FOR KENTUCKY FOLKS

by Wm. C. Johnstone

AGRICULTURAL REPRESENTATIVE

KENTUCKY FARMERS ASSOCIATION

PASTURE FACTS

Pasture re-seeding time is here. February and March seedings are usually dependable than those made later. Fertilizer applications at the time of seeding is just simply good insurance. Use it liberally.

The University of Maryland reports that a mixture of Fescue and Ladino clover produced 452 pounds of beef per acre in 1951. This was the highest production of any of five grass-legume mixtures tried.

The University of Kentucky has just published its most attractive circular. It contains 4 color pictures and several black and whites. Its subject "Kentucky 31 Fescue, Its Use and Culture". Get your copy from the County Agent. Fortunately there was a big crop of Fescue seed produced in Kentucky last year.

Alfalfa seed is cheap this spring. Why not sow some? It can be seeded on well prepared seed beds as late as mid April. The requirements for success are: a well drained, soil; plenty of lime, phosphate and potash, a firm seed bed and inoculation. The best varieties are Atlantic, Buffalo and Ranger.

The use of nitrogen fertilizer as top dressing for small grain and grass seed is one of the most profitable and dependable uses of fertilizer. The application of 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre used as spring growth starts, often increases small grain yields 10 to 15 bushels. If the small grain is used for early spring pasture, a second application should be used as soon as the livestock is removed.

LIVESTOCK FACTS

According to the B.A.E. reports, Kentucky farmers will have 30 per cent fewer sows to farrow this spring than last. For the country as a whole the decrease is expected to be 13%. Hogs should be profitable property later on in the year. Better save all the pigs you can.

Since the days of Henry Clay, Kentucky has enjoyed a wonderful reputation for fine livestock. Now, livestock producers are pressing to capitalize on that reputation. The Kentucky Purebred Livestock Association is publishing with the help of the Kentucky Agricultural and Industrial Board, a beautiful booklet in color, extolling the merits of Kentucky's livestock—her fine and fast horses—her beef and dairy cattle—sheep and hogs—and even goats, dogs and chinchillas. Distribution will be mostly among the buying public of other states.

FARM YOUTHS

Many Kentucky farm boys will be competing in the 4-H Club activities to become successful bankers, lawyers, doctors, and the like, but, thanks to the 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America, a few that stay on the farm will be better prepared to cope with the modern problems of making a good living from the farm, feeding and clothing the increasing population, and maintaining our soil resources. These two rural youth organizations are contributing much to the development of character and leadership in our farmers of tomorrow. Both organizations observe their national weeks soon. Let's given them our unstinted support.

MARCH IS PUREBRED LIVESTOCK MONTH

A committee has been named in every Kentucky County to help organize a County Livestock Improvement Association, dedicated to a more rapid improvement of livestock and wider adoption of better production practices. Membership is wide open. The movement needs your help. Town from your County Agent the names of your committee and help organize an association in your county.

Nicholas County Education Committee Elects Stephenson; Gives First Report

Members of the Nicholas County Committee on Educational Policy, recently appointed by Lt. Gov. Emerson Beauchamp as part of a state-wide group designed to study and improve educational facilities in Kentucky, met Monday night and elected officers and gave its first report.

Kenneth Stephenson was elected chairman. Raymond J. Wesley, vice-chairman, and Miss Lucy Fleet Allison, secretary. Other members of the group include Senator Stanley Blake, John M. Adams, Mrs. Fithian Rye, J. A. Standiford, Mrs. Howard Irvin and Homer Hillock.

The group studied and reported on the following matters at the meeting: 1) the desirable length of school term, entrance age for beginners, education of the handicapped, the use of school buildings for community purposes, and the program offered in the schools. Facts submitted at the meeting that might be of interest to the public are:

There are 1,177 white children in Nicholas county between the ages of six and eighteen. 956 are enrolled in Nicholas county schools, 72 in other districts and 149 are not enrolled in any school. There are 20 negroes between these ages of which 17 are enrolled in school and three are not enrolled.

The percentage of pupils who graduated from the eighth grade in 1948 that completed high school four years later in 1952 was 61 percent. Twenty-four percent of the children in Nicholas county have access to a library and the services of a trained librarian. The average expenditure for instructional materials in Nicholas county the past year was $1.29 per pupil.

Such information, when compiled for the state of Kentucky, will provide a basis for determining a sound foundation program for Kentucky in education.

Speakers on the program were Harper Gatton, vice president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; Harry W. Schacter, president of Kaufman-Straus Company; Mrs. James G. A Committee on Educational Policy for the Carlisle school district was also appointed by Lt. Gov. Beauchamp but as yet haven't made a report.

Thieves Make Off With Cash Register

Thieves entered the service station of Omer "Curly" Hunt Friday night and, outside of the current city limits and stole an electric cash register valued around $500 and merchandise estimated to be worth $100.

Sheriff Earl Clinkenbeard, who is investigating the robbery, stated that the burglars gained entrance to the building by breaking a glass from a window in the entire register.

The merchandise that was stolen, according to Sheriff Clinkenbeard, included 12 cartons of cigarettes, three boxes candy bars, box of chewing tobacco, two boxes of cigars, box pigskin gloves, new automobile battery, jar of crackers, rack of potato chips, four cartoons of chewing gum and two pocket knives.

The cash register contained no money. A piece of it was found on the men's room floor, leading to believe that the burglars may have tried to open it in the station, and being unable to do so, just carried away the

Highway 68 Group Asks Sign Change

Mr. J. F. Rice, representative of the traffic division of the State Department of Highways, Frankfort, was in Carlisle Tuesday afternoon and stated that the Highway 68 Association had asked the highway department to erect signs showing the distance to Maysville at the intersections of Highways 68 and 32, three miles below Carlisle.

The new sign would have the number of miles to Maysville through Carlisle and the number of miles to Maysville via 68, a difference of about eight miles Rice stated, with the route through Carlisle being the longer.

This is the sixth time the Carlisle-Nicholas County Development Association recently elected a promotional sign directing traffic through Carlisle to Maysville. Mr. Rice stated that he knew of other department officials were going to study the matter this afternoon and should have the new sign up in a few days. He stated that the secretary of the Highway 68 Association had requested this measure.

STILL READABLE—Is the promotional sign above, which vandals smeared with red paint last Thursday night. The act was quickly discovered and members of the Carlisle-Nicholas County Development Association cleaned the sign before the paint had a chance to dry. Three Cars Involved In Sunday Collision

Three cars collided Sunday afternoon on the Cane Ridge road in Bourbon county but no one was reported seriously hurt.

Bourbon County Deputy Sheriff Steve Bacon, who investigated the accident, said the mishap resulted when a car driven by W. M. Stephenson, 73, Carlisle Route 1, stopped suddenly in the road, causing two other cars to pile up in a chain reaction crash.

The second car was driven by Jesse Conkright, Route 2, Mt. Sterling, and the other car was driven by Harold Pendleton, Sharpsburg.

Bacon said that Stephenson apparently stopped to pick up a passenger and his sudden stop resulted in the accident.

UNHARMED BY FLOOD

Mrs. Blanch Cameron of Myers had a cable Monday from her daughter, Carolyn who is living in the section of England that was hit by the storm of the past week, saying that she and her husband were safe and unharmed.

Damage Estimated At $15,000; All Furnishings Destroyed

A two-story, nine room home at Headquarters belonging to Mrs. S. T. Barlow, 79, caught fire Monday morning about ten o'clock and was completely destroyed with all of its household furnishings.

Mrs. Barlow, who has been an invalid for nearly a year, was in bed at the time the fire began and had to be carried from the building by Floyd McDonald and his son-in-law, Hampton Faulconer, both farmers at near Headquarters.

Mrs. Charles Cole who lives in a trailer at Headquarters noticed the fire soon after it started and went to the house to try to reassuide Mrs. Barlow to leave. Unable to do so, she notified Faulconer, who with McDonald, entered the burning building and carried Mrs. Barlow to safety to the home of Mrs. Biddie Hollar who lives across the road.

Faulconer said that when he and McDonald reached the house that the fire had a good headway and that pieces of the burning roof were falling into the home.

Defective Flue Probable Cause

Origin of the fire is unknown but observers stated that it started on the roof near a chimney and thus surmised that it began from a defective flue.

The Carlisle volunteer fire department went to the scene shortly after being notified and were successful in saving the grocery store which stands near the Barlow home. The Carlisle department was joined by a truck from the Millersburg fire department and they were successful in preventing some nearby outbuildings.

Employees of the REA, who are stringing some lines near Headquarters, have been using the store as a residence and storage room. It was vacated some time ago by Homer Layture, who formerly conducted a grocery business there.

Mrs. Barlow who became upset over the excitement caused by the fire was later taken to the Harrison Memorial hospital, Cynthiana. Her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Barlow, who resides with her, was away from home at the time of the fire.

The house was covered by insurance and $1,000 of insurance was carried on the household furnishings.

The house was estimated to be worth about $15,000.
