Rat Campaign To Open Monday; Bait Will Be On Sale Saturday

Another war on rats campaign will open in Carlisle and Nicholas county Monday, April 20.

Sponsored this Spring by the Carlisle-Nicholas County Development Association, the rat campaign will be handled by John Adams, Joe Fultz, Bill Straw and Bill Kirby, the quartet which conducted a rat extermination program here last fall, estimated to have killed about 65 percent successful.

Experts on the local rat population say that now is the time to strike the hardest at the rodents, as they are coming out of their winter quarters.

The same bait as was used last fall—warfarin, mixed with corn meal—will be offered for sale at 8 a.m. Saturday in front of the Carlisle Drug Co. The bait has been packaged in three pound bags and will sell for $1.50 each.

Last Two Weeks

One package will last two weeks, according to John Adams, co-chairman of the campaign. According to him, a bait station should be placed where rats are known to be, and as the rodents eat the bait, the stations should be refilled. The bait being used in this campaign is not a quick killer and therefore is highly successful as the rats will keep coming back for more until their greed kills them. The bait is tasteless, and, according from six to 22 in a litter. This high productivity keeps rats increasing at an alarming rate, calling for a constant program for their elimination.

According to health officials, rats are transmitters of some of the worst diseases of present day time, including the dreaded bubonic plague.

Everyone in both city and county is urged to cooperate in this campaign for the elimination of rats. Last fall's campaign proved to be no signing-up period. All who wished to join the program did so up their bait any time Saturday in front of the Carlisle Drug Co.

Tax Roll Open For Inspection By Taxpayers

Every taxpayer in Nicholas county will have an opportunity to inspect the tax assessment roll for this year, Tax Commissioner John Anderson announced today.

As provided by Kentucky law, the property tax roll will be open for inspection from April 15 to May 1. Any taxpayer may visit the tax commissioner's office and check his own assessment as well as comparing it with others in the county.

Commissioner Anderson strongly urges every taxpayer who possibly can to take advantage of the inspection period. This is the only way to be sure the assessment is correct. Some taxpayers have had to pay taxes they did not rightfully owe because of their failure to take advantage of the inspection period.

May Appeal

Anyone who feels that his assessment is higher or lower than that on other like property in county may appeal to the board of supervisors. The appeal must be filed in writing with County Clerk John T. Sugg before May 1. Appeal for a review may also be made by the tax commissioner, Department of Revenue, county judge, chief finance officer of any city using the county assessment or the supervisor of any school district in which the property is located. The board of supervisors may raise or lower individual assessments on which appeals have been made in order to equalize them.

The inspection period is a safeguard for the taxpayer," Commissioner Anderson said, "and I urge each one to take advantage of it for his own benefit."

City Council Decides Ways To Increase Water Supply

Governing Body Also Decides To Let Bids For Surfacing Portion of Heyman Avenue

Action to increase the water supply for the city of Carlisle was taken at a meeting of the city council Monday night.

The council decided on four steps to increase the present supply. They were:

1) Raise the spillway in the lower dam one foot.

2) Raise the spillway in the upper dam one foot.

3) Grout the leaks in the upper dam.

4) Clean out the silt in the upper lake.

An unofficial estimate as to the overall cost of these projects would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000. Mayor W. C. Talbert, at the meeting Monday, stated that he thought the city had enough money to pay for this work without floating a bond.

The council agreed to advertise for bids for this work at their regular meeting in May. This the council will probably start in the early summer.

The four steps mentioned above would increase the city's supply an estimated—million gallons.

Street To Be Surfaced

The council also agreed at the meeting Monday night to let bids at their May meeting for the surfacing of Heyman avenue, where the blacktop leaves off in that section.

Garbage Collection

At the meeting Mayor Talbert appointed Bob Coatney, chairman of the Carlisle-Nicholas County Development Association's sanitation committee, as a "committee of one" to contact persons interested in making a regular pickup of the garbage and trash in both residential and business districts in the city.

County Attorney Charles Cox was present at the meeting and told the council that a possible dump site might be found at the Nicholas County rock quarry, located about two miles from town on Highway 36.

Cox told the governing body that the county bulldozer could be used in a landfill method of disposing of the city's trash and garbage. Cox stated that he had brought the subject before the Nicholas County Fiscal Court and that that group seemed to be in favor of the idea as long as it wouldn't interfere with the operations of the quarry.

Daylight Saving Time

Rex Smoot and Frank Stone appeared before the council to ask whether or not the city was going on daylight saving time this year. The council informed the two local businessmen that changing of the time was wholly out of their jurisdiction, under the new law passed at the last session of the state legislature.

Thus, there will be no official daylight saving time here this summer. Some businesses are expected to open earlier this summer, though, to take care of the trade that commutes to work in daylight saving areas.
