stuffing and tangy sauce.

To serve 5, use 2 (10-oz.) halibut or salmon steaks, and sprinkle both sides with ½ tsp. salt and dash of pepper. Place one steak in a greased baking pan. Pare stuffing on fish, then cover with the other fish steak. Fasten together with toothpicks. Brush top with one tbsp. melted butter. Bake at 350° F. for 45 minutes. Serve with hot sauce

Lemon Bread Stuffing

To prepare the lemon bread stuffing, melt 1½ tbsp. shortening in skillet; add 3 tbsp. chopped onion and ¼ c. chopped celery. Sauté until tender. Pour over 1½ c. toasted ½-inch bread cubes, adding ½ tsp. grated lemon rind, tsp. lemon juice, ½ tsp. salt and ⅛ tsp. sage. Add 2 tbsp. milk or water, and mix thoroughly.

To make the tomato horseradish sauce, combine a No. 1 can condensed tomato soup and ½ cup prepared horse-radish in small saucepan. Heat. Add a 3-oz. can button mushrooms, if desired.

Tuna Loaf

A meat loaf is just call to many folk, but Tuna Loaf draws many a compliment, we've found.

For 6-8 servings, combine one quart soft bread crumbs, one c. milk, a No. 1 can condensed mushroom soup, 2 beaten eggs, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. paprika, 2 (7-oz.) cans tuna (flaked) and ¼ c. chopped pimiento. Bake in greased 1½-quart loaf pan in 350° F. oven for 45 minutes.

Tuna Fish Soufflé is another quite unusual fish dish, and a tasty one at that.

Heat 1½ c. top milk (or part top milk, part evaporated milk) with 2 tbsp. butter. Mix 2½ tsp. flour with enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Add to hot mix, stirring until mixture thickens.

Cod or Halibut

Add 1½ c. boiled cod or halibut (skinned, boned and broken into small bits), dash of cayenne, ¼ tsp. nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste. Cook slightly, then add 4 egg yolks, beating in one at a time.

About 45 minutes before dinner is to be served, beat egg whites until they are very stiff; then fold into mixture carefully. Pour into greased baking dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Set in pan of hot water and bake at 350° F for 20 to 30 minutes until soufflé has risen and is delicately brown. Serve promptly with egg sauce, cheese sauce or cold, heated can of undiluted cream of mushroom soup.

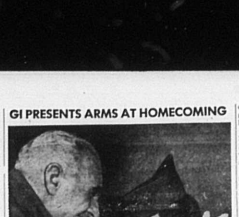
GI PRESENTS ARMS AT HOMECOMING



IT'S A VERY DIFFERENT "exit to army" that awaits Pfc. Joseph Wild, of Elizabeth, N.J., as he is welcomed by overjoyed parents at Ewing Township, N.J., Army Base. He was one of the 2,238 Korean war veterans to return on the transport General William Weigel. (International)

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

That God does not create sin, sickness and death, but delivers from all evil, will be explained at Christian Science services next Sunday. The Lesson-Sermon is "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?"

Selections from the Bible include the following from Habakkuk (1: 12, 13): "Are not thou from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One? We shall not die. Thou art of purer eyes than to behold evil, and canst not look on iniquity."

Among the correlative passages is the following from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures": "God created all through Mind, and made all perfect and eternal." (p. 205).

The Golden Text is taken from Proverbs (12: 28): "In the way of righteousness is life; and in the pathway thereof there is no death."

LITTLE ROCK

By Mrs. Perry Vice

"What of the Future" was the sermon topic used by Rev. M. J. Dick Easter Sunday at the Little Rock Christian church. A very large crowd attended the service.

JOYOUS WELCOME FOR RETURNING KOREAN HEROES

CARRYING "WELCOME HOME" BANNERS, thousands of relatives and friends crowd the dock at the Brooklyn Army Base as the transport General William Weigel comes to berth with 2,238 Korean veterans aboard. They are the first to return directly to the East Coast from Japan and New York staged a gala celebration. The signs carried such messages as "Hello, Sour Puss" and "Welcome Wonja Willie."

What Is An Acre Foot Of Water Worth?

An acre foot of water is the amount of water required to cover an acre of land to a depth of one foot. In the western states where irrigation dates back to June 24, 1947 when the Normandy dissolved the sewers of City Creek in the Salt Lake Valley and defeated Nature's forces in a desert. Since that day over 24 million acres have been irrigated in 17 western states.

It is estimated that an acre foot of water in these western states can produce $80 worth of crops at present prices. If it is falling from mountain streams it can also produce on the average of 2,000 kilowatts of power—enough to light 15 homes for a month and worth at retail $40. To a city for industrial and municipal uses, and at a rate of 15 cents per 1,000 gallons, it would be worth $45.

Uncontrolled, this same water contributes to the flood damage history with which we are too familiar. Sprinkler irrigation in Kentucky is somewhat a new practice recommended by the Soil Conservation Service. The Extension Service and your local Soil Conservation District. It has increased burley tobacco in 1951 on 11 farms in Kentucky an average of 588 pounds per acre with an average selling price of 4 cents per pound according to Earl G. Welch, Extension Agricultural Engineer of the Extension Service.

Here, an acre foot of water in a lake or stream, the amount recommended for an acre of tobacco, is worth $294 on increased yield of $160 on a 2,000 pound per acre yield on selling price.

Mrs. Mildred Stemler's farm in the Robertson County Soil Conservation District, Herbert Reed, her Farm Manager, reports a yield of 2,224 pounds per acre on 3 acres where two 1-inch applications applied in 1951. Another area of 5.88 acres of equal fertility received a 1-inch application because of shortage of water yielded 1,775 pounds per acre. The plot receiving no irrigation water made a yield of 1,289 pounds per acre on 2.4 acres.

Irrigation on truck crops, pastures and meadows will also pay good dividends.

Does it pay to irrigate? It did in 1951-52 and with our normal dry periods, it will in 1953.

If you are interested in irrigating your crops see the Supervisors of the Nicholas County Soil Conservation District or M. W. Belt, SCS technician working with your local conservation district.
