Series Of Nicholas Co. Robberies May Be Solved With Cooper's Arrest

A young couple arrested at the Nicholas county line café on Thursday morning after a wild "cops-and-robbers" chase by Hopkinsville Sheriff Harold Coppage may unlock some clues to a series of thefts which have plagued this county in the past few months.

The couple, when arrested, were towing a stolen trailer and cow from the farm of Jim Johnson near Broadwell in Harrison county.

Sheriff Coppage discovered them immediately after the theft and followed them in his car and fired ten shots at the fleeing couple.

In Harrison Jail

Identified as J. C. Cooper, 22, Nicholas county, and his wife Helen, 18, the couple were held in the Harrison jail on charges of grand larceny.

The sheriff's office in Nicholas county is attempting to link the Coopers' with robberies of farm homes in this county over the past several months. Found at Cooper's Louisville apartment were several bank drafts belonging to Curtis Jones, who lives on the Oren Griffin farm at the mouth of Stoney Hill.

Jones' home was broken into last Thursday night and two white shirts, three sets of shirt cases, two bed sheets, and a shaving set were stolen. The thieves gained entry by jimmying the back door. Jones told officers that Cooper had earlier visited him in his home.

Other Robberies

Other robberies that local officers were attempting to connect with Cooper were the theft of a cow and calf from the farm of Dr. Estie Asbury January 4, and the theft of 18 country hams from the smokehouses of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wasson and Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Watkins of Little Rock, Bourbon county. Nov. 29.

Also found on Cooper when arrested, besides the drafts of Jones, were several checks which disappeared Sunday from the home of John C. Burris of Little Rock, the trailer, which was stolen from the home of Oscar Grimes, Millersburg, last Sunday night and other goods belonging to Noel Dejarnette and Frank Sharp of Harrison county.

Local police officers have thereafter had Cooper been working for the thefts in this general vicinity of Nicholas-Bourbon-Harrison counties and that possibly he was the one responsible for the local robberies.

'AND THE WALLS CAME TUMBLING DOWN'

The city council underwent a novel experience Monday night when Rev. J. J. Whitehouse appeared before them and compli-mented them on the increased effectiveness of law enforcement within the city. On behalf of the Carlisle Ministerial Association, Rev. Whitehouse expressed "appreciation to the council for their increased interest in city law enforcement" and stated that the council was doing fine and commended them. Mayor W. C. Talbert, veteran city official, said that "it was the first time in 26 years that he had heard the council complimented at a meeting." Footnote—Around 3 a. m. the next morning about ten pounds feet of plaster fell from the ceiling of the council chambers!— Repercussions?

The club met Thursday night and planned a banquet but decided not to set a definite date until later. Arnold Bowen, club treasurer, gave his annual treasurer's report at the meeting.

A change in meeting dates to the first Tuesday in each month was adopted by the group to avoid conflict with other club meetings.

Council Gives Green Light To Increase Water Supply

Promotional Sign To Remain; Directional Sign To Be Erected

The promotional sign at the intersections of Highways 36 and 68 will remain "as is" according to Bill Power, president of the Nicholas County Development Association.

The group met Thursday night and voted to let the sign remain where it is and not to change the wording which states the line To Maysville — Straight Ahead." Highway officials, who have not been in complete agreement with the location, wording and intent of the sign, and who have lodged some protest, were notified of this action.

Directional Sign Ordered

In order to avoid confusion, the C-NCDA will erect a three by six foot sign at the intersection of Main and Broadway directing traffic to Flemingsburg and Maysville. This sign was ordered some time ago and should be erected shortly.

A motion was made at the meeting to see about securing lights to illuminate the original sign at night and action in this direction will be begun soon.

Reports of the rat control, sanitation, county fire department and Christmas decoration committees were heard and approved.

Mrs. Maurice King was appointed chairman of the recreation committee.

The association voted to change its meeting night to Friday instead of Thursday and the next meeting will be held Friday night, January 23 in the courthouse.

Consolidation Aired

The council voted to give a $25 donation to the polio drive, on request of Rev. W. R. Raborn, drive chairman.

They also voted to pay the American Meter Co. the balance on the gas meters which were previously shipped.

Councilman Shelman Hamm raised the question of improving the street lights in Carlisle and was told that steps in this direction have already been taken. (See story elsewhere).

Councilman George Griffin brought up the matter of improving some city streets and the council agreed to bring this up at a later meeting.

Civil Defense Unit Command Post Moved

The Nicholas County Civil Defense command past has been moved from the courthouse to the city building, according to Roger Womack, city attorney and observer for the unit. Mr. Womack stated that the operations center of the unit will be in the council chambers during alerts and that the telephones will be located there. Observation during alerts will be held from the courthouse yard, he stated.

Mr. Womack spoke before the Carlisle PTA Wednesday afternoon in an attempt to enlist more workers in the civil defense program here.

Proposed 'White Way' May Be Built Here In 1953

A proposed "white way" system for Carlisle's Main street from Elm to Walnut may be a reality before late summer, according to Morris Whitely, local Kentucky Utilities office manager.

Mr. Whitely has proposed to the city to install a system along Main street which will almost double the amount of light now used to illuminate the street. The proposed system will be similar to the one recently installed in Millersburg, and according to Whitely, should cost the city only $100 more per year than they are now paying for Main street lighting.

At the council meeting Monday night, Councilman Shelman Hamm raised the question of improving the street lighting in Carlisle and Whitely's proposal was referred to him with power to act. Under these conditions, plus the low cost of the improvements, it is expected that the system will be installed sometime after March 1.

The proposed "white way" system would use the same locations as the lights are now in with just a change in the size and lowering of the lights to provide better illumination. The new lamps would be enclosed and each light would be increased from 250 to 400 candle power.

Rebuilding Town Lines

The Kentucky Utilities Company is now in the process of completely rebuilding their system of distribution of electricity to their customers. The new crew of eight men began the job Monday and should complete the work around March 15.

The primary voltage for Carlisle will be increased from 2300 to 4000 volts and additional work will be done on the transformer station.

Transformers To Be Added

The rebuilding project will include the complete rewiring of KU's town lines and the addition of about 20 transformers. The size of some of the wire will be increased and worn equipment will be replaced, according to Whitely.

Mr. Whitely said the rebuilding program will give KU customers in Carlisle a better distribution system and stated that increasing consumer demand for electricity prompted the action.

CAR CATCHES FIRE

The Lexington fire department extinguished a blaze in the car of John Adams, local ag teacher, in that city Friday evening on Main street. Adams stated that cause of the fire was unknown but that the fire department arrived in time to prevent excessive damage to the automobile.

Lexington Firm Will Draw Up Specifications On Raising Of Dam

The city council gave the green light to action to increase Carlisle's water supply at their regular session Monday night.

The council instructed City Attorney Roger Womack to request Howard K. Bell Consulting Engineers firm of Lexington to make a survey of raising the lower dam and spillway and submit the plans and specifications to the council at their next meeting if possible.

Rough estimates on the cost of this, plus repairing the leaks in the upper dam, would run around $25,000 according to Grant Bell, a member of the Lexington firm, who had previously consulted the council on the matter.

Financing of the improvements at the city water works will come chiefly from $15,000 worth of bonds which have been issued but as yet haven't been sold. Further funds should meet the balance of the cost, according to the council.

To Raise Dam Five Feet

According to preliminary planning the lower dam will be raised five or six feet and the spillway will be raised to the present level of the walkway across the dam. Estimated water increase that moves would make was in the neighborhood of 17 million gallons.

After disposing of other business, the council went into executive session to discuss the appointment of a councilman to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. E. Buntin Sr.

No official appointment was made, however.

Sanitation Discussed

Robert Coatney, chairman of the C-NCDA sanitation committee, requested the council to take action to improve the city's methods of garbage and trash collection and the council promised "full cooperation" in this undertaking. They referred the matter to the street committee with power to act.

County Attorney Charles Cox asked the city if they would stand part of the expenses of the supplies at the county jail and this matter was referred to the finance committee.

Cox also asked the council, on behalf of the Giffin Manufacturing Co., if they would construct a small walkway from the road to that portion of Giffin's which is located in the old ice plant. He also asked about a protection on the bridge between the hand rail and the bridge floor to make the bridge safer to walk across.

Both requests were referred to the street committee.
