Lt. (J. G.) Jack Bowen, USN, has returned to Bainbridge, Md., after spending a three-weeks vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bowen of near Myers. This fall Jack will take a position teaching history at the United States Naval Academy Preparatory School at Bainbridge.

Extensive Training Exercise

Irrigation, the latest thing in modern farming, has come to Nicholas county with this tobacco season.

Three irrigation systems are now in operation on various parts of the county. Dr. Edie Asbury's "Forest Retreat" farm probably installed the first irrigation project in the county, while George Guffin and Charles Law have recently acquired irrigation systems.

Revolving Sprinklers

Law's system puts 400 gallons of water per minute on an acre of tobacco or other crop. There are 12 such revolving sprinklers as shown in the picture lining the middle of the tobacco field. This system puts on four tenths of an inch of water an hour on the entire acre. It is usually left on between three and five hours for each acre.

The water is piped from a nearby pond with a pump powered by a 23 horse power motor. It runs through a light weight 3-inch aluminum pipe which comes in 20 foot sections and can be easily carried from one field to another.

The sections fit together easily and only a few minutes are required to get the pipe together and start irrigating.

Besides using the system on his tobacco, Law also waters down his nursery, and other crops when water is needed.

In some sections of Kentucky where irrigation was used during an entire tobacco growing season, increased yields per acre netted upwards to $500.

However, as with anything else, irrigation can be overdone. County Agent Bill Straw said that the formula generally used for irrigating tobacco is that if it doesn't rain, for a week, irrigate the crop. Then wait a week and if it doesn't rain, use it again. In this way the tobacco does not get too much water.

Kentucky PTA Leader Tells Group Of Origin

The Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers conducting a series of six leadership training institutes throughout the state met in Richmond August 18 at Eastern Kentucky Teachers College.

A welcome was extended to the district and local officers by Mrs. N. O. Kimbler, Frankfort, in which she pointed out that the Kentucky Parent Teacher Association was organized by Miss Lida Gardner of Carlisle.

Mrs. Kimbler briefly reviewed the work of the importance of cooperation between parents and teachers for better education.

Speakers for the institute were Mrs. James Sherbutt, Danville, president of the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mr. Ellis Henson and Dr. Lyman Ginger.

Attending the institute from Carlisle were Mrs. H. C. Caswell, president of the Carlisle P.T.A., and Mrs. Thomas C. Johnson, seventh District extension chairman.

Foxhunters Meet Here Oct. 13-16

According to Roger Womack, local attorney, plans are being formulated for the 1953 annual hunt of the Central Kentucky Foxhunter's association which will be held this year on the Clay Farm.

Carlisle and Nicholas county are to be hosts to the sportsmen who will gather here October 13-16. The week will be given over to a bench show, square and round dances in addition to the daily day-break casts of the hounds at the 4,750-acre hunting grounds.

Nicholas county is recognized by foxhunters, in general, as one of the best fields in the nation.

Carlisle merchants will probably be asked to carry out the sportsmen hunting theme in their treatment of show windows during the October meet.

The last fox hunt held at the Clay farm was in October, 1948.

Cowan Receives Superior Rating

Dr. G. T. Cowan, Carlisle, received unusual distinction recently in regard to his service to the Bracken Association of Baptists in Kentucky. According to J. P. Edmunds, secretary of the Department of Survey Statistics and Information of the Southern Baptist Convention, Dr. Cowan's secretarial work for 1952 was rated superior.

Dr. Cowan, associational clerk, was one of six who received the superior rating out of the eighty associations in Kentucky.

Included in the information compiled by such clerks through out the Southern Baptist Convention, are the following impressive figures: During the past six years, 1946-52, Southern Baptists have had a net gain of 25.6 percent in church membership; 46.9 percent in Sunday School enrollment; 108.9 percent in Training Union enrollment; 95.1 percent in Vacation Bible school enrollment; 184.5 percent in church property; and 115.2 percent in total gifts. There are now nearly eight million Southern Baptists in the United States, and over twenty million Baptists in general in the world.

Secretary Edmunds stated: "Southern Baptists have made that record, and to God be all the glory. But we are indebted to clerks of church and associational clerks for compiling and sharing their records."

FFA Seeks Fund To Expand Camp

Kentucky's Future Farmers of America Monday announced plans for a drive to raise $150,000 to improve and expand the group's state camp at Hardinsburg, during a meeting at Louisville.

Robert B. Hendry, Louisville attorney, who was executive secretary to former Gov. Earle C. Clements in 1947 and 1948 was named chairman of the campaign which will be held in September and October.

Three others were appointed vice chairmen: State Rep. Walter Mortimer, Hardinsburg; J. O. Matlick, Louisville, editor of the Kentucky Farmer, and Lawrence Hall, Princeton, FFA state president.

Plans for the drive were announced after a meeting of the FFA state camp advisory committee.

FFA bought the 100-acre camp from the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1937. The barracks and other buildings are still in use but officials said they are in poor condition and inadequate for FFA needs.

During the past 10 years the camp has served more than 17,000 boys, with their training there and in other FFA activities preparing them for more prosperous farming careers.

VFW MEETING TONIGHT

There will be a business meeting tonight at 7:30 at the VFW club rooms.

Fiscal Court Offers Explanation Concerning Hospital Advertisement

A statement was issued Tuesday by the Nicholas County fiscal court concerning numerous questions which have cropped up because of an advertisement published in local newspapers by the court seeking a trustee to manage the Johnson Memorial Convalescent hospital.

1. The court will not state at this time that they will require a registered nurse at the hospital. They would prefer to allow anyone interested in serving as the Trustee to appear before the court and if they can satisfy the court that they can operate the hospital the court may not insist that its Trustee be a registered nurse.

2. As for furniture—The Johnson Memorial Convalescent hospital has considerable equipment of its own, that was left as a part of the said hospital at the time the new Nicholas County hospital was commenced. Naturally all of this furniture which consists principally of hospital beds will be left by the court to be used by its Trustee therein. Obviously such additional furniture as may be required to replace any furniture that does not belong to Nicholas county will have to be furnished by the person as a part of their offer to operate the hospital.

3. The court cannot appoint a Trustee to act in its behalf for a period of time in excess of one year so that a person accepting the offer will undertake to operate the hospital on an annual basis only. The court is interested in any offer that any person cares to make whether it be in the nature of an offer of a rental basis, commission basis; or otherwise.

The Court wants to make it perfectly clear that any person or persons interested in the operation of this hospital should individually come to its next meeting on Wednesday, September 2 where they will be given an opportunity to be individually heard after which the court will either arrive at a decision or will ask for additional offers to be made at some subsequent date.

Since the operation of this hospital is purely one of services it becomes increasingly important that anyone interested be personally present to discuss the matter with the court at its next regular meeting.

Full field inspection called for the pitching of tents, display of equipment, cleanliness of equipment, personal appearance of the men and alignment of tents as a whole. Thirty-one men and six officers stood this inspection.

Dwelly Youth Loses Life Swimming

Guy Dwelly Jr., a 19-year-old Nicholas county youth lost his life Sunday when he attempted to swim across Licking River. Young Dwelly was drowned in about 8 feet of water near a camp on the John Burns farm at Pleasant Valley.

The body was recovered from the river by Sheriff John Clinkenbeard and Nicholas County Coroner Ralph Shearer about 6 p.m., approximately two hours after his companions reported the accident.

Clinkenbeard said Dwelly, an employee of the Sheffer Lumber Company of Paris, had been camping with Clyde Mayberier, Millersburg; Lloyd B. Earlywine, Millersburg, and Jacob Mayhrier, Paris.

Earlywine and Jacob Mayhrier told the sheriff they were breaking camp when Dwelly removed all of his clothes except his trousers and said he was going to swim across the river. Clyde Mayhrier said he was rowing a boat on the river when he saw Dwelly swimming toward the craft. He said Dwelly swam to within approximately three feet of the boat, then suddenly sank out of sight.

Diving attempts by his companions were futile and the sheriff and coroner were notified. The officers recovered the body with grappling hooks, near the spot where the youth reportedly sank.

The body was removed to the Mathers-Shearer funeral home.

He is also survived by a brother, L. P., Dwelly, Dotsonville, Ohio; five sisters, Misses Thelma and Dana Dwelly, both of Nicholas county, and Mrs. Joe Johnson, Mrs. Thomas Mayhrier and Mrs. Ray Buchanan, all of Bourbon county, and a half-sister, Miss Mary Ella Dwelly, Nicholas county.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Rose Hill Methodist church with Rev. Jesse T. Forence, minister of the Ruddles Mills church officiating. Burial was in the Rose Hill cemetery.

Pallbearers were Bradley, Clark and Jesse T. Earlywine, Jake and Clyde Mayhrier and Carl Mattox.
