FOR KENTUCKY FOLKS
by Wm. C. Johnstone
AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE
KENTUCKY BANKERS ASSOCIATION

August, to many good Kentucky farmers, is another "month of decision." Their decision in this month, and their actions in carrying out these decisions, will determine their acreage of small grain and winter legumes, and will have a large effect upon their supply of hay and pastures in 1954. Important, also are decisions on tobacco practices, such as priming, harvesting and curing.

* * * *

Ripe tobacco cures better, weighs more and sells higher than unripe tobacco. Russell Hunt—"Mr. Tobacco" to most of us—often recommends a week fishing trip for those who state the contagious esteem of cutting tobacco before it is ripe. Priming the lower leaves helps the top ones to mature and lessens the danger of overcrowding. And, speaking of tobacco harvest, a pile of coke near the barn door, where it can be used when needed, is good insurance against houseburn.

* * * *

Alfalfa seeding time is here again. Late summer seeding of alfalfa in Kentucky is satisfactory if certain practices are observed. The sooner the seed is sowed after August 10, the more apt the crop is to survive the first winter. Here are the important practices to follow in establishing good stands; 1) Select a well drained, sweet soil; 2) Use a liberal amount of phosphate and potash fertilizer and 20 lbs. of borax; 3) Sow on a firm, compact seedbed; 4) Inoculate seed and, 5) Use a good variety such as Atlantic, Ranger or Buffalo. In a good practice, also, to sow a light seeding of timothy, grome or orchard grass with alfalfa.

* * * *

Broomsedge time is also here! Now is the time to start eradicating that pest. Broomsedge does best on acid soils, low in phosphate or potash, or both. The way to fight it is to supply plant foods needed for the production of good grasses and legumes. Some broomsedge fields may need seed bed preparation and new seeding as well as fertilization, but others can be renovated simply by fertilizing with a good mixed fertilizer and using a mowing machine.

* * * *

Bulbo rye is the best small grain for early seeding where fall pastures are needed. It does better on soils of low fertility, stands hot weather better and is more resistant to the Hessian Fly than other small grains. Kenbar barley is one of the best small grains for feed, or seed production. Yields of 40 to 60 bushels are commonplace in Kentucky.

* * * *

Perry county led the state in tree planting this year with 400 thousand seedlings being set. Estill and McCreary county lead the state in the proportion of land covered with forest growth. Each have 92 percent of their area classified as forest land, followed closely by Harlan county with 91 percent.

Requests to be studied include $400,000 for a women's dormitory, $75,000 for electrical facilities to serve a men's dormitory and six new fraternity houses; $178,000 to repair buildings at the Experiment Farm, Lexington, and the Substation farm, Princeton, and for painting of four men's dormitories.

WILL SEND POLICE

Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby promised to send State Police into Campbell County to shut down gambling and vice operations provided there is a resumption of the illicit operations in the community.

A Federal Court jury had expressed fear that with adjournment of the federal court term there might be a resumption of activities.

"If they do attempt to reopen, I shall not hesitate to declare an emergency and send the police in to clean up the situation," Governor warned.

SUBJECT TO REARREST

A pardoned prisoner is subject to rearrest at any time prior to his incarceration to full citizenship rights, Franklin Circuit Judge William H. Ardery ruled in construing Kentucky's parole laws.

The Jurist upheld contentions advanced by the State Department of Welfare that parole officials could be arrested even though they had been out of prison for many years on a comparatively short sentence.

STATE BOARD NAMED

Members of the State Board of Election Commissioners for the coming year were named by Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby. W. M. Hughes, Morganfield, was reappointed as Democratic member and Harold Marquette, Louisville, was named as Republican member to succeed James P. Miller, Louisville, whose name was not on this year's list of recommendations. Third member of the panel is Acree Austin, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, who is chairman by virtue of his office. The State Board names members of the County Boards of Registration and Purgation as well as County Boards of Election Commissioners.

PARK RULING GIVEN

Fiscal Courts may establish county parks within their respective boundaries, but support of such projects must not cause the total levy to exceed the 50-cent limit for county purposes fixed by the Constitution, in the opinion of Assistant Attorney General M. B. Holifield.

WILL NOT TAX SCHOOLS

The Attorney General's office ruled that public schools may not be assessed ad valorem taxes.

Fast Work Needed In Freezing Corn

Step lively when you freeze corn if you want to avoid an off-flavor is the advice of Miss Florence Imlay, UK food specialist, but emphasized that corn is best when it is taken from the garden, and spoiling takes place quickly. Care should be taken not to cut off more than can be used at once for it should not stand about before it goes through the processes of freezing.

Directions for freezing corn and other vegetables, fruits, eggs and baked goods are included in Circular 598, "Storing Foods in Freezer Lockers." It is available from your home agent or the Experiment Station at Lexington.

Paint Lick, Ky., was established in 1782 and so named because the first settlers found Indian symbols painted in bright colors on trees and stones along the creek and around the nearby salt lick.

CAPITAL ROUNDUP

CONTRACTS AWARDED

The State Department of Highways awarded contracts for improvement of 150 miles of road to cost $1,599,761 in Boone, Daviess, Garrard, Madison, Taylor, Bullitt, Graves, Calloway, Green, Jefferson, Perry, Pike, Todd, Trimble, Webster, Kenton, Adair, Allen, Estill, Fleming Mason, Floyd and Letcher Counties.

'LOWEST AND BEST'

Assistant Attorney General John B. Browning ruled that public works contracts in Kentucky must be awarded to the "lowest and best bidder" but that certain items may be awarded without submission for public bidding. Among these he cited:

Sewage Commission contracts in first class cities for less than $500, contracts for less than $2,500 for a bridge in second class cities and purchases of supplies or equipment from the Federal Government in any city.

RULING MADE

A coroner is not authorized to have a deputy except in a county with 200,000 population or more in Kentucky—a condition existing only in Jefferson County—it was ruled by Assistant Attorney General Walter C. Hendrick.

* * * *

CONTRACT AWARDED

The State Property and buildings Commission awarded its first contract for construction of a district office of the Department of Economic Security at Pikeville. The contract went to Pyronin Construction Company, Evansville, for a one-story brick and tile building to cost $95,182.

STUDY TO BE MADE

Housing needs at the University of Kentucky will be studied by a subcommittee of the State Properties and Buildings Commission, causing a temporary delay in all construction requests above the $502,000 men's dormitory to be financed through a revenue-bond issue.

State Checking Occupational Tags

A state-wide compliance check of occupational licenses and cooperated vending machine licenses is being made by field representatives of the Kentucky Department of Revenue. The investigation is a part of the department's policy of increasing its current tax compliance program.

Occupational licenses for restaurants, retail outlets for soft drinks or ice cream, billiard or pool tables, bowling alleys, and retailers or wholesalers of tobacco products must be obtained annually from county court clerks by July 1. Failure to obtain a license results in a penalty and a fine.

All coin-operated vending machines, which also afford amusement or music, require a $10 license stamp obtained annually from the Department of Revenue, here, or its field offices also before July 1.

The stamp is required before the machine is placed in service, and is affixed permanently to the machine. A penalty and a fine result from failure to have the stamp.

WHEAT ACREAGE UP

Farmers in Trigg county harvested 14,272 acres of wheat, with an estimated total production of 234,000 bushels. This compares to a harvested acreage of 11,000 in 1952, 65,000 in 1948, 114,000 in 1945, 56,000 in 1935. The production this year probably exceeds that of 1900, when a record of 11,000 acres was planted, according to UK County Agent Keith Walker.

UK Field Days To Show Many Types Of Feed

Hybrid corn, alfalfa, sorghum and Sudan grass that boost feed production and profits for stockmen will be among crops seen at the annual agronomy field days at the UK Experiment Station at Lexington August 13 and 14.

The experimenters are trying to develop hybrid corns with good root system, strong stalks, ears and resistance to diseases and insects.

Fourteen varieties of sorghum used for molasses are being tested; also some used for silage, molasses and silage, and still others grown for forage and grain. Planted June 6-8, the sorghums have made good growth.

Alfalfa hay is the most productive hay grown in Kentucky, if the soil is good and the right variety grown. Atlantic, Ranger and Buffalo are good varieties.

Some kinds of Sudan grass at the Experiment Station yield more than two tons of forage an acre. The top yielder is Piper, followed in order by Trudan and Sweet.

Clovers to be seen August 13 and 14 include Kenland, red, alsike and crimson. Kenland has produced near three tons of hay and acre.

The dendrometry exhibit will be one feature of the fall field days. The latest models of corn pickers, plows, hartrows, seeders, combines, sorghum silage makers and other machinery will be on display.

Report Is Made On Certified Seed

The Kentucky Seed Improvement Association reports certification of 24,222 acres of Kentucky 31 fescue seed for 552 growers. Production is estimated at 2,664 pounds an acre or a total of over seven million pounds. Reports from the state's seed certification division's acreage will be only about 40 percent of the 1952 acreage.

Twenty-nine growers of Kenkind clover in Kentucky have certified 609 acres. This clover is said to be "very popular not only in Kentucky but in many other states."

The association says the acreage of burley tobacco for certification will be about the same as last year, and that there should be an adequate supply of seed if the season is favorable.

East Union Church Making Revival Plans

The East Union Christian church is making great preparation for the coming revival services which will be led by the Rev. Gilbert I. Counts, Pastor-Evangelist of the Christian church of Ky. The meeting will be August 9 thru 16, at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

Mr. Counts has come to our state from a successful record of five years as evangelist of W. Va. Reports from every church where he has held a meeting in our state are high in their praise of the forceful presentation in which he delivers his message. The many new members which he received into the life of the church, and the new strength which he gives to the whole church program appeals to the leadership of the church.

Special music will be featured at each service and a special invitation has been extended to members of other churches to attend the meetings. The following are some topics which he will use: "Eternal Love," "Earthen Vessels," The Devil's Black Market," "Turn Northward," "The Terrified Ruler," "We Believe It Still."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Through the revelation of Spirit, God, we gain the understanding that leads to true spirituality and Godlike qualities. This will be the topic of next Sunday's services in all Christian Science services. Subject of the Lesson-Sermon is "Spirit."

The following selections from the Bible will be read: "Teach me to do Thy will; for Thou art my God: Thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness." (Psalm 143:10)

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following: "Spirit being God, there is but one Spirit, for there can be but one infinite and therefore one God. There are neither spirits many nor gods many. There is no evil in Spirit, because God is Spirit." (pp. 334,335)

The Golden Text is taken from I Corinthians (2:12): "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God."

Fifteen acres of strawberries were set in Rowan county this spring, and indications are for a sizable increase next year.

A southeastern states college fellowship for outstanding work in agricultural extension has been won by James K. Stacey, University of Kentucky extension agent in Jackson county. The Frank K. Pierce Foundation has granted him $2,000 plus tuition fees for a year's study.

Mr. Stacey was in the military forces three and a half years in Africa, Sicily and Italy. He entered extension work in 1945, serving first in Pike county before going to Jackson county, in 1950. He is planning to study at Colorado A & M College toward a master's degree in extension education.

UNIVERSITY PRESS RELEASES NEW BOOK

Dr. Lawrence S. Thompson, director of libraries at the University of Kentucky, and Mrs. Thompson are authors of a new volume released last week by the University of Kentucky Press. The book, "The Kentucky Novel," contains and annotated listing of more than 400 full-length novels which have settings in Kentucky. According to Bruce Denbo, director of the University Press, the work also treats dime novels and juvenile fiction in separate sections. This volume traces fiction writings of Kentucky from Gilbert Imlay, who wrote "The Emigrants" in 1793, to Henry Giles, who published "Harbin's Ridge" in 1951.

Fall Is Good Time To Start Pastures

Late summer and early fall are good times to start new pastures, says Dr. E. U. Fergus of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

He advises good preparation of seedbeds on fertile land, with applications of limestone and fertilizers. Most Kentucky land needs two to three tons of ground limestone an acre to grow good grass. Also some land needs phosphate. If in doubt about fertility, see a county agent about soil tests.

Sow at least one grass and one legume, Fergus suggests. It is better to use two of each. Sow 15 to 25 pounds of seed an acre uniformly and cover lightly.

Grazing should be moderate the first year. "Never undergraze or overgraze," farmers are advised. Bad fescue pastures should be top-dressed every few years with enough fertilizer to add at least 25 pounds each of phosphoric acid and potash an acre a year.

If pasture sod becomes thin, farmers are advised to fertilize, disk, harrow and reseed. Don't graze the reseeded pasture for several weeks, or until the new grass has made good growth.

FLOCKS PAYS OFF

H. C. Spillman and Son, Graves county, raised 104 lambs from 88 ewes. They sold 73 lambs for $1,604 and have 31 left to sell later this season. Adding proceeds from wool will give them a gross income of about $3,000 from the flock, when the rest of the lambs are sold, according to County Agent Wilson R. Hoover. The Spillmans also make money buying light lambs and feeding them on pasture.

Over the past decade, the number of tractors on Kentucky farms has risen from 11,927 to approximately 59,183.

Carriers Must Report Serious Accidents

Kentucky laws require that all motor carriers report to the Motor Transportation Department accidents resulting in death or serious injury within five days following the occurrence, State Commissioner of Motor Transporation John M. Kinnaird reminded the carriers today.

He called attention of all motor carriers, operating under state authority, to the provision because of the failure of many to file approved state reports.

Kinnaird attributed failure of many file to lack of information and urged filing of reports in the future.

Carriers include any person who "owns, controls, operates, manages or leases-except persons leasing to authorized carriers-any vehicle for transportation of persons for hire upon any highway, including common and contract carriers, city and suburban buses and driveaways," Kinnaird said.

Hot, Humid Days May Bring Mildew

Watch out for mildew when days are hot and humid warns Miss Verna Latzke, clothing specialist at the University of Kentucky. A closet which is not well ventilated invites this fungus growth, and it may be found on garments, on or leather shoes or bags stored there.

A simple preventive is to frequently set an electric fan in the closet doorway to thin the air and remove some of the moisture, or leave an electric light burning there. A wide-mouthed open jar of calcium chloride set on the floor will take up dampness, but must be replenished as it becomes moist.

If mildew is discovered, sun, air and brush the garment. Dry-clean those that cannot be washed or sponged. Soap and water, followed by sundrying, will remove light stains. On more stubborn ones on white fabrics moisten the spots, then apply lemon juice and salt and lay the garment in the sun. Sodium perborate is safe to use on white fabrics. On colored, first try it on an unexposed part. Use 1 tablespoon of the borate to 1 pint of warm water, or sprinkle it directly on the moistened spot. Let stand a minute or two, then rinse well.

Tea and Fruit Juice Combine In Refreshing Summer Drinks

By ALICE DENHOFF

IF there's any summer beverage you can count on to quench the thirst that comes with hot, mid, hot weather, it's iced tea, the wonderful drink that was introduced to this country nearly 50 years ago.

Here are a few variations on iced tea, ideal with a party, or just to make the family cool and happy. Tea Grape-Punch first, 2 quarts of a wonderful thirst-quencher.

Tea-Grape Punch

In a saucepan, bring 2 c. water to a full, rolling boil. Remove from heat. Immediately add 2 tbsp. tea; brew 3 to 5 minutes; stir and strain tea into container holding 2 c. cold water, and 1 c. sugar; stir until dissolved. Add 1½ c. pineapple juice, ½ c. grape juice, ½ c. lemon juice. Serve over ice cubes and garnish with lemon slices.

Next, another delightful drink, a tangy Tea-Cranberry Punch.

For this, proceed to prepare tea as outlined above. Strain te into container holding 1 c. cold water. Add ¾ c. sugar and stir until dissolved. Add 2 c. cranberry juice, 1½ c. orange juice and 3 tbsp. lemon juice. Chill and pour ice cubes and garnish with orange slices.

Refreshing Combination

For the final variation of iced tea and fruit juices, a refreshing combination, bring 2 quarts freshly drawn water to a full, rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 4 tbsp. tea. Brew 3 to 5 minutes and strain tea into container holding one quart of cold water. Add ½ c. each lemon juice, orange juice and pineapple juice, and then, stirr grated orange and lemon rind. Add sugar if desired. Serve ice cubes.

To dress up a tall glass of iced tea, it's good to add mint, orange or lemon when you fill the ice cube tray in your refrigerator. The cubes add flavor to the tea as they melt.
