A new wrinkle in "election ecring" was reported here one day last week. A candidate for office got into his automobile on Main street with the intention of departing. In the process of leaving he backed into another car. As a curious crowd gathered to survey the damage, the candidate, in a flash of quick thinking, removed some candidate cards from his pocket and began distributing them. Probably got some votes, too!

Memorial Visit To Mountain Graves Quite An Experience For Local Pair

For most people its comparatively easy to visit a loved one's grave to pay respects and perhaps leave flowers as a memoriam.

But for Arthur Rowe of Ewing, Route 1, such a visit was quite an experience.

On Memorial Day, Rowe and his wife left Carlisle for the Cumberland Mountains to visit some graves of relatives. They drove to the mountains as far as the road led, and accompanied by Adam Rowe of Lookout, Ky., started walking up the mountain.

The foot journey began at 11:30 in the morning. Following what once had been a road but was now overgrown with green forest shrubbery the three began their climb to where the graves were located, almost at the top.

Forging thru the veritable jungle the trio discovered many wild animal tracks, several of which were identified as being made by a bear, and also some sign of circular holes which they supposed to rest they found that they were within a few yards of a moonshine still.

The hikers also found that snakes were plentiful on the mountain as they heard the music of the rattlesnakes all along their way and killed seven snakes during their ascent to the top. Three were copperheads.

They reached the graves at 3 o'clock that afternoon, after 3 three and one-half hour journey. It was Rowe's first visit to the spot in 18 years.

His grandfather and his uncle were buried there in 1929 within a month of one another. The surrounding land belonged to the elder Rowe at the time of his death and it was his wish that he be buried on one of the highest points.

The payments were divided this way:

Needy old persons, 48,242; families of dependent children, $1,926, and indigent blind, $186.

Average payments remained almost unchanged from April, Paul said. The average for each aged recipient during the month was $35.16. Aid to dependent children payments averaged $64.39 for each family while the needy blind received an average check of $37.17.

Thousands Expected For Blackberry Festival

Careful Driving Urged On Fourth

A warning to Kentucky motorists to take it easy on the highway over the Fourth of July was issued today by Charles B. Jones, executive secretary of the Governor's Committee for Highway Safety.

Despite the fact that the Fourth comes on Saturday and most working persons will not have a three-day holiday as they had last year, traffic will be heavy and caution necessary, Jones said. He pointed out that seven persons died on Kentucky highways on Memorial Day, which also came on a Saturday.

Warns Motorists

Jones warned motorists against planning trips that are too strenuous for the weekend and which result in their driving home exhausted late Sunday in order to be at work Monday morning.

"The driver who arranges his holiday so he can get home early enough while driving at a reasonable rate of speed is following a prime rule of safety," he said. "High speed late at night while the driver is tired and suffering from slowed reflexes is one of our biggest causes of highway deaths."

Kentucky's highway safety record through June 21 showed a big improvement over the same period in 1952. Deaths during the 1953 period totaled 322, against 348 last year.

'Happy' Chandler To Be Principal Speaker Mammoth Three-Day Celebration Opens Today;

A magic city of booths, concessions, displays and banners, filled with thousands of men, women and children, will spring up on the usually sedate Main stem of Carlisle Thursday morning as the fifth annual Blackberry Festival gets underway.

And Thursday night and the big days and nights the court house square and surrounding territories will resemble a cross between Coney Island, Atlantic City and a political convention.

Sponsored for the second consecutive year by Nicholas Post 17, American Legion, the Festival will open at 10 a.m. Thursday with a horse and wagon show in back of the court house. At 2 p.m. a quilt show will be held with prizes being awarded those having the prettiest, oldest and best made quilts on hand.

A string band will tune-up around 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon to get warmed-up for the square dance that night which will open around 8 o'clock.

Former Governor Albert B. "Happy" Chandler will deliver the principal address of the three-day event between 3 and 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

The Paris Drum and Bugle Corp will give a concert of Military airs Thursday night at 7 p.m. in front of the court house. Following the concert Legion Commander John D. Power will give a welcoming address to the "homecomers" who will have come from everywhere to visit old friends and have a good time. Others giving welcoming addresses will be Mayor W. C. Talbert and County Judge Spencer Taylor.

Friday's entertainment will be highlighted by the crowning of the "Blackberry Festival Queen." The coronation ceremony will take place at the speaker's stand at the 7:30 p.m. after a parade of the candidates from the Carlisle Armory.

Those who are candidates for queen and the sections of the county they represent are as follows: Jean Tincher—Sunnyside; Martha Sue Feeback—East Carlisle; Betty Sexton—West Carlisle; Peggy Bryant—Parks; Shirley Shaw—Miranda; Patsy Aubrey—Headquarters; Betty Lynn Jacobs —Moorefield; Betty Jane Vice— East Union and Bonnie Price—Ellisville; Wilma Jo Gaunce—Concord.

Games For Children

Games for the children will be held Friday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock. Races, contests and several original features will be staged with prizes for the winning contestants.

The annual dog show is set for 1 p.m. Friday with prizes for almost any phase of a dog that you can name.

The Carlisle Community Band will present a concert at 3 p.m. Friday.

After the crowning of the queen Friday night a strictly round niiace will be held of Main street with Jimmy Gilpin and his orchestra of Lexington furnishing the music.

The last day's program will open with children's contests at 10 a.m. The grand drawing will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon and the prizes are now on display in the Kentucky Utilities Co. window.

The gigantic fireworks display will be set off at 9 o'clock Saturday night and the round and square dance from 8 to 12 p.m. Saturday will close the three-day program.

Numerous Rides

Numerous rides for children and grown-ups, including a ferris wheel, will be in operation Thursday afternoon and will provide special entertainment. The popular "bingo" concession will again be operated throughout the Festival giving bingo players a chance to try their luck.

The Carlisle volunteer fire department has contracted for a "dunking" concession which drops a man in a tank of water when ball throwers hit a certain target.

Many other concessions and amusements will be available to the public Commander Power stated this week, and said that this year's Festival should have the largest number of this type of amusements than any in the past.

Firms purchasing booth space will have special displays and attractions at their individual booths. Buntin's To Demonstrate Fast Hitch Device

The new Farmall Fast-Hitch for the Farmall Super C tractor will be on display at the Buntin Garage booth for the Blackberry Festival to give farmers in this vicinity an opportunity to see how the new hitch works.

One of the most important developments in the farm machinery field in many years, the new fast-hitch enables hitching between tractor and farm implements to be done in a matter of minutes.

Simple Operation

According to W. R. Buntin Jr., all you have to do to hitch an implement to the tractor is to just back up the tractor until the two beams on the implement snap into the hitch-sockers on the tractor. The farmer doesn't even have to leave the tractor seat to do the hitching

In addition to the fast-hitch, other lines of farm equipment will be displayed at their booth.
